2 More Swear Rowell Said Assailants Were Police

Witnesses Testify He Told of 'Payoff'; Grand Jury Hears Employes of Banks

By Benjamin Bradlee
Post Reporter

Two more witnesses yesterday told the grand jury investigating the mysterious beating of James Rowell, Yellow Cab driver, that Rowell had publicly named two plainclothesmen as his assailants.

The grand jury also heard witnesses representing banks with which Rowell does business.

Two witnesses also corroborated earlier testimony that Rowell has told of receiving a $5000 "payoff" from undisclosed sources in return for keeping quiet.

Rowell's brother-in-law, Donnia M. DeGriffion, gave similar testimony to the grand jury and in a sworn affidavit to this newspaper Thursday.

Rowell Denies DeGriffion Story

Rowell himself yesterday categorically denied his brother-in-law's allegations, and concerning other witnesses said, "I can't see why everybody is not telling the truth in this case."

All statements before a grand jury are made under oath.

Yellow Cab Driver Arthur L. Rollins, 3317 23d st. se., and Clair M. Martin, 210 Kentucky ave. se., Yellow Cab dispatcher, both told the grand jury yesterday that Rowell had said his assailants were two plainclothes policemen.

Rollins said that Rowell had not mentioned the plainclothesmen by name.

Martin, who said he was the first man Rowell talked to after the January 14 beating at Thomas Circle, quoted Rowell as saying, "I'm not sure of their identity, but I think one was named ——." (The name is withheld pending results of the grand jury investigation.)

Barrett Is Witness

Rollins and another Yellow Cab driver, Harry Fisher, told the grand jury of a day about two weeks ago when Rowell had told them he had received $5000 "for keeping his mouth shut."

Other witnesses before the grand jury yesterday included:

Fay Holds Off Order To Curtail One Phone

United States Attorney George Morris Fay yesterday asked the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. temporarily to withhold cutting off service to one of 300 locations suspected of having phones used for illegal purposes.

His decision came after attorneys for Nathan Miller, 4923 La-Salle rd., Avondale, Md., petitioned District Court for a temporary restraining order and an injunction to prevent disconnecting the service.

They contend that Miller's phone, Warfield 5061, has not been used for illegal purposes, as a form letter from Fay to the telephone company indicated after a series of raids on alleged gambling houses since last Friday.

The phone is not situated in any of the three locations in Maryland raided by Fay's office over the weekend as suspected gambling sites.

Fay's stipulation requested the telephone office in Baltimore "not to disconnect the telephone equipment and not to discontinue the telephone service" to Miller's address "until the decision in this court on the motion for preliminary injunction is handed down on April 11, 1949."

Myron G. Ehrlich and Joseph Sitnick, attorneys for Miller, had asked the court for (1) a temporary restraining order to prevent immediately efforts to cut off the phone, (2) a preliminary injunction to hold such action in abeyance until the case is heard on its merits, and (3) a permanent injunction.

They charged it would do "ir-

Senate Still to Act

House Passes Bill to Remove All Taxes on Oleomargarine

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

The House, which has been voting to restrict the use of oleomargarine as a substitute for butter for 63 years, yesterday came up with some new wrinkles.

First, it voted to remove all taxes on oleo. These range up to 10 cents a pound for colored margarine, with occupational licenses of $600 a year on manufacturers and lesser amounts on wholesalers and retailers.

Then it voted that all oleo served in public eating places must be served in triangles, "like," one legislator said, "a baby's diapers."

The reason its proponents gave for wanting the triangular shape (another lawmaker called it "a new pyramid club") was to prevent restaurants from "deceiving their customers."

However, the measure (1) didn't carry any penalty for violating the three-cornered injunction, and (2) didn't forbid food dispensers from fooling the public by serving butter in similar funny shapes.

The measure the House passed also included a provision that eating houses that serve margarine must display large signs advertising that fact.

The House defeated an effort to prohibit the shipment of colored oleomargarine from one State to another. This proposal—the final effort of the dairy interests to save the day—was voted down, 162 to 141.

The final bill was passed, 287 to 89.

Dairy interests last night announced that the tax-repealer would be defeated in the Senate. "A swing of only a few votes would have brought us victory today," Charles W. Holman, of the Cooperative Milk Producers Association, said.

House members from this area voted as follows on passage of the bill.

Hoover Survey Criticizes U. S. Corporations

100 Federal Business Enterprises Found Poorly Organized

The Hoover Commission on Government Reorganization yesterday reported that it had found a woeful lack of organization and business-like operation in the Nation's 100 Federal business enterprises.

The financial influence of these Government organizations was stated succinctly in the report to Congress:

1. "The Government's direct investment in these enterprises is in excess of 20 billion dollars."

2. "There are further authorized commitments to supply about 14 billion dollars to them."

3. "In addition, the Government guarantees directly or indirectly about 90 billion dollars of deposits or mortgages."

4. "The life insurance written by Government agencies approaches 20 billion dollars."

Besides "confusion and duplication in the functions of these various enterprises," and unnecessary multiplication in them, particularly in the agricultural field, the commission found these defects:

1. Some are making "what amounts to grants or subsidies" by charging less for money they loan than the Treasury pays for money it borrows.

2. Most of the agencies are within executive departments, but some have independent status and their activities are not adequately coordinated with the others.

3. Some get funds from sources other than congressional appropriations. Thus appropriations do not make clear the financial effectiveness of the agency.

4. Confusion exists in some, between congressional appropriations granted them and congressional authorizations for them to

Fair weather was promised today for Washington's Cherry Blossom Festival as an estimated quarter million visitors poured into the city for the big annual event.

The forecast of sunshine and a temperature in the upper 50s was happy news both to visitors and anxious officials after Thursday night's hailstorm which damaged about a third of the blossoms. There are abundant remaining blooms and the sun should revive many of the damaged ones, officials said.

To Start at 12:30

The big show will get under way at 12:30 today at the Sylvan Theater on the Washington Monument grounds with a broadcast by the Navy Band. A colorful pageant, "The Story of the Cherry Blossom Seedling" will follow at 1:30.

The pageant, depicting the famous cherry tree from its birth as a seedling in Japan through its transplantation to the Tidal Basin and its growth to maturity, will feature actors in Oriental costumes, a corps de ballet and choral singers.

It will climax in the coronation of the Cherry Blossom Queen, chosen at last night's prefestival ball in the National Guard Armory. Her name: Judy Queen, of Montana. Miss Queen—that is not a misprint, but her real name as well as title—was picked when Jody Miller, "Miss Washington of 1948," spun a wheel of fortune on which her name and those of 50 other princesses from the States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico were printed. A crowd of 4000 attended the ball.

Miss Queen, who is blue-eyed, chestnut-haired, and is assistant editor of a trade journal here, will be crowned by Louis Johnson, Secretary of Defense. She will be attended by the 50 princesses.

The afternoon's program will be crowded with a wide variety of entertainment, including such features as a barber shop quartet and a square dance.

Water Carnival at Night

Then at night, starting at 8 o'clock, a water carnival will be staged in the Tidal Basin, with the Marine Band playing from the steps of the Jefferson Memorial. It will feature the maneuvering of small boats and canoes formed in various patterns, with each boat outlined in phosphorus.

Both the afternoon pageant and the water carnival will be restaged Sunday, weather permitting, the pageant at 2 p. m., the water festival at 8 p. m.

By night the famous cherry blooms are illuminated by Army searchlights of 200-million candlepower and will be so lighted through Sunday. The Washington Monument will stay open until

Cherry Blossom Fete Times and Places

Times and places for the Cherry Blossom Festival today:

12:30 p. m.: Navy Band Concert, Sylvan Theater, Washington Monument grounds.

8 p. m.: Water Carnival, Tidal Basin. Marine Band playing.

The entire program will be repeated Sunday, weather permitting, with the exception of the Navy Band concert. The afternoon pageant will begin at 2 o'clock instead of 1:30.

Final Action Drive Set For Today

Program Crosses Highest Hurdle in Rejection of 10 Pct. Taft-Russell Trim

By Robert C. Albright
Post Reporter

The Senate last night decisively defeated two threats to slash funds for the European recovery program, probably clearing the way for approval of the full $5,580,000,000, 15-month ECA extension.

A bitter-end fight on the program continued, however, and leaders called an unusual Saturday session today in a drive for final action.

The program crossed its highest hurdle when the Senate rejected, 54 to 23, a 10 per cent cut designed to set the pace for reductions in Government costs down the line.

Probably Peak Strength

Jointly sponsored by Senators Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) and Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), the amendment probably registered the peak Senate strength of ECA critics.

Only 9 Democrats, mostly from the South, and 14 Republicans voted for it. Thirty-five Democrats and 19 Republicans voted "No."

Immediately after the vote, Senate Administration Leader Scott W. Lucas (D., Ill.) proposed unanimous consent agreement for a vote on the bill and all remaining amendments at 4 p. m. Monday.

Senator William Langer (R., N. Dak. blocked the agreement with a single objection. Lucas promptly moved for the Saturday session and the Senate recessed at 11:02 p. m.

Lucas Quotes Churchill

An appeal by Lucas for the full ECA authorization, quoting from Winston Churchill's attack on the Kremlin, preceded the vote on the Taft-Russell cut.

Lucas said the main opposition to the Marshall Plan stems not from the Senate but from the men in the Kremlin.

The cut in the program, he said, would give "aid and comfort" to the Kremlin.

Earlier the Senate bowled over by a vote of 68 to 14 an even deeper slash in the program proposed by Senate Republican Leader Kenneth S. Wherry (Neb.)

Wherry's proposal would have cut the program 814 million dollars or a flat 15 per cent.

Wherry jockeyed his amendment out ahead of the more-strongly supported Taft-Russell 10 per cent slash.

Only 3 Southern Senators voted with 11 Republicans in support of the 15 per cent Wherry slash.

Forty-five Democrats and 23 Republicans voted "No."

As the Senate started voting on some 27 log-jammed amendments, Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Tom Connally (D., Tex.) read a letter from ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman opposing the threatened reduction.

Stassen Calls For an Asiatic Marshall Plan

Urges That Billion Be Expended Yearly To Fight Communism

Boston, April 1 (U.P.).—Harold E. Stassen tonight proposed a one-billion-dollar-a-year "MacArthur plan" to fight communism throughout Asia.

Before a distinguished audience that included Winston Churchill, Stassen called for an Asiatic version of Europe's Marshall Plan and prompt action to help China.

Stassen, 1948 presidential aspirant who now heads the University of Pennsylvania, spoke before 13,900 attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Mid-Century Convocation at Boston Garden.

Churchill, on hand to accept an appointment as "honorary lecturer" at MIT, again occupied the platform from which last night he warned the West that only America's atomic bomb has prevented Russian leaders from communizing Europe.

MIT cited Churchill as:

"Warrior, statesman, student and maker of history; defender of democracy who, in two wars, has steadily upheld the cause of the free peoples and who, in his finest hour, so behaved that his name stands engrossed in the tablets of mankind as the twentieth century symbol of resistance to oppression."

It was the first award of such a nature ever granted by MIT which bestows no honorary degrees.

Stassen said the present gulf between Russia and the Western world results from differing philosophies—the Soviet trust in power and the Democratic belief in the liberty of man.

Since Russia respects only power, he said, only fear of superior strength will prevent Soviet aggression.

"We must conclude that we are foolhardy to contribute, by our inaction or by our withdrawal of aid, to the Communist domination of China," the former Minnesota Governor said in his speech prepared for the program on which he replaced President Truman.

"Clearly the Marshall Plan in

Bulgarian Red Party Split, West Hears

Big Break Reported Between Premier And Vice Premier

London, April 1 (U.P.).—The Bulgarian Communist Party has been ripped by a fight for power among its highest leaders, advices to Western diplomatic quarters said tonight.

Spokesmen in Sofia denied the report completely. But information received by Western diplomatic quarters is definite and detailed.

It is reported that the big break is betweeen Premier Georgi Dimitrov, Moscow-trained and one of the most important Communists in the world, and Vice Premier Traicho Kostov, a home-grown Communist.

Kostov, according to reports here, may be balking at taking all his orders from Moscow.

Such a split would be a major blow against Russia especially after the rift with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Last night the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported that about 100 important Bulgarians had been arrested as spies for "imperialist countries."

Churchill Sings Marine Hymn

Boston, April 1 (AP).—For the second time in two days, Winston Churchill appeared at Boston Garden in the role of vocal soloist.

Tonight, after being honored by Massachusetts Institute of Technology he thanked his hosts. Then, bowing to Major William F. Santelmann, conductor of the United States Marine Band, Churchill said:

"I have one favor to ask. I couldn't leave without hearing the United States Marine Hymn. If I may, with your permission. . . ."

The band immediately struck up the rousing "From the Halls of Montezuma" with Churchill singing at the top of his voice.

Aggression Charge 'Pure Propaganda,' U. S. Officials Say 12 Members Now

'Void' Claim Expected

MOSCOW diplomats believe Soviet Russia will consider signing of the North Atlantic Pact invalidates her 20-year mutual aid treaties with Britain and France. Story on Page 3.

May Be Ignored

By Murrey Marder
Post Reporter

Soviet charges that the North Atlantic Treaty is a pact of aggression are pure propaganda, officials here said yesterday, and in no way will affect plans for the treaty signing on Monday.

A State Department spokesman said the Russian note, delivered late Thursday to the seven nations which sponsored the pact—now grown to embrace 12 signers—constitutes the same accusations made by the Russians in January.

At that time, a Government official noted, the negotiating nations had not even agreed upon the treaty terms.

May Just Be Ignored

No formal comment on the current memorandum has yet been made by the State Department, and it is not yet known whether the charges will be officially rejected or simply ignored.

Inasmuch as the note constituted a series of accusations, and requested no specific action, one high-ranking official said, it may not require the kind of reply given to normal diplomatic exchanges.

It is possible that an answer to the Soviet may come in statements made by President Truman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the Foreign Ministers of the pact countries at the treaty signing ceremonies.

All those concerned with the pact, however, have stressed the treaty's peaceful objectives and its place within the United Nations framework, as specifically provided by the U. N. Charter.

The best answer to Russia, said one official here, is that she has nothing to fear if Russia herself has no aggressive motives, for the "action" portion of the treaty—in which an attack on one nation is regarded as an attack on all—can come into being only if there is such an attack to begin with.

Round of Conferences

Secretary Acheson yesterday held a strenuous round of conferences with visiting foreign ministers on major policy questions—particularly Germany.

He met twice yesterday with French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, first with Schuman and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet, and later with Schuman and Great Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

These meetings were seen as a strong attempt to bring unified action in western Germany, where the British and United States occupation zones are already united. Schuman told reporters later that "no conclusions" were reached, but when asked if a "definite conclusion" is likely before leaving Washington, he replied, "I hope it firmly."

During the day, Acheson also conferred with Belgium's Premier and Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, Luxembourg's Foreign Minister Joseph Bech, and Dr. Jose Caeiro da Matta, Foreign Minister of Portugal.

Spaak declared that Belgium

Neuralgia Operation Slated

Drug Addict Promised Relief From Pain He Sought in Crime

A 32-year-old invalid and drug addict who said he committed a crime to get medical treatment was granted probation yesterday after a surgeon agreed to operate.

The defendant is Stephen Patrick Sullivan, a war veteran afflicted with neuralgia, which causes severe pain in the face, tongue and teeth.

Judge Eugene Rice, sitting in District Court on a visit from Oklahoma, said:

"Before it (the trial) was over I was thinking more about what I could do for Sullivan than to him."

An operation to sever the sensory root of the trigeminal nerve was promised by Dr. Paul Bly, resident neurosurgeon at Gallinger Hospital. Dr. Bly said he was confident it would stop Sullivan's pain.

Evidence was presented that before Sullivan attempted to get morphine here November 10 on a forged prescription, he notified the authorities and said it was the only way he felt he could get treatment.

The court was told that Sullivan was born in Ireland of wealthy parents and inherited an estate estimated at $250,000.

Louis Jongbloet, his attorney, said Sullivan soon "had explored the woods of youthful dissipation with even more perverse zeal than British tradition would expect."

The first attack of neuralgia came in Paris shortly before the war, Jongbloet added. And, he said, soon Sullivan, who is married and has two children, had expended his fortune.

Sullivan went into the Army and was discharged after he stole morphine from airplane kits.

At a veterans' hospital in New England, the motor root of the trigeminal nerve was severed, but without success.

Last year, another operation was attempted in Gallinger without change in the symptoms.

On November 8, Sullivan became discouraged and left the hospital against the advice of his physician. He said yesterday:

"I soon learned how wrong I was. I was in pain and could hardly walk. I had practically no money and nowhere could I find help. I decided that if I had to commit a crime to get help, I would do so, and I did it."

Some Big Accounts Switched

Routes 'Raided' by Salesmen In District Milk Price War

By V. R. Montanari
Post Reporter

Some of the District's major dairies are in the midst of a milk war which includes "raids" on one another's customers, The Washington Post learned last night.

While dairy officials were reluctant to discuss the situation, it was learned that some large accounts, including that of the 11 Hot Shoppes, Inc., restaurants in the District and Maryland, had already changed hands.

One dairy official charged that a rival milk distributor had agents following his men on their early morning rounds and attempting to persuade customers to change their brand.

The rival distributor replied that that "could be possible, in fact I hope my men are that aggressive—in a competitive way only, of course.

"I don't think it's any worse than usual, it's about the same as ever," asserted this dairyman, but he added, "However, two dairies are cutting the hell out of their prices."

The war appeared to be mostly over restaurant accounts. Restaurant owners said yesterday they had been badgered by dairy salesmen since the recent price cutting announcements by area distributors began two weeks ago.

One restaurant man declared discounts as high as 15 per cent were being offered by some of the dozen dairy representatives who

Lee Accused of 'Emasculating' Legislation for Montgomery

By Roger Farquhar
Post Reporter

Annapolis, Md., April 1.—Brooke Lee, Democratic organization leader in Montgomery County and a State political figure, was accused today of "emasculating" Montgomery County legislation.

Angered over an almost unbroken series of legislative rebuffs suffered by the all-Republican Montgomery delegation this session, Anders R. Loftstrand, jr., chairman of the delegation, said:

"Every single attempt by us this year to give the people of Montgomery County more say in their local government has been knocked down by Lee.

"Although Lee and his political organization have been consistently repudiated at the polls by county voters, the Governor and administration supporters still go along with him and his wishes."

The assertions came as the 2-1 Democratic majority in the House of Delegates was reportedly preparing to kill a Montgomery-sponsored bill requiring the Governor to fill county school board vacancies from a list of six nominees submitted by the county council.

Montgomery delegates are also expected to sit by helplessly as the administration-whipped majority pulverizes their bill to transfer title of the Liquor Dispensary Building, Silver Spring, from the Liquor Control Board to the county council.

Montana Girl Wins Cherry Fete Crown

A queen named Queen was selected last night to reign over Cherry Blossom festivities.

A crowd of nearly 4000 persons at the Armory saw the spinning "wheel of chance" select Miss Judy Queen as "Queen of the Cherry Blossom Festival."

Miss Queen, who was chosen by the Montana State Society to represent her State, will be crowned by Secretary of Defense Louis A. Johnson at coronation ceremonies this afternoon at the Sylvan Theater on the Monument Grounds.

Almost Overlooked

The queenly Miss Queen was almost overlooked before her selection. Master of Ceremonies Sam Jack Kaufman, introducing the nominees in State alphabetical order from the stage, skipped over "Montana," and realized his error just in time to summon her to the rostrum as the wheel began to spin.

Miss Queen was still standing on the stage when the wheel, spun by Miss Jody Miller, representing the District, came to rest by her name.

A total of 51 lovlies in pastel springtime dresses, who represented the 48 States, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Aaska, were escorted to the stage by officers of the Coast Guard, Marines, Army and Air Force chosen by the military participation committee. Miss Queen's escort, who will accompany her throughout the three-day affair, was Lieut. James C. Manley, from Bolling Air Force Base.

Gets Three Dozen Roses

The queen, blue-eyed, chestnut-haired and in her early 20s, is an assistant editor of a trade journal and lives in Washington. After her selection she was presented with three dozen roses from Edward R. Carr, chairman of the ball committee.

The spacious auditorium of the Armory was transformed into a model of the Tidal Basin, complete with 51 real trees bedecked with artificial cherry blossoms. The princesses' boxes circled the dance floor where revelers danced to the music of the Charlie Spivak and Barnee Lowe orchestras. Soft lighting gave the appearance of dancers waltzing at a moonlit Tidal Basin with cherry blossoms in full bloom.

The States were in for their share of the limelight with State seals and some of the Inaugural Parade float decorations adorning the Armory.

Special Song Sung

A special feature of the ball was the singing of "Cherry Blossom Queen" by Miss Kay DeWitt. The song by Allan Zee was composed especially for this year's 10th annual Cherry Blossom Festival.

Among those attending the ball were the Chief Justice and Mrs. Fred Vinson, Senator and Mrs. Ernest W. McFarland of Arkansas; Representative and Mrs. LeRoy Johnson of California, Senator and Mrs. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, Senator and Mrs. Allen J. Freer of Delaware.

Also, Senator and Mrs. Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, Representative and Mrs. John C. Sanborn of Idaho, Senator and Mrs. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, Senator and Mrs. James O. Eastland and Senator and Mrs. John L. Stennis of Mississippi.

Feted at Buffet

Others were Senator and Mrs. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Senator and Mrs. Irving M. Ives and Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, Representative and Mrs. James Wadsworth of New York and Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee.

Preceding the ball, the princesses and their escorts were entertained at a gala reception and buffet dinner by Gardner Moore at the Shoreham Hotel.

Windsor To Pay Visit To Brother

London, April 1 (U.P.).—The Duke of Windsor will come to London from Paris on personal business Monday and will visit his ailing brother, King George VI during a week's stay here, court sources said today.

The Duke, who gave up his throne in 1937 for love of the American-born Mrs. Wallis Simpson, also is expected to see his great-nephew young Prince Charles, for the first time.

The Duchess of Windsor will remain in Paris, where the couple is now living. The Duke will stay with his mother, Queen Mary, at Marlborough House, the Queen's secretary said.

There is no charge for the pageant but for those wishing to enjoy it on chairs, tickets are available at $1 for adults, 60 cents for children. They may be bought at the D. C. Information Center in the Star Building and at the festival grounds.

Park police urged motorists to leave their cars at home wherever possible because of crowded traffic conditions expected tomorrow. Those who do bring their cars were advised to note that parking is restricted on the inside of the roadway next to the blossoms. The regulation allows more people to get a good view of the trees.

Four Red Cross first-aid stations will be in operation in the vicinity of the Tidal Basin, it was announced, consisting of three tents and one mobile unit, with an ambulance at each station. Tents will be at the east end of the bridge over the Tidal Basin, at the southeast corner of West Potomac Park, and in the grass area southwest of the Jefferson Memorial. The whole unit will be at the comfort station west of the Sylvan Theater. Red Cross registered nurses and nurses' aides will staff each station.

Doctor's Son, 17, Takes First Prize As Legion Orator

Jack Kaczmarek, 17, of 1724 17th st. nw., last night won the District American Legion annual oratorical contest, held in the Department of Commerce auditorium.

Kaczmarek, who received a $75 bond, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Jan Kaczmarek, and was coached by Rev. Joseph F. X. Erhhart, S. J., of Gonzaga High School. The youth will participate in the first round of the national finals April 12 at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Second place was won by Samuel Barham, 16, of the National Training School for Boys, who received a $50 bond. Ulysses G. Shelton, jr., 17, a Dunbar High School student of 2395 Elvans rd. se., placed third and received a $25 bond, and Jean Malia, 16, of St. Cecilia's School, who lives at 2027 2d st. ne., placed fourth and received $15 in cash and a corsage.

U. N. Unit Head Proposes Use Of Comic Strips

Cleveland, April 1 (AP).—UNESCO's director general proposed tonight use of movies and comic strips to promote good will among nations.

Dr. Jaime Torres Bodet, as head of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, made the suggestion in an address before the United States National Commission for UNESCO.

"UNESCO was set up to promote international understanding throughout the world; it must begin by making itself understood by all men throughout the world," he said.

Yesterday, Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the absense of a United Nations police force is not a fatal flaw to the organization.

"We must recognize that there are serious limitations on the use of force in creating a genuine peace," Rusk said, "I am not convinced that Moslem and Hindu, Jew and Arab, Dutch and Indonesian, Greek and Bulgarian can learn to live in peace under the impact of foreign troops.

Rep. Bloom Will Filed for Probate At New York

New York, April 1 (AP).—Representative Sol Bloom (D., N. Y.), who died at Bethesda, Md., March 7, left an estate valued for probate purposes at "less than $10,000," it was disclosed today. His will was filed in Surrogates Court.

In the will, dated July 22, 1948, Representative Bloom bequeathed $3000 to his secretary, Bessie Fleg-elman. He also left $2500 to Amanda R. Stewart and $1000 to Sara Grayson, both of Purcellville, Va., in appreciation for their "many years' service to my family."

He bequeathed his residuary estate to his daughter, Vera Toba Bloom, whom he named as executor with the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D. C.

British-Yugoslav Trade

Belgrade, April 1 (NYHT).—British-Yugoslav trade is expected to total about $400,000,000 from 1950-54 under a five-year economic accord being negotiated secretly here.

Scientists State Opposition To Veto Power Over Research

By the United Press

The Federation of American Scientists yesterday opposed giving the State Department veto power over the Nation's scientific research programs.

The federation outlined its position in a statement filed with a House Commerce Subcommittee which is considering establishment of a National Science Foundation.

The foundation would handle research in pure science and provide scholarships for promising young scientists.

Dictatorship Feared

While the federation strongly indorsed the general idea, it said it was disturbed by a provision to let the State Department pass on proposed scientific contracts between the foundation and individuals and agencies in other countries.

The department could veto such contracts if it believed them inconsistent with this country's foreign policy.

The federation objected that such a provision might lead to Government dictatorship over scientific learning, arguing that "real dangers exist in the frank coupling of scientific research and foreign policy."

It said a better approach might be to give the proposed foundation authority to make such contracts with the approval of the President.

Harry P. Hammond, dean of the Pennsylvania State College of Engineering, said such fears are groundless. He said the foundation is necessary not only to the national economy but to the national safety.

Charles E. MacQuigg, who holds a similar post at Ohio State University, said the foundation would encourage work in basic research that "is seldom undertaken by private interests."

"In case of a national emergency—such as the next one, if it develops—it will be such as to lead Congress to enact laws going far beyond anything envisioned in the present legislation."

Mrs. Underwood Slaying Laid to 4 Korean Students

Seoul, April, (Saturday) 2 (AP).—Korea's Home Minister said today four Korean members of the Communist Students' League have been charged with the "mistake" murder of Mrs. Horace H. Underwood, wife of a prominent U. S. educator and missionary.

Minister Kim Hyo Suk, said they admitted their target was Mo Yun Suk, anti-Communist poetess who had been scheduled to speak at the party.

U. S. Warned On Surprise Air Attack

By the United Press

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, yesterday said the United States must prepare for a surprise air attack that could be "devastating and possibly decisive."

Vandenberg testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee in support of a House-approved bill authorizing a 70-group air force of 502,000 officers and men and 24,000 planes.

He emphasized that he indorsed the bill as the "basis to plan development for years to come."

In event of attack, he said, the Air Force should be geared to:

1. Deliver an immediate and powerful offensive against the war-making capacity of the enemy.
2. Defend the United States and its "essential" advance bases from air attack.
3. Provide support of the Army and Navy.

144 Injured

Soldiers Fight Students In Nanking

Nanking, April 1 (AP).—Fights between soldiers and antigovernment student demonstrators injured 144 persons late today after the departure of an official mission to talk peace with the Chinese Communists. Eleven were injured seriously.

The students charged the government's peace overtures were insincere and that it actually was preparing for continued civil war. They also demanded better living conditions and attacked "American imperialism."

After orderly parading, about 2000 students went to a troop-receiving center to distribute literature.

A Nanking garrison spokesman said the soldiers responded by attacking the students, whom they called Communists.

The students then went to the office of Acting President Li Tsung-jen to protest. The soldiers followed and attacked again, the spokesman declared.

He gave the casualties as 11 students seriously injured and 85 students and 48 soldiers slightly hurt. Seven soldiers were arrested by the Nanking garrison, which put down the fighting.

The Communist radio announced briefly the arrival of the delegation from "reactionary government."

Advices via other channels said the Communists forbade all news concerning the delegation.

The semiofficial Nanking Central Daily News said fighting was continuing at the Port of Anking on the north bank of the Yangtze River 150 miles southwest of Nanking.

Seoul, March 31 (Delayed) (NYHT).—About 4,350,000 Koreans will be taken off government ration rolls beginning Friday by the new southern republic.

At the same time, the price of their daily rice diet will be more than doubled.

Instead of being self-sufficient in food supply during 1949, as predicted by Korean and American experts, Korea probably will ask the United States for further help, Lee Chong Hyun, Minister of Agriculture, said today.

This is the result of a complete breakdown in the rice collection system, despite the greatest rice crop in history and record imports of American fertilizer.

The real reason the government will not have rice to distribute is that last autumn it made collections voluntarily from all farmers except those paying a portion of their crops under the land purchase terms given tenants of former Japanese-owned farms.

This act favored large Korean landowners, who are still blocking an extension of land reform. They naturally turned to the black market for disposal of their crops at higher prices than the government was paying.

Swiss to Restrict Armament Exports

Bern, Switzerland, April 1 (AP).—The Swiss government has refused to put a total embargo on the export of war material and weapons and good will "restricted exports" under strict government control.

The government announcement said a "general embargo would prejudice considerably the interests of Swiss national defense. The Swiss army, if it is to be equal to its task of defending neutrality, must have first-class weapons at its disposal. This is only possible if a prosperous armaments industry can be maintained."

MIT Confers Rare Honor On Churchill

Boston, April 1 (AP).—Massachusetts Institute of Technology tonight made Winston Churchill an honorary lecturer—the first "outsider" to be so honored in the 88-year history of the world-renowned science school.

The institute cited the British wartime prime minister as "the twentieth century symbol of resistance to oppression."

Senior Otto Ernest Kirchner of Tulsa, Okla., presented the smiling Briton with a gold key set with the institute's mascot symbol — a beaver. Churchill said:

"On this occasion I have to thank you for two gifts which I value very greatly. First, I am now an honorary lecturer of MIT.

"Which means I can come here whenever I choose and lecture you on any subject which may excite my interest.

"The second is the presentation to me from the student body from Mr. Kirchner of the Golden Key. May it always be the means of giving me the feeling and the faith that I have the key to American hearts.

"If that should be so and if I may feel that in our own small island across the ocean we have reached conclusions which are in broad harmony with those of the great republic, we may indeed face the future with confidence and hope.

"For my part I have the strongest feeling of gratitude for all the manifestations of kindliness and friendship which I have received.

"I carry away from this great gathering sentiments which will enable me for the rest of my life to view in a totally different light the Boston tea party of which I have heard in my early days.

Zone Merger Extended

London, April 1 (AP).—The British-American agreement merging the countries' occupation zones in Germany was extended for three months today. The earlier agreement expired at midnight.

Germans Call On Russians to Open Camps

Berlin, April 1 (AP).—Two German Social Democratic (Socialist) leaders called today for the abolition of concentration camps they said the Communists are operating in the Russian zone of Germany.

They also demanded conscripting of labor in the Soviet zone be ended and that political freedom be restored to the zone's 17 million residents.

Franz Neumann, chairman of Berlin's Socialists, and Paul Loebe, pre-Hitler speaker of the Reichstag, made the demands in speeches here marking the third anniversary of the founding of their party.

Neumann's defiant declaration was addressed to Gen. V. I. Chuikov, who is succeeding Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky as Soviet military governor in Germany.

The Socialist chairman held up long lists which he asserted contained the names of anti-Communist Germans confined in Russian zone concentration camps

"We will protest in Berlin against these shamful camps until they are abolished and until the flag of freedom flies over all Berlin."

Berlin's Socialist press again accused the Russians and German Communists of forced recruiting of Germans to work in uranium mines in eastern Germany

Travelers reported Soviet occupation authorities have opened new closely guarded uranium mines in eastern Germany, 15 miles from American occupied territory.

The Russians began wooing German intellectuals with promises of more food, higher pay, less taxes and an annual distribution of 46 large cash prizes.

The Russians also announced they have returned 30,000 German prisoners of war in their new accelerated repatriation program.

French Alter Austria Policy

London, April 1 (U.P.).—France, apparently acting under strong pressure from the United States, today dropped its demands for widespread limitations on Austrian industrial activities.

Marcel Berthelot, French delegate to the Big Four talks on an Austrian peace treaty, withdrew three additions he had proposed to the pact.

United States Delegate Samuel Reber welcomed France's move as a "constructive step because it eases limitations on Austria's economic development."

Russian Representative George Zarubin, who has supported the French plan, declined comment.

Zarubin renewed his insistence that Austria be barred from using non-Austrians in its armed forces, and reiterated his demand that the United States agree in principle that Russia take over 60 per cent of Austrian oil producing facilities.

American delegates stuck to their previous offer of 58 per cent but indicated they might yield a point or two if the other delegates could discuss specific oil properties that would be involved.

Stassen Asks Asia 'Plan'

Europe has been the most significant single right thing we have done since the end of the war," he said.

"Supported in a major way, it should be long-term in its vision, continuous in its execution, carrying the same flexibility of detailed application and the same concept of objectives and requirement of self-help as the Marshall Plan."

Stassen said the basic difference in East-West philosophies explained the world's failure to set up United Nations strong enough to preserve the peace.

"It must appear crystal clear that no major portion of the world that follows the materialistic concept of the nature of man can be included, or will permit itself to be included, in a world administrative machinery unless that apparatus be one dominated by a concept of forces," he said.

"Obviously, in its present form with its vetoes and lack of police power, the United Nations is sadly inadequate to meet its own high purposes," Stassen added.

However, he said the U. N. had some value—especially as a possible means of attempting to spread the western concept of the freedom of man throughout more of the world.

Additionally, he said, the western nations must increase their unity in an "Atlantic community" strengthened by mutual pacts for the development of international agencies, commissions, courts and arbitration systems.

A common currency and a "Bank of the Atlantic" would aid this process of friendly international cooperation, he said.

Must Step Up Program

At the same time, he advised, the United States should step up its program for combating materialism—which Stassen said is similar to Hitler's nazism—on the battlefield of ideas.

He urged an expanded "Voice of America" and a system of showering democratic literature behind the "iron curtain" by plane and balloon.

Winning the battle for the minds of men, he said, "will be the best assurance that there need not be a grim struggle by military force."

Stassen said the war of philosophies also must be waged in certain areas of the Orient, Middle East and Africa, where a third basic concept holds sway—the idea of "indifference to man."

He added that it also was imperative to fight the battle on the home front, to "improve the application of our own philosophy to our own social, economic and political systems" by immediate congressional action on such things as the antilynch and antipoll tax bills.

But, he warned, our concern for the welfare of man should not extend to "bringing it to the people," which he said was the "attitude of the economic total-Socialists."

A "breakfast-in-bed economy for the people," Stassen said, is contrary to the basic philisophy of freedom.

"Our unending effort should be to ease those overwhelming burdens which are beyond the capacity of individual man to bear, but we must leave the major normal provision for man's own livelihood and future up to him, himself," Stassen said.

This Is Year to Fix Peace, Bevin Warns

By Edward T. Folliard
Post Reporter

Ernest Bevin, Britain's Foreign Secretary, said yesterday that the question of future peace "has to be determined within this next year."

He hailed the North Atlantic Pact, with its common pool of manpower and military and economic strength, as " the greatest contributing factor for world peace that has ever been known."

"That is what we are here to sign now," Bevin told an overflow gathering at the National Press Club. "We shall throw our resources together. But may I make this declaration: It is a fundamental principle of this pact that we will never indulge in aggression—never.

It Says "Think Thrice"

"But to would-be aggressors, it says, 'Think twice, think thrice.' The second World War would never have taken place if the aggressors then had to face a conscious organization such as we are establishing today.

"It says to the totalitarians, . . . 'We have to share the world. You have your system, but don't have it with the idea you can upset other people's way of life and prevent them living the way they want to.'

"We bring together freedom in one common organism. We shall respect each other. We shall teach others to respect us . . .

Humanity's Great Step

"And I believe as the years go on it will be said of this week in Washington: 'There, in that pact humanity took its great step to enthrone the great freedoms of the world.' "

Foreign Secretary Bevin, an accomplished orator, spoke from notes — "headings." His high-pitched voice reminded Press Club old-timers of Theodore Roosevelt. At times, he held his hands behind his back; at other times they were in his pockets or clasped on his ample bay window. Occasionally, he used his big fist as a hammer.

He was visibly moved as he recalled the morning when, listening to "a little wireless set" at his bedside, he heard of Gen. George C. Marshall's simple speech at Harvard which heralded the "providential" Marshall Plan.

Heart-felt "Thank You"

"For that and many other things," Bevin said, "I can only express a heart-felt, simple 'Thank you' to ordinary people of the United States."

In talking about the difficulties of rebuilding the world after the last war, Bevin said that it was obvious that anything like a Versailles Treaty was not the solution.

"The whole world was smashed," he said, "and we had to build it again bit by bit in order to put it on a foundation that would be enduring.

"One writer once said that the seeds of every great war were sown in the settlement of a previous war.

"Equally I think that the settlement of future peace, permanent peace, has to be determined within this next year—has to be determined by every action we take now as to whether or not the world will be put on the right broad road to permanent understanding and permanent peace."

Listing the difficulties that faced the world, he mentioned the "terrific nationalism." A roar of laughter arose in the Press Club auditorium as he went on to say:

"Now, I do not criticize nationalism. Everybody criticizes it and forgets that it applies to themselves. I suppose you are as nationalistic in the United States as I am in Britain.

"At least I feel awfully nationalistic when I go abroad. And I do not even stand for criticism of Winston Churchill when I am abroad. Neither does he of me. But we enjoy our private fights in the House of Commons, and that is quite proper."

Bevin agreed to answer written questions sent up to him at the head table. His skill in handling these reflected his years of rough-and-tumble debate in union politics and in the House of Commons.

Fair Analysis, He Says

Replying to one question, he agreed that Churchill had made a "fair analysis" when he said that the Soviet leaders were more afraid of the West's friendship than of its hostility.

He was asked if he agreed that Stalin was a "prisoner" in the Kremlin, and asked, also, to comment on the struggle for power within the Kremlin.

"Its mysteries," he said, grinning, "are as dark to me as they are to the alert American pressmen."

What significance did he attach to the recent shake-up in the high command in Russia?

"There is an old French proverb," he said, "which may apply to Russia: 'Forever changing and forever the same.' "

"Do you foresee the immediate conclusion of a Pacific Pact?" he was asked.

"I think we had better go one step at a time," he answered. "I should like to see the final congressional decision on this one."

"In view of the unrest in Ireland, brought about by the partitioning by Great Britain, what steps, if any, is Britain prepared to take to satisfy the wishes of the majority of the Irish people for a unified democratic state?"

Bevin's reply, which evoked laughter, was:

"I must on this, because the matter is still under discussion, give the reply we always give in the House of Commons: I must have notice of that question."

"You were once quoted as saying that there is no real place for a Jewish national homeland in Palestine because in the end the Arabs will push the Jews into the Mediterranean. Do you still feel that way?"

Did Not Say That

"If that has been attributed to me, that is entirely wrong. I did not say that.

"The Israeli government is established. But do please remember that it is not a bad thing for the West for one nation at least to have given consideration to the Arab point of view. It is a serious matter, a very serious matter. I see no reason at all, when prejudice has died down and things are settled, and when they cease to call me names that I don't deserve, why the people over there can't live together and develop."

"Mr. Bevin, do you intend to discuss Anglo-American motion picture problems while you are here?"

"I am too old," said Bevin, and there was another roar of laughter.

Pact Signing Unaffected

will reply to the Russian charges but they "will not prevent Belgium from signing the pact." Later, he delivered a message of gratitude for American aid to Belgium through the European Recovery Program.

With the arrivals here yesterday and last night of Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen; Lester B. Pearson, Canada's Secretary of State for External Affairs, and Norway's Foreign Minister, Halvard M. Lange, the lineup of ministers who will sign the treaty Monday afternoon in the Departmental Auditorium, is now complete.

At 11 a. m. today Secretary Acheson is scheduled to meet in a first round-table session with the representatives of all the pact nations: The United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Canada, Norway, Denmark, Portugal, Iceland, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Today the ministers are expected to approve formally the published draft of the 20-year defense alliance, which does not become binding on any nation until it is formally ratified by that nation.

The ministers also will discuss plans for establishing a council which will be the permanent organization for carrying out the treaty, and which will have under it a mutual defense organization and other subsidiary groups.

Before that meeting, Acheson is scheduled to meet at 10 a. m. with the 10-man United States delegation to the United Nations in preparation for the opening of the U. N. General Assembly meeting in New York on Tuesday.

While the new Russian attack on the North Atlantic pact brought speculation that the Russians might point to the pact as the basis for completely severing their relations with the U. N., there was no official comment on this point.

Italy's Foreign Minister, Count Carlo Sforza, when asked at a news conference here yesterday if he believes Russia will bolt the U. N., said:

"This you must ask of a crystal gazer . . . personally, I do not think so."

The elderly diplomat indicated no special concern over the Russian memorandum, terming it a "very gentle and very mild manifestation" of Russia's displeasure with the pact.

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Tom Connally (D., Tex.) declared:

"The Atlantic Pact is merely an agreement among the intended victims of armed attack to resist and defend their freedom and independence.

"If Russia does not meditate armed attacks, the treaty cannot harm her . . ."

While there were strong indications that the pact may cause Russia to denounce her 20-year alliances with France and Britain—the Russian note stated the pact violates both of these—plus the Yalta and Potsdam agreements, State Department officials said they could only repeat the pact language on this score.

Article 8 of the treaty states:

"Each party declares that none of the international engagements now in force between it and any other of the parties or any third state is in conflict with the provisions of this treaty, and undertakes not to enter into any international engagement in conflict with this treaty."

Belgium Plans Quick Ratification of Pact

Brussels, April 1 (AP).—Belgium won't waste any time ratifying the North Atlantic Pact, even though Russia has protested. The cabinet today decided to introduce the ratification bill before the chamber of deputies next Thursday, the day after the pact is scheduled to be signed in Washington.

Soviet Memorandum on Atlantic Treaty

By The Associated Press

London, April 1.—A partial text of the Tass News Agency dispatch from Moscow on the Soviet memorandum on the Atlantic Pact as distributed here by the Soviet monitor follows:

ON MARCH 31 the government of the Soviet Union sent through its ambassadors the following memorandum on the North Atlantic Treaty to the governments of the United States of America, Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Canada:

"On March 18 the State Department of the United States published the text of the North Atlantic Treaty which the governments of the United States, of America, Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Canada intend to sign within the next few days.

"The North Atlantic Treaty fully confirms what was said in the declaration of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the U. S. S. R. of January 29 this year, which is being attached herto both as regards the aggressive aims of this treaty and the fact that the North Atlantic Treaty contradicts the principles and ims of the United Nations Organization and commitments which the governments of the United States of America, Great Britain and France have assumed under other treaties and agreements.

"Statements contained in the North Atlantic Treaty that it is designated for defense and that it recognizes the principles of the United Nations Organization serve aims which have nothing in common either with the tasks of self-defense of the parties to the treaty or with the real recognition of the aims and principles of the United Nations Organization. Such great powers as the United States, Great Britain and France are parties to the North Atlantic Treaty. Thus the treaty is not directed either against the United States of America, Great Britain or France. Of the great powers, only the Soviet Union is excluded from among the parties to this treaty, which can be explained only by the fact this treaty is directed against the Soviet Union . . .

"To justify the conclusion of the North Atlantic Treaty, references are being made to the fact the Soviet Union has defensive treaties with countries of the peoples' democracy. These references, however, are utterly untenable.

"All the treaties of the Soviet Union on friendship and mutual assistance with the countries of the peoples' democracy are of a bilateral nature and they are directed solely against a possible repetition of German aggression, of which danger no single peace-loving state can forget. . . .

"In contradistinction to this North Atlantic Treaty it is not a bilateral but a multilateral treaty which creates a closed grouping of states and what is particularly important absolutely ignores the possibility of a repetition of German aggression, not having consequently as its aim prevention of a new German aggression. . . .

"PARTICIPANTS in the North Atlantic Treaty are effecting extensive military measures which can in no way be justified by interests of self-defense of these countries. Extensive military measures carried out by the United States in cooperation with Great Britain and France under the present peacetime conditions, including the increase in all types of armed forces, the drafting of a plan for utilization of the atomic weapon, the stockpiling of atom bombs which are purely an offensive weapon, and the building of a network of air and naval bases, etc.—by no means bear a defensive character.

"Preservation in Washington of a combined Anglo-American staff organized during the Second World War and the recent establishment of a military staff of the so-called Western Union in Fontainebleau (France), as well as the intention immediately to set up a Defense Committee envisaged by the North Atlantic Treaty, is by no means an indication of peace-loving or defensive aims of the participants of the treaty, but, together with other numerous military preparations, contributes to the intensifying anxiety and alarm and to whipping up of a war hysteria in which all sorts of instigators of a new war are so interested. . . .

"The conclusion of the North Atlantic Treaty and establishment of a new grouping of powers is motivated by the weakness of the United Nations Organization. It is perfectly evident, however, that the North Atlantic Treaty does not serve the cause of consolidating the United Nations Organization but on the contrary leads to the undermining of the very foundation of this international organization because establishment of the above grouping of powers is far from corresponding to the aims and principles of the United Nations Organization and runs counter to the Charter of this organization.

"Parties to the North Atlantic Treaty maintain that this treaty allegedly represents a regional arrangement envisaged by Article 52 of the United Nations Charter. But such references are utterly groundless and untenable. There can be no question whatsoever of any regional character of this treaty inasmuch as the union provided for by this treaty embraces states located in both hemispheres of the globe and has not as its aim settlement of any regional issues. . . .

"Nor can establishment of a North Atlantic grouping of states be justified by the right of each member of the United Nations to an individual or collective self-defense in conformity with Article 51 of the Charter. Suffice it to say such a right under the Charter of the United Nations can arise only in case of an armed attack against a member of the organization; yet as is known to all, neither the United States of America, Britain, France nor other parties to the pact are threatened by any armed attack.

"It is clear references to Articles 51 and 52 of the United Nations Charter are untenable and designed merely to cover up the real aggressive aims of a military grouping of states which are being set up by the conclusion of the North Atlantic Treaty.

"NO ONE can deny that the North Atlantic Treaty and the first and foremost Article 5 of this treaty directly contradicts the Charter of the United Nations Organizations.

"On the basis of the abovesaid the Soviet government arrives at the following conclusions:

"1. The North Atlantic Treaty has nothing in common with the aims of self-defense of states who are parties to the treaty, who are threatened by one, whom no one intends to attack. On the contrary this treaty has an obviously aggressive character, is aimed against the U. S. S. R., which fact is not concealed even by the official representatives of the states—parties to the treaty in their public pronouncements.

"2. The North Atlantic Treaty not only does not contribute to the consolidation of peace and international security which is the duty of all members of the United Nations Organization, but it directly runs counter to the principles and aims of the United Nations Charter and leads to the undermining of the United Nations Organization.

"3. The North Atlantic Treaty runs counter to the treaty between Great Britain and the Soviet Union signed in 1942 under which both states assumed the obligation to cooperate in the maintenance of peace, international security and 'not to conclude any alliances and not to participate in any coalitions directed against the other high contracting party.'

"4. The North Atlantic Treaty runs counter to the treaty between France and the Soviet Union signed in 1944 under which both states assumed an obligation to cooperate in the maintenance of peace and international security and 'not to conclude any alliance and not to take part in any coalition directed against one of the high contracting parties.'

"5. The North Atlantic Treaty runs counter to agreements between the Soviet Union, the United States of America and Great Britain concluded at the Yalta and Potsdam Conferences, as well as at other conferences of representatives of these powers, held both during and after the Second World War, under which the United States of America and Great Britain, like the Soviet Union, assumed the obligation to cooperate in consolidation of general peace and international security and to the consolidation of the United Nations Organization."

Hendricks for Returning African Colonies to Italy

United States' support of Italy's claims for return of her prewar colonies in Africa was urged yesterday by Senator Hendrickson (R., N. J.).

Hendrickson, a freshman Senator and veteran of both World Wars, who served in Italy with the American Fifth Army, said the controversial colonies should be returned to Italy "with or without trusteeship."

"I am suggesting that insofar as Italy is concerned, we completely forget the sins of the past," he said. "I am suggesting that we give Italy an emigration outlet, a safety valve" for overpopulation, conditioned on proper limitation of military activity in the colonies.

At issue are the colonies of Italian Somaliland. Eritrea, which adjoins Ethiopia, and Libya, bordering the Mediterranean. The colonies question comes before the United Nations General Assembly session opening in New York Tuesday.

At a press conference yesterday, Italian Foreign Minister, Count Carlo Sforza, here for the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty, said that if Italy can get back the colonies:

"We would be glad to make of any administration confided to us as an instrument of common welfare for the Atlantic Powers."

The 75-year-old Sforza said "colonies are a thing of the past. I don't believe in colonies," he said, "but I do believe in the duty of a great country like Italy to collaborate in creating a new life in Africa . . . to create a strong link between Italian interests and native interests."

Asked what specific solution Italy would accept, he said: "To propose a new formula of compromise would simply be embarrassing." He opposed giving Ethiopia a portion of Eritrea, as has been proposed, because he said that is a "responsibility" Ethiopia may not be able to carry.

The United States' position, as outlined Monday by Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk, favors an Italian trusteeship for the Somaliland, cession of a portion of Eritrea to Ethiopia, and a British trusteeship for Eastern Libya—with no policy yet crystallized on the remaining area.

Minister of Eire Will Visit Acheson

Dublin, Eire, April 1 (U.P.).—Sean MacBride, Minister of External Affairs, will visit United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson in Washington on April 11, it was announced tonight.

MacBride will sail for the United States aboard the SS Washington on Sunday. He plans to address Irish-American clubs throughout the United States, and will wind up his tour with an address to the Chicago Irish Fellowship on April 18, when Ireland officially becomes a republic.

Grain Surplus in Russia

Berlin, April 1 (U.P.).—Russia expects to harvest 127 million tons of grain this year and wants to trade surplus supplies for western German industrial products, the Soviet army newspaper Taegliche Rundschau said today. In 1948, the Soviet grain harvest was approximately 46 million tons.

Dies Writing of Suicide

Stalybridge, England, April 1 (AP). The coroner ruled today that Herbert Collier, 65, died of a heart ailment while writing a note saying he intended to kill himself with gas.

Airlift Soldiers Ill in Hospital; Food Suspected

Frankfurt, Germany, April 1 (U.P.). Army authorities said tonight that a number of American troops had been sent to a local hospital ill and apparently suffering from food poisoning.

The Army said the number of cases might reach as high as 250 to 300.

An army announcement said the soldiers affected were quartered at Atterbury barracks, main Frankfurt station for men flying the airlift to blockaded Berlin.

Officials said apparently they were made ill by their evening meal.

Takes Jap Bank Job

Tokyo, April 1 (U.P.).—Emperor Hirohito's son-in-law went to work as a clerk in the Bank of Japan today.

Moriatsu Higashikuni, 33, husband of the Emperor's oldest daughter Princess Teru, said he would travel daily to his first job on a streetcar.

"When you're doing nothing you have so much energy that it's not good for you," he said.

Rita to Wed in June

Paris, April 1 (U.P.).— Rita Hayworth's road-show romance with Prince Aly Khan will culminate in a June wedding "when the Mediterranean moon is at its fullest," a source close to the couple said today.

Claim Pact Kills Treaties Expected

By Eddy Gilmore

Moscow, April 1 (AP).—Well informed diplomats said today they feel almost certain Soviet Russia will consider signing of the North Atlantic Pact invalidates her 20-year mutual aid treaties with Britain and France.

Those treaties, written in the war years, pledged partnerships in the war against Germany "until complete victory" and joint measures to safeguard Europe from new aggression after the war. Each treaty stipulated that neither nation should join a coalition directed against the other.

Russia charged in a tart note yesterday to the seven original sponsors of the Atlantic alliance Britain and France among them that the alliance was aimed against her. She said it violates the British-Soviet and the French-Soviet treaties and the Yalta and Potsdam agreements and undermines the United Nations.

(United States, French and British spokesmen denied the Soviet charges.)

Diplomats' Diary

Official Life Hits Postwar Activity Peak

By Chalmers M. Roberts
Post Reporter

Diplomatic comings and goings crescendoed to a postwar peak in Washington yesterday in anticipation of Monday's formal signing of the fateful Atlantic Pact.

Rasmussen

In sleek, diplomatic-tagged limousines, topped by a magnificent British Rolls-Royce, the foreign ministers of 10 nations sped about the rainy city huddled in back seats with their Ambassadors or Ministers and sundry aides.

By evening Denmark's Gustav Rasmussen had turned up to complete the list of 11 visitors. For five of the others, the top date of the day was a visit to Secretary of State Dean Acheson, tucked away in his ultra-high-ceilinged office on the department's fifth floor.

This is the timetable story of the diplomats' day:

9:50 a. m.—Starting the day at a diplomatic hour, Belgium's Paul Henri Spaak drops down at the airport.

10 a. m.—France's stooped and baldish Robert Schuman goes to call on Acheson at State's marbled Foggy Bottom headquarters. Reporters get a department statement on the talk when it is all over. Topic: Mostly Germany.

11:15 a. m.—A State Department spokesman outlines to scribbling reporters this Nation's reaction to Moscow's reaction to the pact.

Noon—Spaak goes to see Acheson. Again, reporters get a department oral report in general terms.

12:30 p. m.—Britain's burly Ernest Bevin talks and answers questions at a jammed National Press Club luncheon.

1:17 p. m. Norway's Halvard M. Lange arrives at Union Station for his second visit to Washington. He had been here some weeks ago before Norway decided to join the West.

2:40 p. m. — Bevin arrives at State to see Acheson. Receptionist Mrs. Mary Butler smiles, points to the diplomatic waiting room and asks:

"Won't you come in here?"

To which Bevin replies:

"I'll do anything you tell me—I'm always obedient."

2:45 p. m.—Schuman arrives and he and Bevin confer together with Acheson for the day's major conversation. Topic: mostly Germany. As they come out and spy Luxembourg's genial Joseph Bech waiting his turn, Bevin puts Bech in the center of a lineup for photographers, with "put the powerful country Luxembourg in the middle." But a photographer's "now put your arms around each other," the trio chorus "no, no."

4 p. m.—Italy's bearded Count Carlo Sforza holds a press conference at the Italian Embassy on the troublesome problem of Italy's prewar colonies.

4:50 p. m.—Twenty minutes behind schedule, Bech gets in to see Acheson. Some reporters rush off to report the Bevin-Schuman gleanings. Others drop into green leather chairs in the big pleasant waiting room. By now the star-studded carpet is in rather bad shape from the heavy rainy-day traffic.

5 p. m.—Canada's Lester B. Pearson, Secretary of State for External Affairs, to be formal—arrives at National Airport. Unruffled by one of the day's downpours, Pearson, hair blowing in wind, tells photographers:

"I'm a D. P.—a disordered person."

He adds:

"We were up there (pointing) so long that for a time I thought we were over England—but don't print that!"

5:10 p. m.—Bech emerges from Acheson's office, talks about talk. Topic: mostly Germany. "But we are only a small power," he says.

5:15 p. m. — Portugal's Jose Caeiro da Matta, arrives for last call on Acheson's calendar.

5:35 p. m.—Da Matta emerges. Topic: Some Germany, some Spain, mostly Portugal. He tells the seven reporters who stuck it to the end he will "give more details" at a Saturday press conference at his embassy.

The Portuguese Ambassador leads the Foreign Minister to the elevator, tells reporters:

"Now we go see the cherry blossoms."

8:05 p. m.—Denmark's Rasmussen arrives at Union Station, last of the 11 visitors who will sign the pact.

It was a great day. But wait till Monday.

Dewey Signs Bill Barring Red Teachers

Albany, April 1 (U.P.).—Governor Thomas E. Dewey today signed a bill designed to bar Communists from teaching positions in the public school system.

The Governor vetoed a bill which would prohibit the use of State and certain other public buildings by subversive organizations.

He said the latter bill was "an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power."

State Comptroller Frank C. Moore reported today that New York ended the 1948-49 fiscal year with a surplus of $2,275,202.

Governor Dewey had estimated the surplus would be $1,600,000. A year earlier, he estimated the 1948-49 surplus at over five million dollars. Last year the State had a $3,100,000 surplus.

Never Urged Revolt As Red, Budenz Says

New York, April 1 (AP).—The initial Government witness in the Communist conspiracy trial conceded under cross-examination today that while he was in the party he never wrote articles advocating violent overthrow of the United States Government.

Louis F. Budenz, the witness, said also he never read any stories in the Daily Worker, Communist paper, advocating such action between April 1, 1945, and the time he renounced the party in October, 1945.

The 11 Communist leaders on trial are charged with conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the Government by force. The indictment says the conspiracy began April 1, 1945.

Budenz served as managing editor of the Daily Worker during part of his 10 years in the party. When asked if he had written articles supporting violent action against the United States, he replied:

"Specifically, no. That was not then the line of the party."

He added, however, that he had recommended an article written by John Williamson, a defendant, in a Communist magazine.

"The article," he said, "stressed the reading of the history of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, and every Communist knows that when you begin to read that you are being committed to the Leninist line."

The Government contends Leninism is a Communist doctrine involving the ending of bourgeois government by violent means and the establishment of a dictatorship of the proletariat.

In its cross-examination, the defense brought out that Budenz believed in overthrow of the Government by force before he joined the Communist Party in 1935.

This was the policy of the American Workers Party of which he was a member, he said. He edited the group's magazine, Labor Age.

The witness testified he left this party in late 1934 or early 1935 when it merged with a Trotskyite group.

Budenz told of lecturing on "Communist journalism" in 1938 at a secret Chicago school run by the Illinois district of the party.

He said he could not give the exact address of the school but that it was in an office building and was entered through an adjacent doctor's office.

The party maintained such secret places of study whose sessions never were announced and whose pupils used assumed names, he added.

U. N. Warns Israel

Arabs Back International Jerusalem

Beirut, Lebanon, April 1 (NYHT). Representatives of five of the six Arab states meeting in Beirut were reported today to have accepted the principle of internationalization of the Holy City of Jerusalem. The United Nations Conciliation Commission warned Israel not to compromise the city's future status.

The commission said the reported shift of five Israeli ministries from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem, if true, would constitute a breach of the General Assembly's directive to establish an international regime in Jerusalem.

All the Arab states have adamantly insisted that 800,000 Arab refugees must be returned to their homes. But in varying degrees Trans-Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and Saudi Arabia have approved United Nations control of Jerusalem. Only Iraq continued opposition.

Zaim Installs 'Caretaker' Army Regime

Beirut, Lebanon, April 1 (U.P.).—Col. Hossni Zaim, who led Wednesday's Syrian coup, has failed in his attempt to form a "legal" government and has installed a "caretaker" military regime, advices from Damascus, Syria, and Amman, Trans-Jordan, said today.

Other reports from Damascus said:

1. Deposed President Shukri Al-Kouwatly, ailing and held in a military hospital in a Damascus suburb, has refused to resign. Zaim may order him tried for "violation of the constitution" in order to set up a legitimate government.

2. Faris El-Khoury, 70, Syria's chief United Nations delegate and a former Premier, has been placed under "house arrest" for refusing to cooperate with Zaim.

3. Emir Abdel Aslan, El Khoury's deputy with the U. N., has been asked to form a cabinet.

In Damascus, Zaim described the regime in control as a "provisional administration" with himself "temporarily" at its head.

But radio Damascus reported that army officers had taken over all government ministries.

It was also reported that Zaim had dissolved Parliament and that plans were under way for country-wide elections for a democratic constituent assembly.

Laski Admits Secret Plan of Socialization

Harold J. Laski, peppery braintruster of the British Labor Party, said here last night that there are three industries his party plans to nationalize next — but "nothing except force would cause me to reveal what they are."

Laski, member of the Labor Party's executive committee, spoke under the auspices of the Sidney Hillman Foundation to an audience which filled Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel at Howard University.

In answer to a question afterward from the audience, Laski referred to Winston Churchill's Boston speech yesterday in which Churchill said Europe would have been "communized," but for the atom bomb being in United States hands, Laski said the North Atlantic pact could be an instrument for peace.

But only, he said, "If you make an attempt to prove to the rulers of Russia that you don't regard that country in the curious light in which Mr. Churchill yesterday redreamed the dream he dreamed from 1919 to 1920."

In his speech the bespectacled, mustached Laski said that the war was "nobly led and superbly described by Mr. Churchill" but that "Americans sometimes do not understand that Mr. Churchill did not win the war alone."

After tracing the rise of trade unionism and of the Labor Party in Britain, Laski said that by 1950 the party will have nationalized 20 per cent of English industry and by 1955, 60 per cent.

The progress of this program, he said, was subject to a problem "which you will mainly decide—the problem of a third world war." If war comes, he said, the parliamentary system would go down "along with the American system of free enterprise."

"With the help of America," he said, "we do hope by 1952 to have recovered—and hope to regain, not the great place we (Great Britain) occupied in the Nineteenth Century but the proportionate place you—along with the Soviet Union—will allow us to occupy."

The Labor Party, he said, by "the happy beneficence of violent taxation" is beginning to break down class distinctions to where it is "even necessary today for most dukes to earn their living." One duke he knows of, he said, earns his by being a cinema usher.

Walter White Sees U. S. Bias Creating Pro-Soviet Feeling

The colonial peoples of the world may "turn toward the Kremlin rather than toward the United States," because of racial discrimination practiced in this country, Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People warned last night.

White spoke at the First Annual Award Dinner of the District branch, NAACP, attended by more than 250 persons at the Hamilton Hotel last night.

Before White's address, twelve leaders in varying fields received citations either personally or through a representative, for their work in behalf of the Democratic principles and liberalism.

Denounces Filibuster

White bitterly criticized the Congressional filibuster against the Civil Rights program and declared "the Hill has heard of the growing protest against the denial of human rights."

Those honored were: Oscar L. Chapman, Undersecretary of the Interior Department; Tom Clark, United States Attorney General; Attorney James A. Cobb; the Rev. Dr. A. Powell Davies; Oscar R. Ewing, FSA administrator; Philip L. Graham, publisher of The Washington Post; Attorney Charles H. Houston: Attorney Wilbur LaRoe, jr., Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer, writer and wife of the chairman of the board of The Washington Post Co.; Senator Wayne Morse, (R., Oreg.), Fire Chief Clement Murphy, and the most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, catholic archbishop of Washington.

Cobb, Houston, LaRoe, Mrs. Meyer and Murphy accepted the citations in person.

Accepts for Graham

Mrs. Meyer in also accepting Graham's citation, said: "I want to offer a word of apology for my son-in-law, Philip Graham, publisher of The Washington Post or Afro-Post as some of our critics call it. This happens to be the only month of the year when he can have a vacation and he has taken his family to Florida."

Of her own citation, Mrs. Meyer said: "I accept it with the peculiar delight we humans have in things we don't deserve. In everything I do in the field of education, health and welfare I always will remember the aspirations, just claims and interests of my Negro fellow citizens."

The citations were awarded by Joseph H. B. Evans, secretary of the District NAACP. Stephen G. Spottswood, branch president, presided.

5 Israeli Heroes Welcomed by Commissioners

Five heroes of the Israeli army, part of a group making a transcontinental tour on behalf of the United Jewish Appeal, were welcomed to Washington yesterday by the District Commissioners.

John Russell Young, president of the Board of Commissioners, said he had been informed they were "all soldiers of courage and bravery." "We are proud of what you have done," he said.

Capt. Nahman Kaplansky, 23, who lost an arm in battle, responded for the soldiers. He said they were here to learn from the ways of the United States and hoped Israel "will be strong and democratic."

Other members of the party were Lieut. Schulamith Krinsky, 20-year-old woman; Lieut. Azaria Rapaport, 25; Pvt. Aryeh Gance, 25, and Capt. Gersha Geyra, 26.

Laymen to Hear Belk

The Rev. J. Blanton Belk, pastor of St. Giles Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Va., will speak at a Rockville Laymen's Association service at 8 p. m. Sunday in the Rockville Presbyterian Church.

Man Closing Grave At Oak Hill Dies Of Heart Attack

Robert Lee Shipman, 59, an employe at the Oak Hill Cemetery, died yesterday after a heart attack as he was closing a grave.

He was stricken at about 4 p. m. and was immediately taken to the home of Dr. R. Stephen Hulbert at 3000 Dent pl. nw. by his foreman, Thomas E. Henley of Rockville, Md. Dr. Hulbert pronounced him dead.

Mr. Shipman, who was born in Virginia, lived with a daughter, Mrs. Sarah E. King, at 4605 Woodberry rd., Riverdale, Md.

Man Dies of Leprosy In Philadelphia

Philadelphia, April 1 (AP).—The first leprosy death in Philadelphia since 1918 was reported today by Dr. Rufus S. Reeves, director of public health.

He identified the victim as Angelo Gapzonnis, 34, who died last week in the Philadelphia Hospital for Contagious diseases where he had been confined since May, 1947.

Gapzonnis, who was born in Greece and came to the United States about nine years ago, told health authorities he frequently visited a leper colony in his home town.

Bond Defeat Puts School Heads on Spot

Gloucester, Va., April 1 (AP).—Gloucester school officials today found themselves caught in the middle of a segregation squeeze.

Members of the county school board and the division school superintendent have been compelled by a Federal court to equalize educational opportunities for white and Negro school children.

In addition, these officials have been held in contempt of the court on an allegation that they have not complied with the injunction.

Their efforts to obtain funds to finance equalization of the schools met with defeat, 591-368, in a $300,000 bond issue referendum Thursday.

Result Called "Surprise"

School board chairman Stanley T. Gray today called the bond issue result a "definite surprise," and said it left the school authorities without any immediate plan of action.

"I haven't any idea what we'll do next," Gray said.

The board chairman added he had no immediate plans for calling the school board into session to discuss the situation. The next regular meeting of the board is scheduled for Thursday, April 28.

Division Superintendent J. Walter Kenney, said today, however, he "anticipated" a called meeting of the board in the near future to discuss action left open to the school authorities. He declined to speculate on what action might be considered.

Otis Howge and Wallace Fletcher, other members of the school board, together with Gray and Kenney, were ordered by Federal Judge Sterling Hutcheson to discontinue discrimination against the plaintiffs because of their race and color.

Filed in February 1947

The discrimination suit was filed in behalf of Negro school children of the county in February, 1947, and the entering of the declaratory judgment in Federal district court at Richmond came in July, 1948.

In September, 1948, counsel for the plaintiffs filed a petition alleging the discrimination had not been discontinued.

Judge Hutcheson held the defendants in contempt on January 13.

He imposed no penalty at the time and said:

"Determination of proper penalties to be imposed will be deferred until some time in April, 1949, the date to be fixed later. The parties will be notified and I shall expect the respondents to be present and, if they so desire, I shall at that time afford them an opportunity to show what has been done toward effecting equalization during the interval."

receive loans from the Treasury.

5. Local tax exemptions for Government corporations vary.

6. Some invest surplus cash in Government securities, thus compelling the Government to pay interest on its own investment.

7. Some have accumulated excessive surpluses.

Changes Recommended

The commission would correct these defects either (1) by a new law, or (2) by amending the Government Corporation Control Act of 1945. These changes should provide, it said:

1. That borrowing powers, Government liability for obligations, and budgetary presentations be uniform for all Government agencies.

2. That Government stock in these corporations be held by the president or by the head of the agency.

3. That Congress decide how to dispose of surpluses already earned by corporations partly owned by the Government.

Capital Additions

4. That major expenditures for capital additions be made only with approval of Congress.

5. That all Government corporations include a charge for interest on capital expended during periods of construction undertaken by them.

6. That where boards or part-time boards are established, they be wholly advisory and be appointed by the President.

7. That heads of departments or other major Government agencies serve as ex-officio chairman of the advisory boards of corporations located in their agencies.

8. That all Government business enterprises surrender to the Treasury all Government securities held up to the amount of capital furnished by the Government, and that they receive in return non-interest-bearing credit in the Treasury.

Payment to Treasury Favored

The commission recommended that agencies, such as the Reclamation Service, which directly receive and expend Government revenues arising outside their normal activities, pay such revenues into the Treasury, and in turn get all the sums they need from Congress.

It recommended that all housing activities be placed in one agency under a single administrator. It also recommended that the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Housing Expediter be placed under the Housing and Home Finance Administrator.

It proposed that the National Capital Housing Authority be placed directly under the District Commissioners.

House Republicans Ask Probe Of Commodity Credit Agency

(NYHT News Service).

A full-dress congressional investigation of a 366-million-dollar discrepancy in the books of the Commodity Credit Corporation was demanded yesterday by nine Republican Senators.

The action came after the General Accounting Office had sent to Congress a long-delayed audit report showing that wartime transactions totaling this sum "could not be supported nor verified" on the books of the agency.

Accounting Office officials said that no evidence of "fraud" or "irregularities" were uncovered to account for this bookkeeping shortage, which they attributed chiefly to faulty accounting practices by the corporation.

The nine Republicans likewise made no allegations of fraud, but insisted that any Government agency which lost track of 366 million dollars should be subjected to a searching probe.

The GAO report and the introduction of a resolution demanding an investigation of the corporation—which handled food purchases for lend-lease and the wartime food subsidy program among other things—came after a series of charges by Senator Williams (R., Del.) that the agency's books were not in order

These charges were denied by Administration spokesmen, including Agriculture Secretary Brannan, but were upheld in the GAO report sent to Congress on Wednesday covering the corporation's operations in 1943-45.

The report was the result of a nearly four-year effort by the Accounting Office to track down discrepancies in the records and balance the agency's books.

Summarizing the result of its audit, the GAO reported: "The amount of $366,643,129 recorded as due from sales made in the general commodities purchase program could not be supported nor verified."

2 Efforts to Trim ECA Fail

save him, 18 feet won't do," Hoffman wrote Connally.

"We have made it clear that an arbitrary percentage cut might well result in shifting the program from recovery to relief.

"This would defeat the very objective for which Congress established the ECA and would be contrary to my understanding of the job I was asked to do."

Hoffman warned that there is little "give" in ECA items and that any cut would have to be borne largely by projects aimed at making Europe self-sustaining by 1952.

In the long run, he said, such a course would cost American taxpayers more money rather than less.

"I assure you that I don't want to spend any more money for European recovery than is necessary," he wrote. "If the amount we have requested is more than we need I will not spend it, and if recovery is achieved more rapidly than we now estimate it will be, the amounts requested in the future will be less."

Downtown, Hoffman told reporters last night that "for all practical purposes," his agency will be out of business Sunday, until Congress passes the new authorization.

Before the voting started, Senator Lucas termed the proposed slashes "meat-ax" reductions, that would "irresponsibly" change the program on the Senate floor.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) agreed with Connally and Lucas that any paring should be done by the Appropriations Committee.

Senators Taft and Russell (D., Ga.), joint sponsors of the proposed 10 per cent cuts, told the Senate, however, that ECA figures were not "sacred" and 10 per cent could be pruned without harming the program.

"Let us never forget we are dealing with our own national security," Vandenberg told the Senate.

"I hesitate to put a price tag on it. The Soviets have put their own price tag on it by their relentless and even hysterical opposition to ECA."

Opposing a proposed 10 per cent slash in the program, he urged the Senate to vote the full amount and let the Appropriations Committee, after unprejudiced hearings, decide whether there should be any pruning.

Vandenberg, once again ranged against Senator Taft on a foreign policy issue, spoke as the Senate opened another night session on the 15-month ECA extension.

Hope of passing the bill through both houses before ECA's Saturday midnight deadline earlier had been abandoned but the Senate may be called back nonetheless in an unusual Saturday session.

Pending before the Senate was the 543-million-dollar proposed cut in the program jointly sponsored by Taft and Senator Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.).

Vandenberg echoed the national defense theme of an earlier speech from the Democratic side of the aisle.

Senator Millard E. Tydings (D., Md.) warned the Senate it must get ready to vote for far larger national defense appropriations and greatly increased taxes if it impairs the ECA program.

"If we are going to stand alone, we'll have to have bigger and better everything for our own defense," said Tydings.

"You'll spend many times more right here at home if you stand alone."

Tydings said it would be "disastrous" as well to our industries and farmers if we cut off the Marshall Plan now. But he said his main reason for supporting the full amount was to build a solid Western "fence" against communism.

Senator A. Willis Robertson (D., Va.), one of the few Southern Democrats aside from Foreign Relations Chairman Tom Connally (D., Tex.) to take the floor against ECA cuts, meanwhile appealed for the full amount. Like Vandenberg he urged the Senate to let the Appropriations Committee do any pruning that may be necessary.

Robertson said no member of the Senate is more concerned over mounting expenditures and taxes, but he intends to distinguish between essential and nonesesntial spending.

Vandenberg, obviously speaking for a minority on the Republican side of the aisle, said the first year of ECA worked "miracles" in the cold war.

He said the figures before the Senate represent carefully screened "minimums." He said he would be the last to argue the ECA estimates were "untouchable" but at least they were entitled to independent scrutiny by the Appropriations group.

To slash the authorization, he argued, might subject ECA to a "double dose" of cutting, on the floor and in the Appropriations Committee.

"This is much too solemn to admit of quick judgment on the Senate floor on a matter that concerns the very life blood of the enterprise," he said.

"At the full authorization, the cost would be infinitely less than it would be if this great European undertaking limps or falters or fails."

Harriman Lauds ECA

Paris, April 1 (U.P.).—American confidence in western Europe has been "fully justified" by the progress made during the first year of the European Recovery Program, W. Averell Harriman, roving Ambassador for the Marshall Plan, said today.

In a recorded "Voice of America" broadcast beamed to European nations, Harriman said he believed the Marshall Plan nations would be able to stand on their own feet by 1952.

'Sally' Informs Court Laughlin Is Dismissed

Miss Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars yesterday informed District Court she had dismissed Attorney James J. Laughlin as her counsel.

The move came as a surprise to Laughlin, who, when informed by a reporter, asked: "Is this perhaps an April Fool joke?"

Miss Gillars, recently sentenced to serve 10-30 years in jail and pay a fine of $10,000 for treason in connection with broadcasts she made on the Nazi radio, addressed the following penciled note to the court:

"This is to inform you that I have dismissed Mr. James J. Laughlin as the attorney in my case. I shall let you know my choice of new counsel in a few days."

Laughlin, who said he was working on a brief to be filed with the United States Court of Appeals asking that Miss Gillars' conviction be set aside, declared: "This is new to me. It is a little surprising. Is this perhaps an April Fool joke? I wonder why she would send the note to District Court. District Court has nothing to do with the case now."

Miss Gillars was found guilty of one of eight alleged overt acts of treason recently after a lengthy trial before Federal Judge Edward M. Curran in District Court. Curran later rejected a motion for a new trial filed by Laughlin.

Quake Sweeps 3 Iraq Villages in Crater

Baghdad, Iraq, April 1 (AP).—Three northern Iraq villages have been swallowed up in a crater opened by an earthquake, a dispatch from the Kurdish province of Suleimaniyah said today.

The report added that the village of Mosiq, near the Iraqi-Iranian frontier, was destroyed by an avalanche, while rain torrents swept another community.

The dispatch said no deaths have been reported.

Lodge Pleads With D. C. Hotel To Admit Two Negro Students

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, jr. (R., Mass.) yesterday made public his appeal to a Washington hotel to accept two Negro students among a high school group planning a trip here April 24.

Lodge released the telegram he recently received from the spokesman of the Nantucket High School which said that "we have reservations in the New Ebbitt Hotel but now learn they will not accept the two colored children in the class."

The Senator said that he spoke to the manager of the hotel at 10th and H sts. nw., asking him to accept the two children, "but he declined to do so."

George C. Clarke, owner and general manager of the hotel, said last night that he had just returned from Florida and commented:

"I am not in a position to deny the Senator's statement, but I can say I have no personal knowledge of a specific request for accommodations from the Nantucket school group."

In his telegram to the Senator, Leroy S. True, school spokesman, said: "The boy especially is outstanding and popular with his class, teachers and townsmen. The whole town is hoping they will not be denied the trip. Last year the New Ebbitt took a colored girl from Lynn, Mass., and we thought they would for us this year."

Senator Lodge added his own comment: "It seems to me that these Americans who are in good standing in their home communities should not be discriminated against when they come to the Capital of the Nation, and I hope that the day is not far distant when these practices will cease."

Burgman Files Plea Of Innocent

Herbert John Burgman, 52, former Military Attache's employe in Berlin, pleaded innocent of treason yesterday when arraigned in District Court.

He is accused of betraying this country by broadcasting Nazi propaganda during the war. May 9 was tentatively set for trial.

Burgman, who was dressed in a red sweater and a pin-striped suit, stood for some 45 minutes as the indictment, charging 69 overt acts of treason, was read to him. He is charged with running radio station DEBUNK for the Nazis.

If convicted, he faces a possible penalty of death.

A native of Hokah, Minn., Burgman was an American soldier in World War I, remained in Germany, married there and entered United States employ. He refused to be repatriated during World War II, it was charged.

Senate Unit Approves Streamlining Powers

The Senate Executive Committee voted yesterday to give President Truman wide powers to reorganize the Government.

It (1) recommended a bill that would give either house power to veto any reorganization plan Mr. Truman submitted, and (2) refused to exempt any Government agency from reorganization.

The House recently voted a reorganization bill, which, provided that any plans affecting the Defense Department and six independent agencies had to be submitted separately from any other reorganization measure.

Reorganization authority has been urged by both Mr. Truman and former President Hoover.

Send-and-Receive Personal Radio Licensing Set

By The Associated Press

"Personal radio" will come of age June 1.

The Federal Communications Commission said yesterday that as of that date it is removing the new citizens radio service from the experimental list. It will begin then to issue regular operating licenses.

The service contemplates that every man, woman or child 18 years old may become a broadcaster.

The licenses to be issued will authorize the use by individuals of a "transceiver"—a gadget about the size of an ordinary camera and capable of both sending and receiving sound.

Proposed rules to regulate its use were announced last August, and have now been finally adopted by FCC.

The commission said the uses of the individual radio are almost limitless. They range from communications with field hands on large farms and the supervising of workers on construction projects to employment in the household nursery to pick up baby's cry while parents play bridge in the next block.

Generally, the range of the individual radio signals will be a few city blocks.

Thrown Out

The rejection of police evidence in a gambling case before the District Court is a perfect example of why Superintendent Barrett's statistics of arrests are unconvincing. It is also a perfect demonstration of why United States Attorney Fay could not rely on the cooperation of police in his antigambling campaign. Far from aiding the attempt of Major Barrett and Mr. Daniel B. Maher to lay the blame for lax gambling law enforcement at the door of Mr. Fay, the court action puts the finger directly on clumsy police methods. The reason the evidence was ruled unacceptable is that the arresting officers in the case neglected to obtain a search warrant.

The two men on trial, Louis W. Dove and Max Schwartz, have been described by Assistant United States Attorney Fihelly as "among the biggest gamblers on the East Coast." The arresting officers—who, incidentally, are the same two policemen accused by Major Barrett in the Rowell beating case—listened for five days outside the window of the establishment where Dove and Schwartz were operating before making the arrest. Yet instead of obtaining a warrant, they virtually hijacked the gamblers. If this miscarriage was not deliberate, it reflects almost incredible stupidity.

Obviously it is impossible for Mr. Fay or anyone else to prosecute successfully cases in which evidence is obtained illegally. Police know who the professional gamblers in Washington are. It is fatuous to think that they cannot, if they set out to do it, obtain evidence in a manner and of a kind that will be acceptable in court. Major Barrett would be on a lot firmer ground if, instead of citing the number of his arrests in an attempt to discredit Mr. Fay, he would concentrate on instructing his subordinates in the elementary rules of evidence.

Equal Rights

The National Woman's Party is assembled in convention in Washington this weekend to press its fight for passage of the so-called equal rights amendment to the Constitution. Its zeal and persistence are worthy of a better cause. For in seeking to eliminate all distinctions in legal treatment of men and women, the proposed amendment would sweep away a vast body of protective legislation applicable to women. For that reason all major labor organizations are on record as opposed to this amendment, and Secretary of Labor Tobin has likewise voiced opposition to it. Also included among the numerous and numerically strong organizations that regard the amendment as a threat to the welfare of women rather than a benefit are such outstanding women's organizations as the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, the National Women's Trade Union League, the National Board of the YWCA, and the National Councils of Catholic, Jewish and Negro Women.

The foes of the equal rights amendment are not unmindful of the fact that women are the victims of discriminations rooted in custom and prejudice which are not justified by differences in sex. But they realize that this kind of discrimination cannot be eradicated by legislation. Moreover, insofar as legislation is concerned, their aim is to revise or abolish only those laws that reflect an irrational sex bias. The Women's Status bill which was before the Eightieth Congress has been introduced again with that purpose in mind. It has the backing of 38 national organizations, with a membership of more than 25 million, composing the National Committee on the Status of Women. This bill declares that it is the policy of the Federal Government to abolish distinctions based on sex in Federal Government and its administration, "except such as are reasonably justified by differences in physical structure or by maternal function." It also recommends that the States declare a similar policy and review their own laws and practices with the intention of bringing them into line with this new policy. An especially important provision of the bill calls for establishment of a presidential commission to study and report on all phases of the legal, economic and social status of women and make recommendations for such legislative action as may be required.

The Women's Status bill outlines a practicable and rational method of dealing with problems of sex discrimination. That is shown by the fact that it is being actively supported by representative groups that have achieved notable victories over the years in battles to elevate the legal status and living conditions of women in industry and in the home.

Dutch Problem

It is heartening to note the Acheson effort to take advantage of the presence in Washington of Foreign Minister Dirk Stikker and promote a Netherlands-Indonesian meeting. Indonesia is a sizable cloud over both the Marshall Plan and the North Atlantic Security Pact. Subsidies of goods and arms to Holland are hard to justify while Holland is keeping up a military blockade in Indonesia. The misgivings on Capitol Hill are loud enough, surely, to be heard by Netherlands officials in America.

Whether the Dutch people are equally receptive is another matter. On the basis of evidence, they are probably in a state of ignorance, as they are about both the facts of the "police action" and the circumstances of the underlying dispute. Newsprint is short in the Netherlands, and honesty of reporting from Indonesia has been suspect ever since the Dutch delegation at Lake Success stood revealed before the world as the victims of misinformation. The point is pertinent because most American newspapers are in periodical receipt of private and public communications from the Netherlands aimed at enlightenment. Most often they contain tales of misconduct by the U. N. Good Offices Committee which we find quite at variance with truth.

The air of injured innocence which is accompanying these myths out of Holland is pathetic. However, it is said to be dissolving rapidly as a major fact is impinging upon Dutch consciousness. This is that the Dutch have a bull by the tail. They have hitherto insisted that the animal is a bear with a big B, but the pretense, though swallowed avidly enough by diehards of a dying imperialism and by commiphobiacs, is invalidated by the evidence of all American officialdom in contact with Indonesia. Nowadays the real shape of the animal is coming to be appreciated in Holland. In other words, the people are beginning to ask questions about the line on which they have been fed, and to wonder why the Indonesians refuse to be pacified by bayonets. This is all to the good. It will help to soften the stubbornness that the Security Council has encountered from the Dutch in the effort to return Indonesia to peace and start the parties afresh on the path to the working out of Indonesian independence.

The position of the Security Council is now based on a resolution accepted on the proposal of Canada. Canada, always a quester for formulas at international gatherings, wanted a preliminary round table conference of Dutch and Indonesian Republicans with U. N. officials in attendance. Such a proposal would have been doomed from the start if left to be carried out by Dutch officials in Indonesia. If the Netherlands, in spite of international recognition of the Indonesian Republic, think of the trouble in Indonesia as an internal problem for the Dutch themselves, the Dutch in Indonesia appear to think of it as an internal problem for the Dutch in Indonesia. The tail has been wagging the dog in this matter on several occasions.

Perhaps the dispatch to Indonesia of Dr. J. H. van Royen is a sign of a fresh determination on the part of the Dutch to join authoritatively in the quest for a solution. Dr. van Royen is the man for the job. In spite of being the unconscious carrier of misinformation, he has suffered no detraction from the general esteem in which he is held by his Lake Success colleagues. But there can be no approach to a solution till one party regains the freedom enjoyed by the other—till, in short, the captured Indonesian leaders are released, enabled to talk freely with their colleagues, and allowed to return for consultation to their capital at Jogjakarta.

Watered Authority

It is discouraging to see the Senate Armed Services Committee yielding on a solution of the effort to strengthen unification. Following the Hoover Commission report and the President's recommendation last month, Senator Tydings introduced a bill to increase the authority and augment the staff of the Secretary of Defense as well as to create a chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Now, in a strange sort of retreat, the committee seems to be giving a cordial reception to suggestions by Ferdinand Eberstadt that would nullify two of the bill's most important provisions.

A main defect in the Eberstadt task force report of the Hoover Commission was that it never quite came to grips with the problem of divided authority and committee government—a defect remedied in the final Hoover report. Now Mr. Eberstadt wants to deprive the Secretary of Defense of the three Assistant Secretaries provided in the Tydings bill and to reduce the position of the chairman of the joint chiefs to that of a mere presiding officer with no power to resolve differences. This would have the effect of throwing major decisions on military matters on the already overburdened Secretary. What Mr. Eberstadt wants, apparently, is not unification, but a continuation of the present federation with a few improvements in procedure.

There has been experience enough, it seems to us, to show that federation is an utterly unworkable principle of military organization. It has contributed largely to division and back-biting. To be sure, no administrative measure can resolve all service conflicts, nor would it be desirable to end legitimate differences of opinion. What is imperative, if the country is to have a united military arm, is to facilitate the achievement of decisions, and to make sure that they be adhered to. An example of what we mean is the continued argument about missions between Navy aviation and Air Force after the country had been led to believe that the differences had been ironed out at the Newport and Key West conferences.

Weak Response

Soviet diplomacy has seldom produced a document as weak as its memorandum of protest against the North Atlantic Treaty. It rests on shallow lawyers' arguments of the sort we shall doubtless hear from Mr. Vishinsky or Mr. Gromyko in the coming weeks at Lake Success. Which country has violated its Yalta and Potsdam pledges "to cooperate in consolidation of general peace and international security?" The answer has become obvious even to an American schoolboy. It is Russia herself. This is the reason that the Western world has been compelled to go it alone. The Soviet memorandum merely splits hairs by suggesting that any bilateral pact is virtuous and any multilateral pact wicked and wrong. It distorts the entire spirit and intent of the new Atlantic treaty and of Western policy since the end of the war.

It would be tempting, no doubt, to ignore this document or to reject it with the brusqueness that has become so tedious in our diplomatic exchanges with Moscow. Something of the sort, we gather, is now being considered in the State Department. A far better course, we suggest, would be to send Moscow a calm and reasoned answer on behalf of all the original sponsors of the new treaty. The material for such an answer could be drawn from many sources, notably from M. Spaak's memorable speech to the U. N. Assembly last fall and from Mr. Acheson's broadcast when the terms of the treaty were first published. It should be just as clear, but just as temperate in tone, as the admirable reply Norway sent to a similar protest from Moscow a month ago.

The West must use every opening to show that its policy is not aggressive, that its people want nothing from Russia except to be let alone, and that the present mistrust and fear in the world are not of Western manufacture. If the Kremlin chooses not to listen to such an assurance, the Voice of America and the BBC can at least make sure that some of the Russian and satellite peoples hear it. The weakness of the latest Soviet argument is a golden opportunity to try again.

Blackballing Franco

Not that we favor any courting of Franco, but the breaking off of ambassadorial relations with Spain on the vote of the United Nations never made any sense. Nonrecognition and diplomatic boycotts of one form and another do not constitute a policy but the absence of it. In Spain the ambassadorial gap has simply curbed our information about conditions in Spain (for a charge does not have the same entree as an ambassador) and contracted the influence that the United States should exert there. In the case of Spain, moreover, the United Nations' ban has not been carried out unanimously. The holdouts, headed by Argentina, refused to abide by the decision, and, this being so, this country is doubly hampered in relations with Spain.

The resumption of ambassadorial relations is something apart from the question of membership of the United Nations. However, it was equally foolish to erect a doghouse specifically for Spain's benefit. The creators of the United Nations had already rejected any idea of a doghouse in the San Francisco argument on admittance. The school that won out wanted to throw open the new organization to all nations, so as to make it universal. To be sure, the members were to be peace-loving, but, as events proved, this was merely vice paying tribute to virtue, as was clear when Argentina was railroaded into the United Nations. Moreover, existence of the veto left an opening for the Soviet Union to blackball nations in the Muscovite black book. But, with Peron's blackmailers and Yeman's slave traders under the U. N. roof, it was absurd suddenly to regard the U. N. as a respectable club, for the special purpose of keeping out Franco's Spain.

The time to have thought of the United Nations in terms of a club was at San Francisco, though the time is never opportune, in our opinion, for this country to agree to diplomatic ostracism unless, as in Hungary, there is no option.

Preaching And Practice

President Truman's repeated condemnations of lobbies in Washington are rendered platitudinous by the Administration's feeble efforts to enforce the Lobby Registration Act. Some 1470 lobbyists, possibly not all of them active, are registered with the Senate under a provision of the Congressional Reorganization Act of 1946. Each of these is required to file a quarterly report of income and expenditures. Yet the only agency that checks on lobbyists is a small unit of the criminal division of the Department of Justice consisting of five lawyers and five clerks. The 1950 appropriation request approved by the Bureau of the Budget for this unit is only $80,000. This is insufficient even to permit the examination of the quarterly activity reports of lobbyists, some of which run to 250 pages. Obviously it is impossible for the unit to survey the 6000 unregistered national trade associations which may come within the purview of the lobby law.

All We Need Is A Little Encouragement

Letters To The Editor

Communications must be addressed to the editor and must carry the complete name and street address of the writer, though pen names will be permitted at the editor's discretion. Letters of less than 200 words will be given preference, and all letters are subject to condensation. No communication can be returned.

Economic Advisers

Until recently the President's Council of Economic Advisers, under Mr. Nourse's chairmanship, has steadily grown in public prestige and confidence in its eminent qualifications for advising the President on the necessary and timely steps for avoiding the dangers of both inflation and deflation, and for achieving a stabilized economy, with maximum production, employment and purchasing power.

The Story in The Washington Post of March 30 about the rift within the membership of the council and of Mr. Nourse's threatened resignation will be very disappointing news to everyone who, like myself, believe in the soundness of those objectives and who have great hopes and expectations for the council's growing effectiveness toward their advancement along sound lines.

Many will agree with Mr. Nourse's contention that the council's job stops when it makes its reports to the President and that political risks of going beyond that are too great. Many others will agree with Messrs. Clark and Keyserling who indicate that Mr. Nourse's policy would condemn the council to impotence and inaction, and who feel that the council should:

1. Undertake economic studies.
2. Translate these studies into recommendations to the President.
3. See that the recommendations are put into effect—that is, are explained and defended before Congress.

Such differences are a healthy symptom of sound democracy and not unusual in the membership and functioning of all Government agencies. In fact they are anticipated and encouraged by the requirement that membership include persons of different political parties and varying views on economic and social questions.

While I happen to agree with Messrs. Clark and Keyserling's view regarding the council's policy, I feel that Mr. Nourse would add to his and the council's prestige and effectiveness by continuing to serve as chairman and give to the President and to his colleagues on the council the benefit of his more conservative ideas and recommendations.

Doctors And Vivisection

If the March 23 letter from the secretary of the District Antivivisection Society is the society's best foot forward, the cause has fallen flat on its face although still hollering.

Her contention with regard to control of infectious disease is no longer credited by any informed and intelligent person and therefore need not be refuted here.

With regard to "a few of the many physicians opposing the practice" of vivisection, heaven help her if the ones named are fair samples! She says two are dead. They must have been dead a long time since they are not listed among living physicians of 1942.

I didn't bother to look up the Mexican since no gold showed up in the following array of the other presumably living members. If alive now, their ages are 61, 67, 73 and 81! Only one is shown to have an M. D. from a "regular" medical school—that in Canada. The others secured their degrees by attendance at limited practice schools, only one of which still existed in 1942.

None of these individuals is young enough to have received basic training under modern scientific conditions, none is listed as surgeons or research workers. They are therefore not qualified to give scientific opinion with regard to vivisection, on the present evidence of record.

With regard to "A Dr. Brock in England perfected an operation which cures blue babies. He did not use dogs or other animals, but gained his knowledge from clinical observation of human patients." Mr. Brock is not a doctor but he is a qualified practitioner of surgery as his degrees indicate.

He did not claim that he had perfected such an operation. He did do a lot of speculating and some pertinent human surgery. As is quite customary in surgical clinical reports he makes no reference to any animal experimentation but he did discuss at length the work of his predecessors and contemporaries in surgery of the heart, surgeons whose knowledge gained in "vivisection" formed the foundation for the work of Mr. Brock.

"Hope Diamond"

This is with reference to the editorial on the Hope diamond in your March 27 issue.

It may be difficult to determine what point of view Mamie Spears Reynolds may hold in 1968 with respect to possession of the Hope diamond; however, the fact that this fabulous gem was once in the possession of Catherine the Great and Marie Antoinette, would certainly carry with it a history worthy of study by many a scholar. But an even more amazing thing is that today, many years after the gem was first worn, it will probably bring a price as great, if not greater, than its original valuation.

As to the advisability of investments in gemstones, a number of our foremost economists have indicated a trend in this direction because of the very unstable conditions that now prevail. There is hardly any other personal possession which has the portability or the universal value that is found in fine gems.

The comparative newness of the science of gemology makes it excusable for the editor to be misinformed on the subject of gemstones, but in trying to suggest that glass imitations can take the place of the genuine, he has certainly voiced an opinion contrary to that of our foremost authorities in gemstones.

As to synthetic gemstones developed in the scientific laboratory, they have their place in the adornment of the average American, but when he wants the "real thing," he certainly will not accept an "ersatz" gem, which is exactly what the synthetic gemstone is.

"Insurance Stamps"

Your March 26 editorial, "Insurance Stamps," holds that such stamps will solve the administrative problems and make possible the inclusion of millions of workers presently excluded from Social Security. This from Arthur Altmeyer.

Then you go on to write that "the purpose of the insurance system is to provide wage earners with a form of protection in old age that is theirs by right and to prevent them from becoming public charges."

Our social security is mired in an orgy of individual record keeping. These are required in order to calculate each person's benefit, since the benefit is based on each quarter's earnings over a long period of time. If insurance stamps are added to this in order to bring in people presently excluded, it would seem to compound the administrative difficulties.

A logical solution would seem to be to provide a floor of protection through a flat benefit with contributions through taxes, if deemed desirable to finance in this manner, but such taxes also on a flat per person basis possibly paid through the income tax.

But this problem of financing a benefit is a difficult one. You state that what we have is an insurance system providing a form of protection that is ours by right. But an insurance system means to me that there is an equivalent relationship between aggregate benefits and contributions or taxes to finance the benefits.

We do not have that in the present system. It costs some $12 at age 65 to buy a life annuity of $1 a year. A primary social security benefit of $500 a year would cost $6000. The maximum tax on the present basis of 1 per cent from the employer and employe respectively would amount to $60 a year or $2700 in 45 years, or double that at 3 per cent interest.

Note here that taxes would also have to support any interest increment in such an arrangement. Be that as it may, the primary social security benefit at retirement, not including any of the other survivorship benefits provided through social security, is not even being paid for by the present method of financing.

Roughly, the proposed social security bill provides for doubling the benefits.

One thing that is certainly wrong with our present procedure is that benefits are so far deferred that the true costs involved will not be discovered for a long time. If we must have such a benefit structure, and perhaps we must as part of our program to correct the undesirable phases of the business cycles of our capitalistic system, then certainly we should have it all under one system—rather than with State assistance programs competing with the Federal social security program.

The State programs are subsidized one-half or more by the Federal Government.

We should be able to make more use of the banks and insurance companies and their facilities in providing our insurance and old-age protection. If we feel that the Federal Government needs to help us, let us not delude ourselves in believing that we are paying for benefits that we earn, for we most certainly are not doing that through the Social Security taxes as such—though we will have to in the aggregate or our children will have to in the future.

Search For 'Top' People

By Malvina Lindsay

Tomorrow's Teachers

THE YOUNGEST of New York's 30,000 school teachers, 20-year-old Sybil Park Appel, recently keynoted the personnel search that is on in many professions when she said, "I have always wanted to help children the way my teachers helped me."

Prospective teachers with Miss Appel's attitude are the gold nuggets sought in the Nation's current drive for 1,250,000 new teachers. But in other fields also there is a new emphasis on character, motive, personality.

Give us doctors, pleads the public, who will not merely come at us with fluoroscopes and prescription pads but who will treat us sympathetically as whole human beings. Give us nurses, ask patients, who will see us as something more than names on a chart. Give us parents, say authorities on child rearing, who however little they may know about methods, will above all love their children unselfishly, listen to them, try to understand them.

Perhaps all this is one of those subtle buddings of democracy that at intervals through the years flower into increased dignity and self-respect for the individual. Probably the confusion and insecurity of the times also cause people to grope more eagerly for human sympathy and guidance.

NOWHERE is the emphasis on high human quality so needed as in teacher recruitment. For in the words of Henry Adams, "A teacher affects eternity." And getting the wrong people to take up teaching would be worse than not having enough teachers. So dangerous can be the effect on children of a seriously maladjusted teacher that a proposal to screen out such persons before they take teacher training is now being considered by national health and education authorities.

School children of today are especially in need of the human ministrations of teachers. Already primary grades are reported to have many emotionally disturbed children as a result of housing conditions and of family upsets growing out of the war. And teachers can help greatly in spotting the early signs of trouble that lead to mental illness—which is increasing so rapidly that 1 out of 20 of today's children is now destined to spend some time in a mental hospital.

What is the good teacher like? The answer to this question was sought at the grassroots by the United States Office of Education when it sent Miss Frances V. Rummell, specialist for service to organizations, to search out examples of distinguished and happy teachers throughout the country.

SOME OF the stories of outstanding teachers Miss Rummell dug up with the aid of State departments of education have been published in magazines. Miss Rummell's own generalizations about the teachers interviewed throw much light on what the country is seeking in tomorrow's teachers.

First she found all of them proud to be teachers, seeing their work as a rich life, and so devoted to it that better-paying jobs in other fields could not tempt them. She also found them professionally alert, determined to improve teaching standards by working from within. To her great surprise none of these outstanding teachers had any complaints to make about taboos on personal liberties. Their communities trusted them, honored them, did not subject them to snooping or irksome restrictions. As a result they were "big-minded, socially at ease."

One quality all these teachers seemed to possess to a high degree was what Miss Rummell calls "artistry in human relations"—as shown in their dealings with children, parents, communities. All of them, this talent scout concluded, were "top" people—who would have been successful and happy in almost any environment. Besides technical skill they had a special expansive, outgoing self-expression that would have left its mark anywhere.

How to spot that quality, or at least its promise in young people and how to measure it, is something educators are now studying. But not only in teaching but in many fields, including politics and government, are artists in human relations the need of the hour. Belatedly the country is finding they are as important as business tycoons or nuclear physicists.

Firing Workers

Jerry Kluttz in his column of March 30, says, "Those who charge it's difficult to fire a Federal worker are now pointing to a current case to back up their accusations." Then he sets forth a case in which the Civil Service Commission has sustained the employe thus far.

By all means it should be difficult to fire an employe without cause. That is the purpose of having such appeals procedure. Presumably the agency head thus far has no case against the employe that the commission could validate. There is no virtue in firing employes without the employe giving cause.

The case seems to justify the appeal procedure. It is shortsighted to think that it would be good for public administration to subject employes to arbitrary and careless dismissals. An atmosphere of fear is regressive. Presumably the Civil Service Commission supports the dismissals when the charges are found to be valid and constitute dismissable offense.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Cast Of The Pact

IN OTHER times, often known as the good old days, spring and the cherry blossoms brought to Washington a crop of visitors from out in the country. The tourist duly photographed the blossoms and the White House, looked down for half an hour or so on the fulmination of the Senate and went home satisfied that all was normal in Washington.

Childs

But this spring something new has been added. The drama has been intensified, stepped up a thousand times. A cast of star players from Europe is here.

This formidable east is being assembled for the great signing of the pact. The presence of these European luminaries underscores the focus of power that burns so fiercely today on this once rustic and simple capital.

Let's take a look at the cast of characters. Even though he has no official part in the ceremony itself and will not even return to Washington to sign the Atlantic Pact, the central figure is, nevertheless, Winston Churchill.

He is a solid chunk of history standing athwart our times. No casting director could hope to come up to the appropriateness of his appearance. The pink bulldog face, the big cigar, the hand upraised in beneficent greeting, the whole trade-mark of his personality is stamped on the years he has lived through.

NO HISTORIAN can ever hope to appraise his influence. It has been too all-pervasive, too subtle and continuous. His enemies, and they are many and bitter, will say that he brought about our destruction if we are destroyed. His admirers, and they are far more numerous and articulate, will say that he saved us if we are saved.

In any drama coincidence has a part and particularly in the subplot. By coincidence, Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin arrives while the great British star is on stage in the full flight of a major speech.

But in many respects Bevin, who comes from the opposite social and economic pole, can hold his own. He has a stubborn, massive quality that is both infuriating and reassuring. So much of his life has been spent driving hard bargains for a pence on the pound with determined employers.

The habit of tough bargaining is one that sticks. Bevin looks suspiciously out from behind spectacles with black rims half an inch thick.

An important member of this troupe from Europe is Count Carlo Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister. Sforza is everything that we mean by the word European in its old sense. He has the culture, the urbanity, the poise, the convictions unshaken by the terrible storms that have swept his continent.

At 76 Sforza is the living embodiment of European history as Churchill is of British. Escaping from the brutalities of Italian fascism, he had the experience of exile common to so many. For seven years he lived in the United States, teaching, lecturing, pondering on the tragic fate of mankind.

FOREIGN MINISTER Robert Schuman of France is in his way symbolic. He looks the part of the embattled "Third Force," battered and harried but still resolute and even in moments such as the present permitting himself a ray of hope.

There are younger men on this crowded stage. Gustav Rasmussen of Denmark and Lester Pearson of Canada are a generation behind Sforza. But they have had unprecedentedly early seasoning in the upheaval of the past 10 years.

The list is so long that the posters being put up outside the theater read like the roster of one of Hollywood's super-super-epics. Besides those entitled to individual billing are all the supernumeraries, the earnest spear-carriers waiting in the wings for that one moment when they will step into the limelight.

If, like the Victorian novelist, we could look behind the spoken lines and into the players' minds and hearts, we might be in for a shock. Their doubts, their fears, their occasional despair are not on display. This is a time to look forward bravely and hopefully no matter what the inward reservations. It is one of those ceremonial tableaux that punctuate history and, since hope springs eternal, it may even be something more than that.

gambling grand jury on Wednesday, and who told reporters yesterday "I'm getting to be an old customer around here." Barrett spent an hour before the jury, but refused comment. In February Barrett publicly said he thought Vice Squad Detectives James Roche and Angelo Bonaccorsy were "guilty as hell" of beating Rowell. When asked if he repeated that statement to the jury, he said only, "no comment."

Dudley Meade, 7049 Eastern ave., Takoma Park, Md., a representative of the Second National Bank, and Warren B. Lane, 1920 N. Nelson st., Arlington, Va., an assistant in the loan department of the Liberty National Bank. Rowell said yesterday he had an account in the Second National Bank, and once had an account in the Liberty, but had borrowed a total of $950 from both banks during the month of March.

Inspector Robert S. Bryant, assistant superintendent of police and chief of the detective bureau. Bryant headed a police investigation of the Rowell beating before the case was turned over to the FBI.

Lieut. Joseph Hunt, of the Second Precinct, to whom Rowell talked after the beating.

And an FBI agent who investigated the beating for the Justice Department.

Concerning Rollins' testimony, Rowell said yesterday he had not seen Rollins on the day when he is alleged to have described his assailants as plainclothesmen.

Concerning Fisher's testimony, Rowell said: "I remember his asking me how much I got paid off like a joke, and I think I answered 'Don't worry about me; I probably got plenty.' But I never mentioned any figure, I know."

Concerning Martin's testimony, Rowell agreed that he had called Martin from Garfield Hospital; agreed that he was sobbing and incoherent; agreed that he had told Martin he was afraid to be left alone; agreed that Martin had sent Cab Driver William Collins to be with him; agreed that he had gone to Martin's office two hours after the beating.

But Rowell denies that he told Martin he thought his assailants were plainclothesmen. Rowell denies he told Martin the name of one of them.

When asked if he might have been so incoherent after the beating that he might have forgotten what he told others, Rowell said it was "possible," but he doubted it.

Concerning his brother-in-law's testimony before the grand jury, both Rowell and his wife, DeGriffion's sister, denied:

1. That Rowell told his wife and DeGriffion at the Prince Georges County Hospital that his assailants were plainclothesmen and that he knew their names.

2. That Rowell had told DeGriffion that he and his wife planned a New York vacation because "you can do most anything you want to if you get paid off $5000."

3. That DeGriffion's name is DeGriffion. They both said his name was Robert W. Hayes—Hayes being Mrs. Rowell's maiden name. They said he started using the name DeGriffion about 12 years ago. They admitted they called him "Don."

Rowell was asked yesterday if he could explain the mass of conflicting testimony, all given under oath on penalty of perjury.

He said he just knew that he was telling the truth about being unable to identify his assailants.

"If you were being held by the shoulders by one man and beaten by another could you identify your assailants?" he asked.

The grand jury adjourned until Monday morning.

Dispatcher Martin also said he told the grand jury that John Bonaccorsy, the cab driver brother of the policeman, was in his office when Rowell came there and identified his assailants.

The bank representatives said they had provided the grand jury with information concerning bank deposits of the principals in the case, but refused to discuss those deposits.

Fay Reverses Phone Request

reparable damage" to Miller's family and business. The motion said he is the father of two children. His attorneys said he is in the used car business, and that his telephone "has not been used for illegal or unlawful purposes."

The attorneys presented their petition to Judge David A. Pine for his signature on a restraining order.

The jurist said he was advised by the United States Attorney's office that such an order would not be necessary to forego cutting off the telephone service until a hearing on the requested temporary injunction could be held, since the district attorney could issue a "stipulation" requesting continuation of the service.

He said Fay's request to the telephone company served the desired purpose without recourse to the courts.

It was the first such request granted by the United States Attorney in the aftermath of his letters to the telephone company.

His office has received upward of 50 complaints from telephone subscribers objecting to the prospect of having their service discontinued, it was learned.

It was considered likely that similar requests to the United States Atorney would follow yesterday's action on Miller's behalf.

Ehrlich said he had been assured by the telephone company that it would not discontinue service to Miller if Fay forwarded such a request.

Fay's letters to the telephone company after the gambling raids said that "this office is in possession of competent evidence that the following number (s) . . . is being used in violation of the statutes prohibiting gambling in the District of Columbia. I therefore request that this telephone equipment be disconnected and that such telephone service be discontinued."

In addition to more than 320 phones at the 300 locations, Fay ordered elimination of service to 26 teleprinters and two wire services allegedly used for transmission of horse-racing results.

All horse race wire services within a 20-mile radius of the city were out by Tuesday.

Otherwise, developments in Fay's attack on gambling in Greater Washington were few yesterday.

Two United States deputy marshals, presumably participants in one or more of the raids last weekend, testified for less than an hour before the special anti-gambling grand jury.

The grand jury recessed after hearing their testimony. It is expected to reconvene Monday to hear additional witnesses and to review further evidence.

The next move from Fay's office was being considered in conferences late yesterday.

Publication of a special report on gambling in the District from Daniel B. Maher, assistant corporation counsel, was expected momentarily on the basis of Police Supt. Robert J. Barrett's original announcement.

Major Barrett had said it would be ready last Thursday or Friday, but Maher told a reporter Thursday that he was still working on a rough draft. He said he could not predict when it would be available.

FBI Pursuing Police Beating Investigation

Investigation into the alleged beating of a 16-year-old boy, for which two Ninth Precinct policemen have been suspended, still was under way yesterday, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported.

Results of the inquiry will be forwarded shortly to the civil rights division of the Justice Department for possible prosecution it was said.

Arrested Tuesday

The boy had been arrested early Tuesday on car tampering charges. Later his mother complained he had been beaten at the precinct station. Pvts. Eugene L. Hummer and William Harry Reed were suspended after a conference between Police Superintendent Robert J. Barrett and the policemen's immediate superiors. In the meantime police trial board machinery has been set in motion.

The boy and his mother made statements about the case to FBI agents upon the advice of United States Attorney George Morris Fay. Conviction of civil rights violation carries a penalty of up to $5000 fine and 10 years in jail.

Attorney Charles E. Ford, counsel for the policemen, yesterday declared the officers were innocent.

Calls Charge Groundless

"There are absolutely no grounds for the charge that these men beat the boy," Ford said. "They drove him to the station house and dropped him off there while they went out on another investigation. They returned, made out the necessary papers and called the boy's mother. If he had been beaten, would they have called the mother?"

Ford said bruises on the boy's arms probably were caused when the officers grabbed the boy as he tried to flee the scene of the car tampering.

The lawyer said he knew nothing of black eyes and other body bruises borne by the boy.

Slot Machine Bill Near Final Passage

Annapolis, Md., April 1.—The Prince Georges County slot machine measure neared final passage in the Maryland Senate tonight as it was adopted tentatively without amendments.

The measure, providing for a referendum on whether county residents want the gambling devices, is slated for routine final passage and Governor Lane is expected to sign the bill.

Lone opponent in the Senate was Senator Roy Tasco Davis (R., Mont.), a former college president, who said the bill could lead to "slot machines being set up all around the University of Maryland."

Only four Montgomery County delegates and Majority Leader Leroy Pumphrey (D., Prince Georges) opposed the measure in the lower chamber.

Liberalized Credit

By Mark Sullivan

Influence Of Mass Psychology

THE FEDERAL Reserve Board has taken two steps, presumably designed to increase the country's volume of credit. It has reduced the cash down payment required in installment buying of many forms of goods, such as automobiles, refrigerators and the like, and has lengthened the time during which installment payments may be made. It has reduced from 75 per cent to 50 per cent the proportion of cash required in purchases of securities from brokers on the stock exchange. To reduce the proportion of cash is of course to increase correspondingly the proportion of credit.

Sullivan

These steps are taken at a time when, and presumably because, there has been a recent recession in business. The apparent theory is that increase in the quantity of credit in the country—which in effect is much the same as increase in the quantity of money—will make business better. This theory is widely accepted; it is thought of as almost an axiom. It is a practically universal belief that abundance of money—both money in the ordinary sense and what may be called credit money—makes for good business.

This theory has worked on many past occasions under conditions that existed at the time. Yet on other occasions under different conditions it has not worked, or has worked in ways not anticipated. Something depends on whether the people as a whole, including especially business and industry, take advantage of the increase in quantity of credit and make use of it. If the conditions at a given time are such as to create confidence in the future, business and industry and the people generally are likely to take hold of the increase in quantity of credit, put it to use and thus make business better.

MUCH, very much, depends on just what use is made of an increased quantity of credit. Once the increase is created or made available, it may flow into, or be taken into, any of several channels. If used by industry to increase its plant and its output of goods. If at the same time prices of goods are reduced or prevented from going higher, the hoped for betterment of business takes place. On the other hand, if the increased quantity of credit is used mainly in the purchase of goods already existing—for example, farms and city real estate and buildings and commodities — the result may be mainly mere increase of prices without a corresponding increase in the quantity of goods or betterment of business in a sound sense.

The potency that increase of credit can have in the country's economy, whether brought about by Federal Reserve Board policies or otherwise, is illustrated by what took place in the 1920s during the prosperity period preceding the depression. To mention this is not to suggest analogy between what took place during the 1920s and the present. Contrary to frequent assumption, there is almost contrast. The conditions in the 1920s were utterly different. Then, farmers were under a heavy burden of mortgages, and farming was prostrate. Today farming is the most prosperous industry. And in the 1920s there was a boom on the New York Stock Exchange, while today prices of stocks are low and the exchange has been almost inert.

THE ONLY interest in recalling what took place in the 1920s is to illustrate the potency that credit can have. In the mid-1920s the Federal Reserve Board followed a policy of making credit easy by low interest rates. The board kept interest rates low for the principal and laudable purpose of not attracting investment funds from European countries, which needed their funds at home to aid recovery from the war. In the United States, credit found its way largely into the Stock Exchange, there creating the boom in prices which was the precipitating cause of the ensuing depression.

What underlies this is the mystery that credit is. It includes mass psychology, indeed mass psychology is the largest part of it. Credit can spiral, and then despiral, it can ramify into unexpected places, it is volatile. It can be at first beneficent, and later become a danger. A vivid statement of the nature of credit is in a passage by Garet Garrett:

"In all the discoveries and inventions by which we live and die, this totally improbable helix of credit is the most cunning, the most liable, the least comprehended and, except high explosives, the most dangerous . . . Modern credit, as we know it, or think we know it, is a new and amazing power, still evolving, still untamed. Men have been much more anxious to release the power of credit, to employ it and exploit it, than to control it or even to understand it."

2 Policemen Back on Duty In Report Failure Suspension

Second Precinct Police Pvts. Robert L. Carter, 35, and James D. Williams, 37, suspended recently on the charge they failed to report recovery of stolen property, returned to duty yesterday.

They were suspended on March 24 by Maj. Robert J. Barrett, police superintendent. Two men arrested by Carter and Williams as shoplifters had complained that the policemen had taken from them a pressure cooker stolen from a hardware store in Rosslyn, Va.

An investigation was ordered by Capt. Clyde N. Strange of the Second Precinct and, according to police, the pressure cooker was found in Carter's car.

Carter and Williams were to have faced a trial board on two charges yesterday, failing to make a proper record of property taken from prisoners and making a false report to a superior officer.

However, they asked for a summary hearing before Barrett. Because Barrett was busy with an appearance before the grand jury, the summary hearing was before Inspector Floyd A. Trsucott, assistant superintendent.

Truscott explained that such a hearing could only be held if the men pleaded guilty. He said Barrett must review the case before any penalty can be announced. However, he did disclose that the two men had been restored to duty as of 4 p. m. yesterday.

Bill Bray Leaves White House Staff For Treasury Post

William J. (Bill) Bray, a member of the White House staff, yesterday moved to the Treasury Department as assistant to Secretary Snyder.

Bray, an alumnus of St. John's College and Columbus University here, came to Washington from Bridgeport, Conn., as a boy. He served as a House page and was a protege of former Vice President John N. Garner. Later he became associated with the then Postmaster General James A. Farley, from whom he acquired considerable political lore.

Bray and Mrs. Bray, the former Margaret Cuddy, live at 6306 Delaware st., Chevy Chase, Md., with their two children, Barbara Ann, 12, and Billy, 4.

Pyramid Club Starter Gives Innocent Plea

Daniel A. Thomas, 28, pleaded innocent yesterday to an indictment charging him with running a lottery "called a pyramid club."

The bricklayer, who said he introduced the pyramid club fad to Washington, entered his plea after a vain effort was made for dismissal of the indictment. During the extended argument, even April Fool's day was mentioned. In opening his argument, defense attorney Denis K. Lane said:

"I would like to allude to the appropriateness of the day. The day is April 1 and if there was ever a day that was dedicated to those little foolish things that people do, it is certainly this day. I think in their minds when April 1 comes around are pyramid clubs, po-pos, ouija boards and such things."

Jude Henry A. Schweinhaut of District Court retorted with. "like the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la, that ain't got nothing to do with it."

Thomas, who lives at 81 Hawaii ave. ne., contends that police seized "certain papers and money" and are illegally detaining them. He also charged there was no competent evidence of criminality.

Thomas is free on his personal recognition. No date has been set for trial.

Subcommittee Backs Plan for VA Hospital

Construction of a 750-bed veterans hospital in the District area was reported a possibility again yesterday by agreement within a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

Although the subcommittee has not reported to the full committee, members said privately they had agreed to restore cuts in the construction program made by the White House. The full committee must agree with the subcommittee before the bill is reported to the floor.

Originally calling for $1,200,000,000, the bill which authorizes construction but does not appropriate funds, was cut 237 million dollars by President Truman. Subcommittee members were said to feel that Congress was obligated to carry out the contracts it has authorized.

The original program called for construction of 90 hospitals. After the President's reduction order, the Veterans' Administration canceled 24 and reduced the proposed capacity of 14, making a total reduction of 16,000 beds.

The hospital planned for the District was cut from 750 beds to 500. It is to be built on the so-called Nevius tract in Arlington between Ridge rd., Lee blvd. and Fort Myer.

The land was purchased at a cost of some $1,600,000 after a prolonged court contest.

Gervasi Reports Tomorrow

It's a big night tonight for London—the lights will burn bright again, thanks to more coal. But there's more to England's economic picture than coal production, points out Frank Gervasi. The noted correspondent's first report on Europe appears in tomorrow's Washington Post.

Is Britain really emerging from financial stress? What are her special export-import problems, present and future? How are the people bearing up after nearly ten "austere" years? Gervasi brings you the answers in this timely, perceptive article. See Section II Sunday in

Loan League Slaps Back at A. B. A. Attack

By S. Oliver Goodman

The National Savings and Loan League yesterday slapped back at the American Bankers Association and, in effect, told the A. B. A. to mind its own business.

Oscar R. Kreutz of Washington, manager of the National League, said that the A. B. A. criticism of revisions and modernization of regulations for Federal savings and loan associations "is merely an attack by a representative of competitors . . . and should be regarded by the public in that light."

Earlier this week, the A. B. A. had filed a strong protest with the Federal Home Loan Bank Board against that agency's proposed new rules to broaden powers of savings and loan associations. Under A. B. A. criticism are new regulations that would permit Federal savings and loan associations to call themselves "Federal savings associations," describe their shares as "savings accounts," issue certificates of deposit and open branch offices anywhere.

Kreutz pointed out that the proposed FHLB changes were drafted after extended discussions with the savings and loan industry and "represent needed revisions to bring the associations' operations in line with today's business requirements."

He added: "Those really concerned by the proposed new regulations and charter are, first, the millions of people served by the savings and loan associations and, second, the associations themselves. The revisions and changes were ordered by the Home Loan Bank Board so as to provide these thrift institutions with better facilities for serving their public. That is a very commendable objective. It certainly is not proper for the board to have its regulations written by competitors of savings and loan associations.

"We would like the public to know that, traditionally, savings and loan associations have NOT been critics of banking legislation and baking regulations. We have not presumed to try to tell the bankers and Congress, time after time, what their legislation should be. I suggest that the A. B. A. adopt a similar attitude toward the savings and loan business. The only consideration in matters of this kind should be the public interest."

NEW BUILDING: The Bank of Commerce & Savings will open its new Brightwood Branch building about May 15, President Thomas J. Groom reported yesterday. The one-story structure is adjacent to the temporary branch quarters at Georgia ave. and Tewkesbury st. nw. Francis E. Robey, vice president, who recently observed his thirtieth anniversary with the bank, will continue as manager of the Brightwood Branch with William W. Stiver, assistant cashier, as assistant manager. President Groom said plans for the formal opening and open house will be announced soon.

OPENS OFFICE: Amott, Baker & Co., Inc., specialists in real estate securities, have opened a branch office at 1424 K st. nw., under the management of John M. Hoffman. Hoffman, in the securities business here for 13 years, formerly was president of Mitchell, Hoffman & Co., Inc., and previously was associated with Herrick, Waddell & Co., Inc. Associated with him in the Amott, Baker office here are: H. Clark Helms, Edwin D. Sampson, Miss Sophia E. Fry, B. Hansford Wills, G. Leslie Sampson, L. M. Beynon and Malcolm D. Voci.

New York Crippled By Taxicab Strike

6-Hour Day?

Notice Served Miners Seek Job Time Cut

By Sam Stavisky
Post Reporter

Soft coal mine operators were given authoritative notice yesterday that some 400,000 of John L. Lewis' miners will seek a "readjustment" of working hours.

The notice came in the form of a speech by Thomas Kennedy, vice president of the United Mine Workers, before some 10,000 miners at New Kensington, Pa.

UMW miners over the country yesterday stayed away from the pits and marke dthe fifty-first anniversary of the eight-hour day in the coal mines.

Kennedy did not specify how far the "readjustment" of the present working hours—normally 8 hours a day, 40 hours a week—will go, but it is believed that John L. Lewis will ask for a 6-hour day, 30-hour week, at present weekly pay. The current soft coal contract runs out June 30.

The UMW vice president pointed out in his talk that during the war the miners voluntarily worked up to 10 hours a day.

"By the same token and reasoning," he said, "hours should now be readjusted to the new requirements which will stabilize production, spread and equalize employment, and keep the coal economy on a sound and proper basis."

The UMW Journal, official publication of the union, disclosed yesterday that the 14-day "memorial period" work holiday (March 14 to 28) had among its purposes the sharing of "economic loss" among the miners.

Lewis, in calling the stay-away, announced its purpose was to commemorate the mine casualties of 1948 and to protest against the President's appointment of Dr. James Boyd to head the United States Bureau of Mines.

The editorial observed that because of the abnormal stockpile of coal reserve above ground and the reduction in demand, miners had been working for the most part three or four days a week. Thus, the editorial argued, the miners lost during the two-week "memorial period" only that income which they would have lost anyway by layoffs.

Nonetheless, the UMW Journal declared, the "memorial period" was also a spectacular protest against inadequate mine safety enforcement, and against the appointment of Dr. Boyd, who the UMW insists is "incompetent," to control the Federal mine safety regulations.

"Work stoppages are the only way that American coal miners have ever been able to impress upon the politicians and the American people their inherent right to mine safety protection, or anything else for that matter," commented the editorial.

The editorial castigated President Truman and Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), chairman of the Senate Interior Affairs Committee, for their successful two-year fight in obtaining Senate confirmation for Dr. Boyd.

President Truman, the editorial charged, "has pulled every political string known to machine politics—the brand Truman knows best—to have Boyd confirmed. . . ."

Senator O'Mahoney, the editorial asserted, "has been suffering from mental rabies. . . . "

A strike of cab drivers cut New York taxi service by 90 per cent Friday.

Other curbs on transportation were imposed by a strike of radio operators against Pan American World Airways and a walkout of seamen against Canada's east coast ship owners.

A strike of 7000 brewery workers closed all major beer plants in the New York metropolitan area, but enough brew was available for 10 days of normal quaffing in that area.

In Akron, Ohio, a strike of 600 bus drivers and mechanics ended after a few hours with acceptance of a 7-cent hourly wage boost by the CIO Transport Workers Union.

The New York strike of 36,000 cabbies, mechanics and other workers against fleet operators left only a sprinkling of taxis on the city's streets. Police said 923 cabs were operating at noon. Normally there are 9618 running at that hour. More than 3000 police guarded against violence. The cab drivers seek union recognition, wage increases, a closed shop and other benefits.

Sixteen persons were arrested and four of the striking drivers were sentenced to 10 days each in the workhouse. Charges against the 16 ranged from disorderly conduct to simple assault.

The radio operators' walkout, a CIO transport workers' union official predicted, will halt Pan American flight service. Three flights were canceled at La Guardia Field and another was postponed until Saturday. Two flights were held in London.

The union wants the airline to carry a radio officer on each of its Boeing Stratocruiser ships. The airline says the pilot can handle a raliotelephone for communication needs.

The brewery strike supports a demand by the CIO brewery and distillery workers for an $8.50 weekly wage hike, a cut in hours from 40 to 35 a week, job security and plant safety measures.

In other labor developments, three AFL unions told Congress that the Western Union Telegraph Co. is being aided by the Federal Communications Commission in "a deliberate attempt . . . to commit suicide" by curtailing services and closing offices.

The Commercial Telegraphers Union, the Telegraph Employes Union and the Telegraph Workers Union asked Congress to investigate the company's activities.

At Kansas City, Mo., a five-county building shutdown was threatened by a walkout of several hundred workmen in three AFL construction trades unions.

There's Good Fun In 'Sleeping Car'

By Richard L. Coe

ONCE AGAIN THE Compagnie Internationale des Wagons-Lits et des Expresse Europeens is the heart of a British mystery yarn.

This time the route takes you, on the Playhouse screen, from Paris to Trieste. Aptly enough, the picture's called "Sleeping Car to Trieste" and it's good fun. There's not much mystery to it, but the British genius for minor characters juggles some happy laughs indeed.

The story concerns a diplomat's diary, contents of which would blow up central Europe, and an assortment of folks who want to latch onto same. Europe doesn't explode, but if ever it does, I'm sure we'll all feel adventures on Europe's Wagons-Lits had a deal to do with it.

But it's the minor characters who are the real fun. You get a stuffy Scottish Liberal who goes about the world talking up the rights of the common man though he himself behaves with a lordliness Nero might have questioned. There's one of those lean, lank Englishmen, fresh out of his officer's uniform, who's plaguing the train's chef for advice on how to run a restaurant, but who does all the dreary talking himself. There's the public school type, a thin, chin-up fellow whose respect for the proprieties stops with himself.

There are more: a long-faced bird-lover going out to lecture in the Balkans about his feathered friend, a genial disbelieving Yank getting back to his Army unit and a prey for two Balkan gals who pawn off their taxable Paris hats on his luggage.

Inevitably, to be sure, people will ask how this stacks up alongside such happy memories as "The Lady Vanishes" and "Night Train," both Wagons-Lits charades. Alas, my mind is beginning to go to pieces under the press of modern living and I'm in no position to attempt camparisons. Could be you'll miss Dame May Whitty's genteel horror as well as those two chappies whose hearts belonged to cricket. But for 1949, our travelers are amusing conceits, rather like Giles drawings come to life.

The players are headed by Jean Kent, as a conniving lady, Albert Lieven as her fellow conspirator, Finlay Currie as the phony Liberal and Bonar Colleano as the Yank sergeant. There are many of them and the very unfamiliarity of their names bespeaks the freshness of their tricks.

"SLEEPING CAR TO TRIESTE." Eagle Lion release from J. Arthur Rank's Two Cities Studio produced by George H. Brown. Screen play by Allen MacKinnon from a story by Clifford Grey. Directed by John Paddy Carstairs. Photography by Jack Hildyard. Music by Benjamin Frankel. At the Playhouse.

Mt. Pleasant Church Preparing to Move

Members of Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, 1410 Columbia rd. nw., will attend services in their present building for the last time at 11 a. m. Sunday.

On Palm Sunday the first services will be held in their new church at Westmoreland circle nw. At that time the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church will officially become the Westmoreland Congregational Church.

Sermon theme at the closing service in the Columbia rd. building will be "A Cloud of Witnesses." It will be discussed by the Rev. Philip Gordon Scott, pastor of the church; Dr. Fred Sherman Buschmeyer, former pastor and now associate minister of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches, and the Rev. Edmund R. Strait, associate minister of the church.

Following the sermon the three ministers will carry a cross, candlesticks and the Bible out of the sanctuary. Members of the congregation will follow in a recessional, each carrying a hymnal to a table in the church entry.

Most of the equipment in the Mount Pleasant Church will be used in the new Westmoreland Church.

Ill Pastor Delivers Sermon Via Amplifier

Cleveland (U.P.).—A Cleveland pastor kept right on preaching to his congregation during an illness, even though he was confined to his bed in the parsonage next door to the church.

Members of the Archwood Congregational Church heard the Rev. Lawrie J. Sharp preach and pray with the aid of a two-way amplification system.

When the time came for Rev. Mr. Sharp to speak or pray, he merely dropped his ear phones and picked up a microphone.

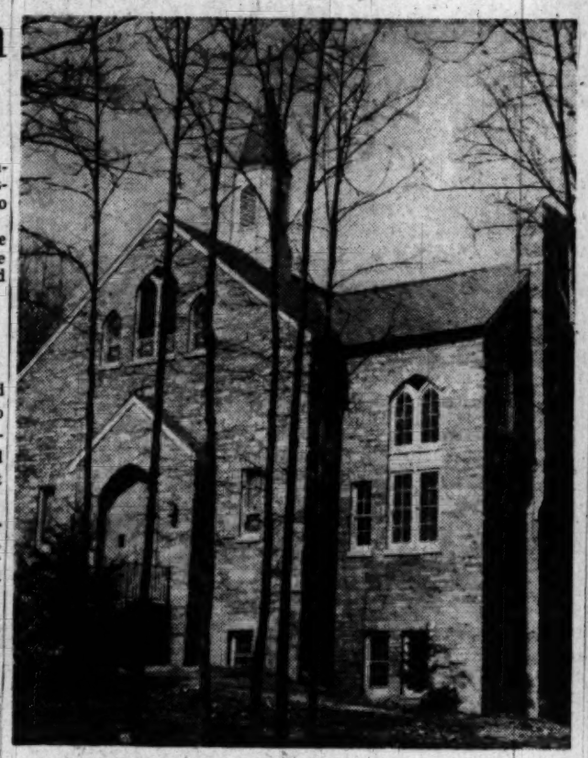
New Church . . .



TO BE DEDICATED—The new Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church, 4347 Lee blvd., Arlington, will be dedicated at services at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. Sunday. Dedication of the remodeled Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Alexandria, and the parish house of Immanuel-Church-on-the-Hill, at the Virginia Theological Seminary, Alexandria, are also set for Sunday

Special Rites Scheduled by Two Churches

First services will be held in a new Chevy Chase Baptist Church and an Arlington Evangelical and Reformed Church will be dedicated on Sunday.

Dr. Edward O. Clark, pastor of Chevy Chase Baptist Church, will conduct the first service in the new building adjoining the present church at 5671 Western ave., at 11 a. m. Plans for the new church were made in 1941, but construction was not begun until a year ago.

Dedication of Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church, 4347 Lee blvd., Arlington, will take place at services at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m., the Rev. Lee A. Peeler, the pastor, has announced. Bethel Church is a mission under care of the Board of National Missions of the denomination and was organized by Mr. Peeler in 1941.

Dr. Clark's theme at the Baptist dedication service will be "This Is the House of God." He will be assisted by the Rev. W. Berkeley Ormand, assistant minister, and three clergymen who are members of the church, Dr. S. A. Devan, the Rev. Frank L. Griffin and the Rev. John D. Clark.

At 7:45 p. m. the Rev. Vernon B. Richardson, pastor of University Baptist Church, Baltimore, will begin an evangelistic campaign at Chevy Chase Baptist. He will speak each night through Friday at 7:45 p. m.

The Rev. Frederick R. Daries, Indianapolis, Ind., chairman of the department of church building of the board of National Missions of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, will speak at the 11 a. m. dedication at Bethel Church.

Shoreham Dinner
Two Jewish Leaders Will Speak Here

Eisendrath Glueck

Two leaders of Reform Judaism will speak at a dinner given by the Washington Hebrew Congregation at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Shoreham Hotel.

They are Dr. Nelson Glueck of Cincinnati, president of the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, and Dr. Maurice N. Eisendrath of New York, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Dr. Glueck, an archaeologist, has been president of the college and institute of religion for the past two years. He was formerly director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem and field director of the American School of Oriental Research in Baghdad.

Dr. Eisendrath has been president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, a federation of nearly 400 liberal Jewish congregations, since 1943. He is national cochairman of the Commission on Religious Organizations of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and a vice president of the World Union for Progressive Judaism.

Other speakers on the program will be Dr. Norman Gerstenfeld, rabbi of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, William L. Bush and Milton W. King.

Rev. Bell to Observe Fourth Anniversary

The fourth anniversary of the Rev. D. A. Bell's pastorate at St. John C. M. E. Church, Stanton and Douglas rds., Anacostia, will be observed with special services Sunday at 3:30 p. m. and Monday through Friday at 8 p. m. The Rev. H. L. Burton of Israel C. M. E. Church and members of his congregation will be guests at the service Sunday.

Court Holds Firing Of Norden Illegal

Judge Jennings Bailey ruled yesterday that the Army's dismissal in 1947 of Heinz Norden as American military government editor of a German-language magazine was illegal.

The District Court jurist said Norden's rights under the Veterans Preference Act of 1942 had been violated. Norden enlisted in 1942 and by 1946 had risen to the rank of major. He was then hired under an "excepted appointment" for a year as editor-in-chief, CAF-12, with pay of $5905.20 plus 25 per cent differential, and put in charge of the German magazine, Heute.

In September 1947, Gen. Lucius D. Clay refused to renew Norden's contract after Norden declared he had been cleared by a Government loyalty board. The discharge was for the "efficiency of the service" and "termination of the contract."

Norden had been under fire by Representative Dondero (R., Mich.). The Congressman accused Norden of Communist leanings, which Norden denied.

Judge Bailey made his findings of illegality in a suit Norden brought through Attorney Hyman Smollar for reinstatement. The judge said that he was bound by Veterans Preference Act Section 14 holding that no permanent or indefinite veteran employe who has completed his probationary or trial period in the Government shall be discharged except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the service.

The judge said:

"Inasmuch as plaintiff (Norden) was appointed for an indefinite period, the grounds stated for his discharge were insufficient and any discharge on the general ground that it would promote the efficiency of the service is not sufficiently definite without stating in what respect or for what reason the efficiency of the service would be promoted by his discharge."

Bishop Taking Part

2 Dedications In Alexandria Set for Today

The Right Rev. Frederick G. Goodwin, Episcopal Bishop of Virginia, will participate in ceremonies dedicating the new parish house of Immanuel - Church - on - the-Hill and the newly enlarged Emmanuel Episcopal Church, both in Alexandria, on Sunday.

Dedication of the remodeled Emmanuel Church, Mason ave. and Russell rd., is set for 11 a. m. The ceremonies at Immanuel-on-the-Hill, which is at the Virginia Theological Seminary, will take place at 3 p. m.

Reconstruction of Emmanuel Church provides space for an additional 140 worshipers. The seating arrangement in the church has been reversed, with a new main entrance facing Mason ave. taking the place of the former front entrance on High st.

On the lower floor there are additional classrooms for the Sunday school, a room for parish women's organizations, a large kitchen and an office and study for the rector.

While the $63,000 addition was under construction, services were held in St. Agnes School, Alexandria. Although work was not yet completed, the congregation returned to the church for services on Christmas Eve. The Rev. William Macbeth is rector of Emmanuel Church.

The new parish house of Immanuel-Church-on-the-Hill is a memorial to the late Thomas Kinloch Nelson, former chaplain of the Episcopal High School and for 40 years a professor at the Virginia Theological Seminary.

The Rev. J. L. B. Williams, minister in charge of the church; the Very Rev. A. C. Zabriskie, dean of the theological seminary, and Miss Fenton McGuire Boogher, a great-niece of Dr. Nelson, will also participate in the dedication ceremony. Representatives of the vestry, trustees, church officials and heads of parish organizations will march in the processional.

Ground for the parish house was broken last May, and in October the first meeting was held in the red brick colonial building.

The new $70,000 parish house has already become a center for parish activities on Seminary Hill. It includes a large lounge, an auditorium which can be used for meetings, plays, movies or dances, a kitchen and offices for the rector and other church officials.

Alcoves on the lower floor are especially designed for use by the church school and there is also a workroom for the parish Boy Scout troop.

Episcopalians Collect $21,995.06 For Relief in Day

Episcopal churches in the diocese of Washington have reported collection of $21,995.06 in a one-day drive for funds for world relief last Sunday.

Of the 90 churches and chapels in the diocese, 56 have reported so far, according to diocesan headquarters. The funds will be sent to the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief. Goal for the diocese is $30,000 and officials expect that it will be met and possibly surpassed.

The one-day collection followed a Nation-wide radio broadcast sponsored by major denominations urging donations for world relief. At the conclusion of the program President Truman asked listeners to go to church March 27 and give for world relief.

Top total for the day came from St. John's Church, Lafayette Square, which collected $3200. Epiphany Church received $2710.65, and other churches which cleared the $1000 mark were All Saints', Chevy Chase, St. Paul's, Rock Creek; St. Thomas', St. Margaret's and Christ Church, Georgetown.

World Council Member to Speak

The Rev. Dr. Benjamin J. Bush, a member of the staff of the World Council of Churches, will speak at 11 a. m. Sunday at the National Presbyterian Church, Connecticut ave. and N st. nw.

Dr. Bush supervises a staff administering relief and reconstruction of Protestant churches in nine European countries. He will speak on "The Church Rebuilds." At 8 p. m., the chancel choir of the church will present a Lenten musical program including the cantata "Singet dem Herrn" by Buxtehude, "Four Heavenly Songs" by Robin Milford, and "The Lamentations of Jeremiah" by Alberto Ginastera.

Priest Will Speak

The Rev. John J. O'Sullivan of the Department of Religious Education of Catholic University, will speak on "The Church and the Family" at a religious round table at 11:30 a. m. Sunday in McMahon Hall at the university.

Nelsons on Church Show

Radio Comedians Ozzie and Harriet Nelson will appear on "Patience Has a Story" Sunday at 9:45 a. m. over WINX and at 6:45 p. m. over WASH-FM. The program is sponsored by the Third Order of St. Francis, Catholic laymen's organization.

Milk Routes 'Raided' Here

had called on him during the past few days.

Meanwhile, it was learned that Wakefield Dairy is attempting to "invade" the suburban Virginia milk market, but has been unable to obtain permission from the suburban Milk Control Board.

The milk control board—two of whose members are officials of dairies now serving Virginia customers—recommended rejection of a permit asked by Wakefield Dairy. The permit is required for milk sales in the Arlington-Alexandria-Fairfax County area.

The rejection, recommended to the Virginia State Milk Commission, was based on the contention that the local Virginia area was already receiving an adequate supply of milk.

The State Milk Commission will hold a hearing on the Wakefield request and the local board's rejection recommendation next Friday in Richmond, Commission Secretary John W. Owen said last night.

The local board includes Michael H. Burchell, secretary-treasurer of the Alexandria Dairy Products Co., and Maurice V. Davison, vice president of Chestnut Farms-Chevy Chase Dairy, both representing milk distributors, as well as two producer members.

Failure of the Virginia State Milk Commission to reduce the consumer milk price more than 1 cent per quart this week was attacked yesterday by Daniel A. Dugan, an Arlington County Board member.

The Commission, which controls Virginia milk rates, should have "reduced the price to consumers . . . to a point equal with the reduction in Washington," Dugan said.

Dugan said the "sole effect" of the commission to date "has been to bless the producer and damn the consumer."

Lee Accused of Blocking Bills

Saturday, Lofstrand charged that Lee, who has the ear of administration leaders and Governor Lane, had "emasculated the delegation's legislative program."

"Despite all-out efforts," he added, "we have been unable to get through one major bill which would bring back to the county government any of the power taken away from it by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission and the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission because it would affect the power of E. Brooke Lee."

"We were elected in 1946 on a platform to bring local government functions back to Montgomery County," Lofstrand added.

Attempts to fulfill their pledge, he said, included an effort, opposed by Lee, to transfer major local government functions of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission to the county government. Lee is vice chairman of the commission.

Failures Listed

Other unsuccessful attempts, Lofstrand continued, were: A move to transfer appointive powers over the county school and liquor boards from the Governor to the county council; an attempt to remove mandatory requirements that the county council underwrite Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission bonds, and a move to bring about non-partisan elections for county offices in Montgomery.

The Prince Georges County delegation, solidly Democratic and pro-administration with two of its members holding the powerful majority floor leader posts in both the House and the Senate, was granted all of its legislative requests, Lofstrand pointed out.

Among bills signed by Governor Lane were the following concerning nearby areas:

H. B. 159—by Prince Georges delegation—redefining the limits of College Park, dividing it into five districts, and providing for five, instead of four, district councilmen.

H. B. 179—by Prince Georges delegation—allowing the Prince Georges County supervisors of elections to set extra registration places and dates as they deem necessary.

H. B. 220—by Prince Georges delegation—eliminating the provision for acceptance by the Prince Georges County treasurer of half-year installments in payment of taxes.

H. B. 222—by Prince Georges delegation—increasing from two to three the number of guards at the Prince Georges County jail.

H. B. 237—by Charles, St. Marys, Calvert, Prince Georges, Anne Arundel delegations—giving the State Tobacco Authority the right of subpena of any person necessary to a full consideration of any study or investigation it may undertake.

H. B. 270—by Prince Georges delegation—authorizing an increase in the maximum tax rate for maintenance of the Hyattsville Fire Department from 10 to 13 cents a $100 of assessable property.

H. B. 272—by Prince Georges delegation—repealing a Prince Georges County local law relating to public franchises in the city of Hyattsville.

H. B. 273—by Prince Georges delegation—increasing the quarterly license fee for trailers parked in trailer camps in Prince Georges County from $6 to $12.

H. B. 304—by Prince Georges delegation—adding certain election districts and fire companies to a Prince Georges County fire tax law.

H. B. 321—by Prince Georges delegation—authorizing a special Mount Rainier tax levy of 10 cents a $100 of assessable property for support of the city volunteer fire department.

H. B. 334—by Prince Georges delegation—to specify that the treasurer of Bladensburg shall be elected by the mayor and town council, instead of by the residents.

H. B. 351—by Prince Georges delegation—providing for a referendum on proposal to increase salary of mayor and councilmen of Mount Rainier.

H. B. 352—by Prince Georges delegation—empowering the mayor and council of Laurel to regulate streets, sidewalks, and public property for signs.

H. B. 353—by Prince Georges delegation—extending limits of Cottage City.

H. B. 646—by Prince Georges delegation—authorizing the Prince Georges County Circuit Court to appoint a second court stenographer; to raise the per diem pay of the post from $15 to $20.

Three Windows Will Be Dedicated

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me," is the theme of three double windows to be dedicated at the Church of the Epiphany, 1317 G st. nw., at 11 a. m. Sunday.

The windows were given by William C. Freeman in memory of his aunts, Miss Isabel Coleman Freeman and Mrs. Margaret Freeman C. Buckingham, for many years members of Epiphany Church. Miss Freeman and Mrs. Buckingham provided for erection of the Epiphany parish house and installation of the church organ and chimes.

Judith Coplon Trial Delayed Two Weeks as Russian Protests

New York, April 1 (AP).—The espionage trial of Valentin A. Gubitchev, Soviet engineer, and Judith Coplon, Justice Department employe, was put off two weeks today after the Russian asked an immediate trial.

The delay was asked by Archibald Palmer, Miss Coplon's attorney. He requested that the 27-year-old Barnard College honor graduate be tried first in Washington, D. C., where she also is indicted. Her trial there is set for April 25.

The engineer, a suspended United Nations employe, said "I don't see any reason why the trial should be postponed." . . . I insist the case should be tried today."

Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind said that if it looks on April 14 as though the proceedings "are not going forward expeditiously, this defendant has the right to trial or to be at large." Gubitchev now is held in $100,000 bail.

The Russian and Miss Coplon were arrested here March 4 by FBI agents. Miss Coplon is charged with removing vital Government papers from her department's files and atttempting to give them to Gubitchev. He is charged with seeking to gain possession of the information.

Irving H. Saypol, chief assistant United States attorney, said that in view of Palmer's attitude the Government would like to consider the Washington case first.

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

ORLANDO, FLA., APRIL 1.—Clyde Milan, who is the first base coach of the Washington ball club when he isn't telling lies about "my part of Texas," had himself a day today. It was an open date, and Milan had his audience of ball players enrapt with his tall tales of his Texas hunting grounds.

POVICH

"Down my way," commenced Milan, as all Texans do, "we have the most trouble with the city hunters who go down there expecting to knock over a buck deer every hour. The city hunters always wind up killing more of themselves than they do deer. Why, during the First World War, our town used to hang up the war and hunting casualty lists, side by side at the county building.

"Four of those city hunters came in one day, with the fanciest shooting-irons you ever did see. We had to tell 'em that since the season opened, trigger-happy city hunters had killed more hunters than deer, and they ought to be more careful.

"The four of 'em set up camp one morning, and one of the eager ones could hardly wait for daylight. He got about a half mile from camp, and thought he saw something moving and unloaded everything he had. Then he got conscious-stricken and beat it back to camp.

"THE FIRST PERSON he saw was the Mexican cook, and he asked for his pals. 'Where's Dick?' he asked. The cook told him Dick was just getting up. 'Where's Joe?' He learned Joe hadn't left camp yet, and was fooling around with the car engine. 'How about Jim?' The cook told him Jim was fetching water.

"Then goldarn it, I think I shot a deer," he says.

The hunting season opened on a cold day a few years ago, and the city folks came in prepared for it. "The last thing this party does before it takes off is to hang a laprobe over their car radiator to keep it from freezing up, and then they're off to get some of our Texas deer. Like it happens to even our Texas hunters, they get turned around sometimes and this fellow couldn't be blamed for what happened, I guess.

"Anyway, he thinks he's got a buck in his sights and fires four-five shots, and starts walking toward the carcass. Then he finds himself back in camp, and damned if he hasn't shot off the front of our car where that laprobe's been hanging."

"DOWN OUR WAY, it aint no sin to shoot a deer from a tree. You get up a tree and you've got all the best of it, because those deer can't see you and can't smell you, and you don't make any noise because you're motionless on the ground. If you raise a finger, you're apt to scare a deer away.

"One of these city hunters caught on and said he'd try shooting from a tree, and I guess he did, because they brought him in the next day, dead. One of his city friends shot him out of the tree, thought he was a turkey.

"Down our way, the natives felt pretty badly about that, and goldarned sore at the fellow who had shot his friend, I can tell you. He should have known the turkey season closed a month before."

Texans are proud of their bird dogs, too, "and we ain't never seen a bird dog from out of the State who could match the noses of our hounds. I had a dog that won all the prizes in the State, and he could smell out a bird while he was exhaling, not inhaling, mind you.

"A QUAIL COVEY raises up, and I know I brought one bird down, and my hound takes out to retrieve it. He runs up to a bluff bank, and there's a lake below. There's no sign of the bird, but my hound is still on point. Just than a bass raises up out of the lake and I shoot it.

"My hound jumps into that lake, and brings in that bass, and my friend kids me about that saying I got a fish-hound, not a bird hound. Anyway, I take the bass, and do you know that when I get home that night and cut the fish open, he's got my quail inside him. There never was a dog like that one.

"One day, we're hunting what we call new ground. Just been cleaned up with a lot of brushpiles laying around, and I take a look behind the pile and see old Sam, our colored man, taking a nap behind the brush. I wake him up, and ask him if there are any birds around, cause my hound had a point, and he says to me 'No suh, they ain't no birds around, but don't blame your hound. He had a good point, because I was laying here dreaming about quail:' "

'Overworked' Nats Call Off Two Exhibitions Next Week

By Shirley Povich
Post Reporter

Orlando, Fla., April 1.—At the insistence of Manager Joe Kuhel, who is alarmed at the prospect of taking a game-weary, sore-armed team of Nats into the season's start, the Washington club today called off two exhibition games.

To President Clark Griffith, Kuhel pointed out his lack of reserves nad an epidemic of injuries, among his pitchers, and succeeded in canceling Monday's game with Chattanooga and Thursday's game with Winter Garden.

"We're down to only six healthy pitchers," Kuhel declared. "We don't have so many to start with, and I'm not going to overwork the men who ought to be taking their regular turn when the season opens."

He could have mentioned also that Catcher Jake Early, who is supposed to share the regular catching with Al Evans, hasn't caught a game yet on account of a sore arm; and the fact, too, that his only utility man for first base, second and shortstop is Mark Christman, who also serves as a coach.

The list of pitching casualties includes Ed Klieman and Milo Candini, both suffering from wrenched knees that might keep them out of acting another week; Joe Haynes, who is slowly recovering from an arm operation and hasn't pitched a ball in an exhibition game; Rookie Dick Welteroth, who has a swollen pitching elbow; Rookies Mason Leeper and Bill Davis, out of action all spring with sore arms, and Forrest Thompson, who has a damaged pitching finger.

For the presence of Paul Calvert, signed as a free agent a month ago, Kuhel is grateful. "I thought he would be useful when we took him on. In our present condition, he is a godsend. Not only that but he has been getting everybody out with his sinker ball, and I'd like to have a couple more like him."

Kuhel has been forced to juggle his squad to prevent staleness in the exhibition games. Shortstop Sam Dente and Second Baseman Al Kozar, together with Al Evans, have played virtually every game. Only Eddie Robinson, at first base and Eddie Yost at third, have had

D. C. Amvets Eliminated

Washington's Post 4 was eliminated, 44-40, last night by New York in the semifinals of the annual Amvets teen-age basketball tournament at Fort Myer.

New Jersey gained the finals beside New York with an easy 51-34 victory over Cumberland, Md. The championship game is tonight at 8. The consolation between Washington and Cumberland takes place at 6:30.

New York trailed Washington from the first minute until midway in the last quarter, and then pulled in front to stay. Bill Claire paced the New Yorkers with 13 points. Bill Gaskins scored 14 for Washington.

Caps Promise More Light, Knicks Play Here Tonight

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

The New York Knickerbockers were made to see the light at the National Guard Armory yesterday and agreed to play their showdown basketball game with the Caps there tonight.

After previously refusing to play the rubber match of their three-game semifinal set in what they termed a "poorly lighted place," the New Yorkers acquiesced when Armory officials said they'd install brighter lights in the huge plant.

Twenty-eight powerful 1500-watt bulbs will replace the present 1000-watt lamps this morning. In the words of Armory Manager Dutch Bergman, "the court will be as brightly lighted as Broadway."

The whole rhubarb, which flared into the open after the Knicks upset the Caps, 86-84, in New York Thursday to even the series, was straightened out in a 5-minutes telephone call between Bergman and Maurice Podoloff, BAA president.

Podoloff, calling from New York, asked Bergman if brighter lights could be installed; Bergman said they could and would and so ended the feudin' and fussin' which almost led to fightin'.

Through their president, Ned Irish, who is also vice president of Madison Square Garden, the Knicks protested against returning to Washington for the third game. They made their beef to Paul Rothgeb, Caps' manager, in New York Thursday and Rothgeb and Irish became embroiled in a hot argument.

When Rothgeb asked Irish "who's running this league—you or Podoloff?" the latter stepped in, asserted his authority and said he'd decide in the morning where the game was to be played.

Podoloff made his decision after talking briefly with Bergman. Irish generously offered the use of the Garden court for tonight's game, but both Rothgeb and Cap Coach Red Auerbach turned the invitation down, and none too politely, either.

Auerbach thinks his club got the worst of it from the officials (Pat Kennedy and Johnny Nucatola) Thursday and said "I'll resign if the game is switched to New York."

Tickets Go On Sale

With the site of the playoff game settled for a second time—it was originally set two weeks ago when playoff dates were announced—tickets go on sale at Uline and at Fairway this morning.

Auerbach and his Caps were cocky and biligerent last night and vowed to thump the Knicks as badly as they could.

All of the Caps came through the overtime struggle in good physical shape—an oddity for the Caps these days—but the Knicks may have been hurt when Carl Braun, whose 30 points beat the Caps, twisted his ankle.

Braun finished out the game, but the word from New York last night was that it pained him and he may not be in tip-top shape for the climactic tussle.

C. U. Boxers Lose to Miami

Miami, Fla., April 1.—Catholic University's boxers dropped their first dual match of the season here tonight, bowing to Miami U., 5-3, before 3031 partisan fans.

The visitors, engaging in their last match of the year, went into the ring with a record of six victories and a draw with Maryland.

Tom Cronin, C. U. 125-pounder, started the Cardinals off on the right foot, as usual. However, only Joe Incarnato, 135, and Billy Maher, 165, could duplicate his victory.

In the last bout, C. U. Coach Eddie LaFond protested the knockout in 1.50 of the first of Heavyweight Charley Rohr by Art Saey. LaFond claimed that Saey, one-time national champ, struck low blows. Refree Eddie Coachman disallowed the claim.

125 POUNDS—Tom Cronin, Catholic, defeated Mickey Demos.
130 POUNDS—Saul Cantor, Miami, defeated Jack Reimond.
135 POUNDS—Joe Incarnato, Catholic, defeated Andy Spano.
145 POUNDS—Art Davis, Miami, won by default.
155 POUNDS—Jim Barnardo, Miami, won by technical knockout over Jim Morrison in 1:30 of second round.
165 POUNDS—Billy Maher, Catholic, defeated Hal Boylestom.
175 POUNDS—Carl Bernardo, Miami, defeated Cliff Sisler.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Art Saey, Miami, knocked out Charley Rohr in 1:50 of first round.

My Story . . . By Joe Louis

First Walcott Fight Was Bad

(Fourteenth of 15 Installments)

LOUIS AFTER HIS FIRST WALCOTT BOUT
The Winner and Still Champ Doesn't Look It

MARVA had a baby in Chicago on February 8, 1943. We called her Jacqueline. She's 5 now. She rates a high I. Q. She goes to special classes in a school in the University of Chicago. My other baby is Little Joe. He was born May 28, 1947. He looks like me and he's built like me only vest-pocket size. Marva says I spoil my kids. Maybe so. I like to play with them. I like to heft Little Joe. I call him "Punch." Marva and me have it fixed so the children won't have money worries.

Marva divorced me in March, 1945. She wanted me to give up fighting. She was tired of me being away so much at training camp and on long fighting tours. Partly it was because I didn't go for the social life in Chicago. I like to just have a few people around me, mostly Freddy Guinyard and Leonard Reed and Freddy Wilson. When Marva got the divorce we signed papers that gave her a one-fourth manager's contract along with Mr. Roxborough and Marshall Miles. Miles is an old friend of mine from Buffalo.

Marva and Miles came in as managers after Julian Black's contract with me ran out while I was in the Army. Marva's share was one fourth and Mr. Roxborough's one half—all out of the manager's end of my purses. Marva got her share instead of alimony and out of her end of the manager's money came the trust funds for Little Joe and Jacqueline. Those trust funds are registered officially in the First National Bank in Chicago.

Army life changed me. It took me away from Mr. Roxborough and Julian Black and Chappie. When I didn't have them around to think for me and tell we what to eat and when to go to bed, I had to figure things out myself I grew up in the Army. I met big people like Mr. Willkie and his generals, and nobody told me what to say. I just said what come to my mind.

WHEN I went to the big Navy Relief show in the Garden, Mike Jacobs' office wanted to write out a speech for me. I said no. I made my own speech. I told the crowd, "We can't lose this war because we're on God's side." That went over big. When I got back from overseas with my troupe, Army Public Relations told me how to answer questions, but I answered my own way.

The writers asked me, "Joe, do you think the next champ will come out of the armed forces?" and I told them, "Well, he won't be no 4F." Before I went in the Army I wouldn't try to talk on my own without Mr. Roxborough or Julian Black coached me.

I saw where there were lots of things wrong with lots of people in the Army. Lots of times it seemed to me they didn't know what they were fighting for. How they treated colored soldiers showed that up.

My second Conn fight was in New York in June, 1946, after we were out of the Army. It was a bad fight. Billy kept dancing and I waited for him to come to me. We got booed. In the eighth round I hit him hard on the head and in the belly. He tried to work into a clinch but I stepped to one side, put a hard right to his jaw, and he went down and was counted out. I weighed 206 for that fight and he weighed 182. I wasn't weak like in the first Conn fight.

MARVA and me had talked about retiring before I went in the Army. She said I had done a lot and I had made a good name. I was heavyweight champion longer than any other man and I had made a lot of friends. She said if I stayed in someone would tag me sooner or later and a lot that I built up would be lost. Even Mr. Roxborough told me that. He wanted me to retire with the title. So I only fought two times in 1946. After I beat Conn the second time I knocked out Tami Mauriello in one round in New York.

Lanier, Martin Lose Plea for Quick Action

New York, April 1 (AP).—Because of the uncertainty surrounding baseball's legal status, Federal Judge Edward A. Conger today refused to order the big leagues to take back Max Lanier and Fred Martin.

The two former Cardinal players are under a five-year ban for jumping to the Mexican League in 1946. They have damage suits for $2,500,000 pending.

to their request for an injunction to stop organized baseball from keeping them on the ineligible list, Judge Conger said "no" and explained it was because "the situation is so dubious in numerous respects and . . . the jurisdiction of the court to entertain the matter is unsettled."

His action, said Judge Conger, has no bearing on the merits of the damage suits by the two pitchers brought under the anti-trust laws.

Judge Conger pointed to the recent decision by the U. S. Court of Appeals in the suit brought by Danny Gardella, former New York Giant outfielder who awlso was banned for playing in Mexico. This said that a trial should be held to find out whether baseball is under the antitrust laws.

In the normal course of events, trial of the damage suits by Gardella, Lanier, and Martin will not come up before 1950.

Lanier and Martin argued, in asking for the injunction from Judge Conger, that if they were not allowed to play now in organized baseball their skills would lessen for lack of competition.

Strictly this does not appear to be so," said Judge Conger, but he conceded the circumstances made the case "somewhat unique" and that possibly the final conclusion to the case "will find them incapable of following their profession on its previously high standard."

The judge's decision on Gardella's plea for an injunction is scheduled for next Wednesday. Gardella's case differs in that he was not signed to a contract at the time he left for Mexico. Martin and Lanier both were under contract at the time they left the Cardinals.

Considers Reallocation of Dates Too

Marlboro Asks Permission To Conduct Meeting at Night

Bowie, Md., April 1.—Marlboro has applied to the Maryland Racing Commission for permission to conduct its meeting this summer at night, L. Ed O'Hara, general manager of Bowie and Marlboro revealed today.

O'Hara said he had written a letter to the commission requesting nocturnal racing at the half-mile track but that he had received no reply.

Will Graham, secretary for the commission, said that the pressure of work here has kept him away from his Baltimore office and he has not as yet seen O'Hara's letter.

O'Hara stated that if the legislature approves it, instead of the usual 10-day meeting for half-milers he will ask for a reallocation of dates, pointing out that Marlboro's dates are hemmed in between Timonium and Laurel.

He further stated that if the mile tracks get the extra 10 days he is prepared to add that period to the end of the Bowie session now scheduled to close on December 3. HAIGHT.

Reds Beat Tigers in 10th

Tampa, Fla., April 1 (AP). — The Cincinnati Reds ended a three-game spring training losing streak today with a 10-inning 3 to 2 verdict over the Detroit Tigers.

Hero of the game was Grady Hatton. His eighth hit in the last three games was a sizzling single through George Kell that scored Bobby Adams with the winning run in the last of the 10th. Adams had walked and moved to third on Johnny Wyrostek's single.

Phoenix, Ariz., April 1 (U.P.).—Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants denied tonight that a three-way player trade had been completed with the Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates involving Johnny Mize, Walker Cooper and Kirby Higbe.

It was reported that the Giants would send Mize to Brooklyn and Cooper and Outfielder Bobby Thomson to Pittsburgh. Among the players the Giants reportedly would get in exchange were Higbe and Catcher Clyde McCullough of the Pirates. Several other undisclosed Dodger players also were reported to be involved in the trade.

After 13 Years at W-L

Harry Deming Takes Over Coaching Job at Bullis Prep

Harry Deming yesterday was named athletic director and head football coach at Bullis Prep, one of the Naval Academy's chief sources of grid talent.

He takes over both jobs on June 15 when the summer term begins. His contract as football coach at Washington-Lee High of Arlington expires on June 1.

The athletic directorship at Bullis was vacated last fall by Charlie Guy, who resigned to join the coaching staff at the University of Virginia.

Deming replaces Jack Maddox as football coach. Maddox had served two years, and his teams won 14, lost two and tied one. Maddox's contract was not renewed because he did not want to teach classes at the Silver Spring school.

A holder of a master's degree in biological sciences, Deming will teach mathematics and science.

The gigantic 250-pound Deming has a rich football background. He starred on George Washington U.'s 1933-35 football teams as a place-kicking tackle. He made the Associated Press' 3d team All-America in 1934 and captained the Colonials in '35.

He joined the W-L High coaching staff in 1937 and became head football and track coach in 1942. His football teams won 58, lost 19 and tied two. His track teams lost only three dual and triangular meets in six years.

Deming's successor at W-L has not been named, but Ken Batson, former GWU halfback, has the inside track. Batson has served under Deming for the past two seasons. —HERB HEFT.

Kid Gavilan Wins Non-Title Bout From Ike

New York, April 1 (AP).—Kid Gavilan, a 146-pound bundle of fighting fury, wore down Lightweight Champion Ike Williams in the last two rounds tonight to win a unanimous upset 10-round non-title victory in Madison Square Garden. Williams weighed 136½.

The two judges, Frank Forbes and Arthur Susskind, each scored it 6-3-1. Referee Frank Fullam gave it to the Cuban, 7-3.

A blistering surge in the last two rounds carried the flashy Gavilan, a 5-to-9 underdog, to victory in this rubber bout between the top challengers for Ray Robinson's welterweight crown.

It was the third battle between two crack fighters and a capacity crowd of 18,201 paid $95,865.

Williams won the first fight in February, 1948, and Gavilan the return last January.

The 9 1-2-pound bulge probably proved Williams' undoing as much as Gavilan's flashing left hooks and "bolo" rights.

Gavilan bled slightly from a cut in the corner of his right eye. That was the main damage. There were no knockdowns.

Decision Comes After Lane Scraps His Program

By Jack Walsh
Post Reporter

Stung by the sudden rejection of the Maryland Racing Commission's over-all program by Governor Lane and the Legislature, Chairman Stuart S. Janney, jr., quit yesterday.

His resignation, effective immediately, culminated a series of startling events in the past 24 hours at the Annapolis State House that created more excitement than a $2000 daily double.

With the support of Governor Lane, Janney's three-man racing body originally recommended the transfer of historic Pimlico to Laurel. Included in the proposed move were Pimlico's 25 racing days and $700,000 track improvement fund.

House Finally Tables Separate Harness Body

Annapolis, Md., April 1 (AP).—An in-and-out plan for a separate Maryland harness racing commission came to life again today, then was scratched in a House committee.

The Judiciary Committee gave the harness bill tentative approval early in the afternoon, but took it up again later and decided to lay it on the table.

That means the proposal by Delegate McNulty (D., Anne Arundel) to separate control of flat and harness racing apparently is dead for the session.

Bowie Fought Janney

Late Thursday, the Governor completely reversed his position and supported a bill to prohibit the transfer and also grant 10 extra days of racing to both Laurel and Bowie. Officials at the latter track led the fight against the Pimlico shift.

The Senate, which first had voted for the transfer, then followed Lane by a 23-4 vote. In the House, it was more overwhelming, 121 to 2.

Yesterday, Governor Lane had another change of heart on a racing bill. After opposing a measure setting up a separate commission for harness racing, he indicated that he was in favor of two regulatory bodies.

That reversal was the last straw for Janney. Later, however, the judiciary committee finally decided to table the measure for this session.

In his letter to Governor Lane, Janney wrote that he does not agree with "the program of increased racing which you have substituted for the recommendations of the Racing Commission without consultation with it."

Janney was so out of touch with rapid-fire developments that a Washington Post reporter first broke the news to him that the Pimlico transfer had been turned down.

He also said yesterday that he had planned to resign his six-year term anyway to devote full time to his law practice.

Janney Appointed by Lane

Janney was appointed to his post by Governor Lane July 1, 1947. He succeeded George P. Mahoney, stormy figure opposed by horsemen and track owners, who was ousted in April, 1947.

Janney, 42-year-old Reisterstown, Md., socialite, had a brilliant reputation as a gentleman rider. He retired the Maryland Hunt Cup Trophy and was known in hunting and steeplechase circles through-

Ben Hogan Gets Smooth Ride Home

Fort Worth, April 1 (AP).—A smiling Ben Hogan—frail and tired—came back home to Fort Worth today.

Convalescing from a near-fatal automobile accident, the champion golfer arrived by train from El Paso in the late afternoon and went by ambulance to his luxurious home in Westover Hills.

"It's great to be back," Hogan said. "It's really great." Hogan left an El Paso hospital last night and boarded a train for home.

"It was a smooth trip," Ben said cheerfully.

And a reporter said: "The engineer knew Ben was aboard and really took pains to go easy. Some of the railroad men said that was the sofest trip the Texas Eagle ever made."

Veeck Is Forgiving

Cleveland, April 1 (U.P.).—Eight youths arrested as vandals for $1000 damages inflicted on League Park, former home of the Cleveland Indians, today were made ushers at Municipal Stadium, where the Indians now play.

Their benefactor was Indian President Bill Veeck. He said he would pay the damage bill himself and then give the boys a chance to make good by working their way through all Cleveland games this season.

Rowe Victor Will Race Lord Grillo

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

Bowie, Md., April 1.—C. C. Tanner's Nearway, winner of the Rowe Memorial Handicap opening day, meets nine rivals in the $10,000 added Bowie Handicap featuring the weekend program here. The test is at a mile and 70 yards.

Although Nearway is undefeated in 1949, boasting three straight victories, he may not be favored in the Bowie. There is question if the 4-year-old colt by Ladysman can run over a distance. To date he has not traveled more than 6 furlongs.

A likely choice of the expected large turnout will be the Gustav Ring entry of Lord Grillo and Prefect. The Washington-owned Lord Grillo finished second to Three Rings in his last start at Gulfstream Park in the Horning 'Cap. Logan Batcheller is slated to ride Lord Grillo.

There is plenty of opposition, however, to make the battle interesting. Big Dial, in with 114 pounds and owned by George M. Jacobson of Washington, is capable of upsetting the entry, especially if the track is muddy.

Alfred Vanderbilt's silks will make their first stakes appearance of the season aboard Halconero, a long-distance running Argentine-bred who has been campaigning at Santa Anita. Halconero will carry 110 pounds, which will include Jockey Henri Mora.

Two other contenders are Cat Bridge, owned by G. R. Walkins, and Flag Drill, beaten off in the Rowe, but the winner from flag fall to wire in the same race last year at this track. Frank Zehr will handle Flag Drill and the veteran Ira Hanford, Cat Bridge.

The best offering on today's card was the Columbia, a battle of 6 furlongs involving $8,000 to $10,000 claimers.

Mrs. L. G. Bedwell's Chuckalot, making his first start of the season, came through the stretch under a hard drive to win by a length margin from Mrs. Edward Trunnell's Ike Junior with Rarco Stable's I'll Be third in the field of nine.

Chuckalot, second in fair company here last November, was well handled by Apprentice Willie Downs of Curtis Bay, Md., and a Charles Town graduate. The winner paid $11.40 after First Citizen was made the favorite by the crowd of 9500. The running time was 1:13, creditable over a track that was somewhere between muddy and sloppy.

Central, Coolidge Athletes Match Sports Knowledge

The Central High "C" Club matches its sports knowledge against the Coolidge athletic monogram club this morning over a national radio hookup.

Red Barber, who broadcasts Brooklyn's baseball games, will umpire the question-bee which he calls "Quiz Ball" over WTOP, locally, at 10:30.

Special guest will be George McQuinn, the former Yankees, Browns and Athletics first baseman, who lives across the river in Arlington.

Barber has been conducting the kids quiz from all parts of the country since last May. It's his part in Attorney General Tom Clark's campaign to stimulate the interest of America's youth in wholesome recreation.

out the East. He also was a director of the Maryland Breeders Association.

During World War II, he served in the Marine Corps, directing air support for ground troops at Tarawa, Saipan and Tinian. He was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds suffered at Saipan.

He was graduated from Princeton and Harvard Law School, being admitted to the bar in 1932.

Janney's resignation was accepted promptly by Governor Lane, who said, "I understand his viewpoint. I appreciate his service to the State and I have accepted his resignation with regret."

Horsemen at Bowie, only track operating now in the Free State, were divided in their feelings over Janney's resignation.

John Manfuso, of Chevy Chase, vice president of the Maryland division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, said, "Mr. Janney was a good commissioner. He has been straightforward in his dealings with our organization and I'm sorry he has seen fit to resign."

L. Ed O'Hara, Bowie's general manager, said, "I have no comment. In fact, we have not been informed of Mr. Janney's resignation. However, he smiled when he said that.

Mentioned as possible successors were Carle Jackson, son of Howard W. Jackson, former mayor of Baltimore, and Brooke Johns.

Johns, former president of Montgomery County's board of commissioners, said at his Norbeck, Md., farm that he hadn't been approached officially.

Johns, 55-year-old racing enthsiast for more than 30 years, added, "I feel honored that my name has been mentioned. Frankly, I would like very much to have the post."

At present Johns is conducting a two-hour radio show each morning over WBCC.

Frank Small, jr., Washington auto dealer who has been a member of the Maryland Racing Commission under six chairmen, said yesterday he had no intention of resigning.

'If the Legislature decides there should be more racing it is our job to try to operate according to the dictates of the law. We have no prerogatives in the matter," Small said.

The other member, H. Courtenay Jenifer, indicated that he would not resign but refused to comment specifically on his future plans. He said Janney's resignation is "a great loss to racing in Maryland."

Louis Calls First Walcott Fight Bad

I bowled some. I've bowled high as 272, but I average around 165 now. Mostly, though, I put more time in at golf than at anything else. Now I play 36 holes almost every day. Marva don't like that. I spend a lot of money on golf too. If I feel like it I load a couple of cars full of friends and, with our own caddies, we'll go a couple of hundred miles, or a thousand, to play in a match. I shot around 120 when I first played in 1936. Now I get around in 72 sometimes but mostly in 75 or 76, I really love golf. I got my own clubs made special for my size. I love to sock the ball and my putting's getting better. Since I went in for golf a lot of Negro golfers have come along. The same with horses and horse shows. Since I took it up at Springhill Farm a lot of other Negroes who love horses are getting up shows and riding.

I GOT to admit now, training came harder once I got out of the Army. It wasn't like when I was a kid and training came easy. I loved training then. I liked to get up at 5 in the morning and run down a road all by myself, with Chappie rolling behind me in a car. I liked the workouts and I liked the fun around camp. When I got in training for Jersey Joe Walcott in December, 1947, it was my first fight in more than a year. The Mauriello fight was in September, 1946.

I think I would have quit fighting if I had knocked Walcott out in an early round in our first fight. I knew training and fighting was coming harder and I better not keep at it. But that first Walcott fight was such a bad fight I felt I had to do it over. I made the same mistake in the first Walcott fight that I made in my first Conn fight. I was older and my natural weight was more than when I first won the title in 1937, but I aimed at getting down to 214 for Walcott. When Eddie Eagan weighed me in on December 5 for the Walcott fight I told him to put the scale up around 214—a half-pound one way or the other. He had to keep sliding it down till it showed 211.

I had started drying out too soon for that fight. I went off water on Wednesday and I didn't eat hardly at all until after the fight and the fight was on a Friday.

I DON'T like to remember that fight. Walcott knocked me down twice in the first and in the fourth, and he closed my left eye. I didn't have the strength. I didn't have a punch that night. I was ashamed.

When it was over I told Walcott, "I'm sorry, Joe." I meant I was sorry it was such a bad fight. I wanted to get out of the ring the minute I heard the last bell. I didn't want to wait for the judges' decision. I got $217,000 for that fight, counting movie and radio money, but I never felt so low after a fight. I sat in my Harlem apartment and wondered why I fought so bad. It was worse because the crowd booed when I got the decision.

I knew I had to fight Walcott again. I didn't want to retire with that for my last showing.

replacements. In Yost's case, Kuhel has been impressing Outfielder Jay Difani into service as a third baseman.

There's a growing boom in the Washington camp for Clyde Vollmer, the lusty-swatting outfield reserve, and Kuhel envisions considerable duty for Vollmer, especially against left-handed pitching.

"I can understand, now, how Vollmer hit those 32 home runs in the International League," said Kuhel. "Nobody on our club ties into a pitch as viciously. He raps a ball through the infield harder than anybody in the league except Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams."

The Philadelphia Athletics were arrivals tonight for games at Tinker Field tomorow and Sunday . . . on Sunday, Clark Griffith and Connie Mack will be honored by the Orlando Chamber of Commerce in home plate ceremonies, with Commissioner Chandler as an honored guest . . . Sid Hudson created some alarm among the Nat bosses when he reported his arm stiffened up in the late innings at Tampa yesterday. He will be used more sparingly . . . Walter Masterson is encouraged by the fact that in batting practice today he broke off some fast curve balls without feeling pain . . . after tinkering with the Nats' batting order, Kuhel has now labeled Sam Dente a fixture as a second-place hitter, and will leave Ed Stewart in fourth place unless Eddie Robinson's bat suddenly gets hot. Robinson is now batting sixth, and may be moved to fifth.

Bowling Match

An all-star team from the District's United States Coast Guard headquarters will compete in an outstanding bowling match with a picked Coast Guard team from Curtiss Bay, Md., tonight at 7:30 at Kalorama Alleys.

Macauley, Groza Meet In Star Game

At Garden Tonight

New York, April 1 (U.P.).—The long-awaited man-to-man duel between Kentucky's Alex Groza and St. Louis' Ed Macauley provided key interest tonight in the fourth annual College All-Star game scheduled tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

Groza and Macauley matched basketball prowess in December when their two teams met in the finals of the Sugar Bowl Tournament, and they seemed tabbed for a rematch in the National Invitation final here last month. However, both Kentucky and St. Louis were upset in the quarter-finals of the Invitation.

St. Louis—and Macauley—won the first chapter of the duel of timber-topping centers at New Orleans. Now Groza, in his last collegiate game, gets a chance at revenge.

The all-star game, sponsored by the New York Herald Tribune for the benefit of its fresh-air fund, contains the best array of talent in its history. Adolph Rupp of Kentucky is coaching the Eastern All-Stars and Vadal Peterson of Utah the West.

Ralph Beard, Wah-Wah Jones and Cliff Barker of Kentucky's NCAA champions join Groza on the East squad tomorrow night, as does Pretty-Boy Tony Lavelli of Yale, the Nation's leading individual scorer.

Beside Macauley, the West has Vern Gardner of Utah, Slater Martin of Texas and Paul Courty of Oklahoma topping its lineup.

With the four Kentuckians as the backbone of its attack, the East ruled favorite in the game. Not only do the Wildcats give their club top-flight playing ability, but as a unit they provide a greatest basis for organized team play.

NBA Meets Here Today

The executive committee of the National Boxing Association meets at the Mayflower today and tomorrow, and among the topics to be discussed is proposed adoption of collegiate headgear for professional boxers.

Young Billy Cornwell's death as the result of ring injuries the other day in San Jose, Calif., projected the subject to headgears toward the top of the agenda.

Also under discussion will be:

1. The Joe Louis-promoted Ezzard-Charles-Joe Walcott heavyweight title bout in Chicago June 22, which the NBA has sanctioned.

2. Approval of Washington State's application for membership.

3. Enforcement of title defenses against leading challengers at least every six months.

4. Opening of memberships to individual promoters and managers, as well as to State delegations.

Sessions will be held at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. today and tomorrow. President Flamen B. Adas of Miami Beach will be in the chair, and Abe J. Green, commissioner, from New Jersey, also will be present.

Hoya Netmen Lose to Colgate

Colgate's tennis team yesterday scored a 6½-2½ victory over Georgetown University on the losers' court. The Hoyas, who opened their tennis season earlier this week, have played two other matches and lost both.

The best game of the day was played between Frank Kentwell of Georgetown and Frank Warren of Colgate. Kentwell lost the first set, 7—5, but rallied in the next two and won the match, 6—3, 6—3, remaining undefeated this season and breaking Warren's undefeated record.

U. S. Trial Examiners Split on Way to Fight New Civil Service Test

The Federal Trial Examiners' Conference is split down the middle on how to fight the recent Civil Service test for its members. The uproar has caused one official and several members to threaten to resign from the conference.

At a stormy meeting Thursday night, the conference repeatedly criticized the Civil Service Commission and its conduct of the competitive tests for its members. These were among the resolutions adopted after hot verbal battles:

That the Civil Service Commission has no authority to fire any examiner unless full and detailed charges are made against him and proved;

That the commission should allow the examiners whom it ordered to be fired to face and cross-examine those who called them incompetent, and,

Opposition to the proposal that an official assembly of examiners be created to meet annually to exchange views on how to improve the work of the examiners.

The examiners who were rated ineligible have been given one break by Civil Service. They were told that those who appealed their ratings may remain in their jobs until their cases are decided.

At the same time, the commission officially denied reports that it would consider the rating as "advisory" only, and that the qualifications of the examiners would be reappraised. The commission stated flatly that no such suggestion had or would be considered.

Thirty per cent of the examiners with classified Civil Service status were rated ineligible under the new test, many with 10 and 20 years of service. It's one of the few occasions in Civil Service history when career employes were forced to be reexamined for jobs they had held for years. Congress ordered the new tests when the Administrative Practices Act became law.

The examinations, conducted without pay by a panel of well-known attorneys, have led to many and conflicting charges. At the National Labor Relations Board, for example, it's claimed that the New Dealers and liberals were rated ineligible, but in several other agencies it's charged that the conservatives were ordered ousted. The Civil Service Commission would be pleased if the extremists on both sides were fired.

Meantime, the NLRB protested to Civil Service that its hearing staff is seriously weakened by the threat of dismissal of 15 trial examiners. It asked the commission to reconsider its action. The NLRB letter said in part:

"The action has eviscerated the hearing examining staff at a time when its case load is singularly great. Fourteen out of 28 members of the agency's old and experienced staff, including both status and war service incumbents, have been rejected.

"The board will be unable to pursue its regular operations without the services of these trained men, many of whom have been with the board for over a decade."

A Civil Service official commented that most agencies had an even higher percentage of examiners rated ineligible.

Taft Favors 2-Member Expansion of D. C. Council

Senator Appeals For Strengthened Credit Provision In Home Rule Bill

The Washington home rule bill probably will be revised to include two additional city council members, appointed by the President, and strengthened city borrowing provisions.

The changes were suggested yesterday by Senator Taft (R., Ohio) in a surprise appearance before the Senate Home Rule Subcommittee. The committee held a day-long session rewriting the measure for full District Committee action next week.

The self-rule bill also is slated to carry a policy statement, at least, guaranteeing a future Federal payment to the city.

Kefauver Welcomes Changes

Senator Kefauver (D., Tenn.), chairman of the Home Rule Subcommittee, told reporters that many of Taft's "welcomed" proposals would be written into the bill.

The Senate Republican Policy chairman suggested that the proposed nine-member city council be raised to 11 members with the extra two councilmen named by the President "to further protect the Federal interests in the Capital." The idea has been considered in earlier home rule bills, but rejected as an impairment of the self-rule principle.

Taft held that two presidentially appointed councilmen would provide a voice for the minority "should a machine slate win an election as often happens, and would serve as a downtow watchdog over what the council is doing."

Urges Borrowing Safeguards

The Ohio Senator also urged incorporating several city borrowing safeguards of the original Auchincloss bill, most of which were dropped by the Kefauver group in efforts to shorten this year's measure.

They would require: (1) Amortization of bonds specifically within the useful life of permanent improvements, (2) definite provisions for paying off city debts, (3) mention of new taxes that must be levied on each referendum ballot seeking resident approval of bond issues, and (4) spelling out of methods for selling all bond issues.

Taft emphasized that he went before the Kefauver group yesterday "simply because of my real interest in seeing action on District home rule. I want a sound bill. I don't want home rule to deteriorate once it has been voted in."

Asked how the bill would fare on the Senate floor, Taft said: "I do not think it will have any trouble of we can get it up for consideration. That's the difficulty with all District legislation and why we need home rule here. Presure of national legislation so often seems to crowd local matters off the calendar."

Child Day Care Appropriation Cut To $50,000 in Bill

A revised child day care center bill, sharply cutting current appropriations, was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Thomas G. Abernethy (D., Miss.).

The measure would extend the care centers for children of working mothers here to June, 1950. It will be considered by the House District Committee at its Monday meeting.

Instead of authorizing $150,000 as done last year, the new bill authorizes only $50,000. It would set up a revolving fund into which money collected from parents could be deposited. This fund in turn could be used for meeting operating expenses of the centers.

The Board of Public Welfare would be permitted under the Abernethy bill to charge parents fees "as near as practicable" to cover the child's care. Parents unable to pay would be exempt.

Marine Comes to Mike's Aid . . .

The Washington Post

VOLUNTEERS FOR SKIN GRAFT—Four-year-old Michael Rector meets the Marine who has been chosen from volunteers to give him skin for a sixth grafting. He is Pfc. Michael has been fighting for his life since November 12, when he was brought into Casualty Hospital with some 70 per cent of his body burned, and on the verge of death

Beverley Hits 'Purge' Group In Alexandria

An Alexandria veterans' committee, campaigning against reelection of four city councilmen, was accused yesterday of "masquerading in an effort to enlist the support of former servicemen who don't know the facts.'

Marshall J. Beverley, one of the four whose defeat is sought by the Veterans Committee for Better Government, charged the committee was a "minority group" which had set itself up as a veterans' organization to mislead voters into believing it was supported by "official and established" veterans groups in the community.

Beverley, a Navy lieutenant-commander in World War II, said the committee had less than 30 members, "even though its name might imply it is a city-wide veterans organization."

"As a veteran and member of both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, I know this group is not connected with nor indorsed by any of the official and established veterans organizations in the city," Beverley declared. "It is a minority group, acting as a pawn for a few politicians who are trying to use the term 'veteran' to serve their own selfish purposes."

Action of the veterans' group in calling for defeat of the four councilmen who voted recently for the dismissal of City Manager Nicholas A. Colasanto brought another statement from Mayor William T. Wilkins, who also was named on the "purge list.'

Wilkins said his statement was designed to clarify the "secret meetings" of council, which were mentioned by the veterans' committee as one of its reasons for opposing the four councilmen. He admitted the council met in closed session on three occasions, but said two of the meetings were kept secret "in an effort to spare Mr. Colasanto embarrassment."

At these meetings, Wilkins said, a majority of council members agreed to ask for Colasanto's resignation. The action was not disclosed publicly, he said, because the councilmen felt Colasanto should not be publicly embarrassed by a display of lack of confidence by council members, and that he should be given a chance to resign "in a reasonable time and in a manner that would not be embarrassing to him."

The third "secret meeting" was held December 22, Wilkins said, when the council entertained at the George Mason Hotel for a member of the International City Managers Associations who had come to confer with the council in an advisory capacity.

Other councilmen whose defeat is sought by the veterans committee are Albert A. Smoot and R. Samuel Luckett.

Marine Picked For Skin Gift To Rector Boy

Another marine yesterday answered the call for volunteers, and was chosen to give generously of his skin to help little Michael Rector.

He is Pfc. John L. Finger, 22, rangy 6-footer of Lancaster, Pa., who has been stationed in this area for the past 18 months. The donor, a member of Company A, Headquarters Battalion, in Arlington, Va., simply said "the kid needs help" when asked why he volunteered.

Finger was selected when he appeared personally at Casualty Hospital to back up his written offer after news stories mentioned that Michael would soon need more skin grafts. He was accompanied by another marine, Master Sergt. Charles D. Prindle.

Sergeant Prindle, on public information detail with the corps, was so impressed by his short visit with the 4-year-old patient that he volunteered to do "the next best thing" by donating a pint of his blood to the District Blood Bank of the American Red Cross.

Michael has long been sustained on blood drawn from that bank. He has been fighting the effects of severe burns to some 70 per cent of his body since last November 12.

Already, Michael has undergone skin graft operations in which skin was donated by his father, a neighbor, a beer salesman, an aviation machinist's mate and another marine, Sergt John T. Rapp, 26, of the Anacostia Naval Air Station.

The hospital surgeon said yesterday that still another donor may be selected before the scheduled skin-grafting operation, set for Monday morning. Some 15 persons, he said, have written in to volunteer.

2 Marines Donate Blood to Red Cross Through Mistake

Two marines from the Naval Gun Factory ended up with a pint less blood each yesterday, when they wandered by mistake into the Red Cross Blood Donors' Center.

The pair, Pfc. Edwin Ireland, 20, and Sergt. Don R. Merck, arrived at the Red Cross building with some contributions toward the Red Cross drive. Misunderstanding directions to the treasurer's office, they ended up in the blood donors' center.

One of the women there, thinking they were part of a group of marines scheduled to donate blood for a sick marine, started them through the tests. It was not until their fingers had been pricked to determine blood type, that they realized they were in the wrong room. Having gone that far, they decided to donate a pint of blood each.

Bartender Held For Arson in Tavern Blaze

John Placos, 28-year-old Frederick, Md., bartender, was charged with arson by Prince Georges County police yesterday after confessing, they said, to setting fire to a tavern in Silver Hill.

Detective Wilson J. Purdy said Placos admtted splashing gasoline on the southwest corner of the frame structure and igniting it, about 5 a. m. yesterday. The blaze was put out by four fire departments, which held damage to about $100.

Placos told Purdy he had been drinking but could give no reason for starting the fire at the Poplar Springs Gardens tavern. Police obtained a description at a gas station where he bought fuel in a five-gallon can. He was held in $2500 bond. A hearing has not been scheduled.

First Degree Verdict Given In Slaying

Monroe Johnson, 37, was convicted yesterday in District Court of first-degree murder for slashing the throat of the woman with whom he was living.

The jury deliberated less than two hours before returning the verdict which carries a mandatory death penalty. The judge was James W. Morris.

Johnson was charged with premeditated killing of Elizabeth Steel alias Elizabeth Johnson. They lived at 1606 New Jersey ave. nw.

She was found dead in their basement apartment January 9. Two long slashes with a 3-inch pocket knife blade had severed vital blood vessels, according to police.

Johnson pleaded self-defense. He said the woman had been attempting to strike him with a broken bottle after she had been out drinking.

2 Held After Inquests Into Two Deaths

Two persons were ordered held for action of the grand jury yesterday following inquests into two recent deaths in the District.

They are Joseph Suber, 54, of 424 8th st. sw., and Elwood T. Hughes, 23, Howard University student, 57 R st. nw.

Suber was held in connection with the death of John Madden, 37, of 613 6th st. nw. Madden died at Gallinger Hospital March 30, a few hours after being admitted in an unconscious condition.

Police said investigation disclosed Suber and Madden had become involved in a fight over a drink of wine on March 28 at 52 K st. se.

Hughes was held in the death of Mrs. Edna Crump, 26, of 2355 Sherman ave. nw. Her nude body was found early Sunday in an alley in the 600 block of Columbia rd. nw. She had been beaten and strangled.

Police said Hughes was arrested after witnesses related he had been seen in the woman's company. When arrested, police said, Hughes had blood on his hands. Later, they said, they found a wrist watch belonging to the dead woman in Hughes' room.

Hughes told police he had "blacked out" and did not remember what had happened.

Laundress Held On Charge Of Scalding Patron

A 36-year-old laundress yesterday was ordered held for grand jury action on a charge she scalded a customer with boiling water because he owed her money.

She is Willie May Thomas of 72 G st. sw., who was ordered held under $1000 bond on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon by Municipal Court Judge Armond W. Scott.

Victim of the assault, David M. Hawkins, 51, of 51 H st. sw., testified that he was scalded when he went to get his laundry at Mrs. Thomas' home Thursday.

They argued about a bill he owed her for earlier laundry, and she suddenly flung a teakettle full of boiling water at him, he said. He is being treated at Providence Hospital for third-degree burns to the left side of his face and back of his head, police said.

Shoplifting Denied

New York, April 1 (AP).—Margaret Bonaparte, 38, pleaded not guilty today to charges that she walked out of Macy's department store with two stolen women's suits hidden in her specially - constructed bloomers.

Area Student At Williams Dies in Crash

R. W. Johnston, 21, Senior, Was Varsity Player in Three Sports at College

Robert W. Johnston, 21, Williams College senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth K. Johnston of 6513 Fairfax rd., Bethesda, died yesterday after an auto crash at Williamstown, Mass.

A varsity athlete on the soccer, basketball teams, Johnston died in the college infirmary two hours after the accident at about 1:30 a. m. A companion, Donald Wyman, 19, of Winchester, Mass., driver of the car, according to police, was reported in serious condition.

Johnston

A native of Washington, Johnston attended Chevy Chase elementary school, then moved to Forest Hills, N. Y., with his family about seven years ago. His parents moved back to Bethesda in October, 1948. His father is a court reporter.

A member of the New York State Guard's 7th Regiment in 1944-45, Johnston held the silver cup awarded to the regiment's best athlete for that year, his family said.

Johnston was majoring in political economy and had applied for postgraduate admission to the Wharton School of Finance, University of Pennsylvania, after graduation this June. He was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, Jerome and Kenneth, of Washington. Funeral services have not yet been arranged.

In a District traffic accident, a streetcar was jarred 10 feet from its tracks in a collision with a bus shortly after 10 p. m. last night at 4th st. and Florida ave. nw., but only one person was slightly injured.

Walter McArthur of 200 R st. nw., suffered a knee injury when a Capital Transit streetcar driven by Thomas R. McMahan of 226 Upshur st. nw., collided with a Capital Transit bus driven by Nathan Modlin, 32, of 2814 43d st. sw.

Modlin, who had turned his bus into Florida avenue from 4th street, said he saw nothing until the collision. McMahan denied seeing the bus until the accident occurred.

Both men were charged with failing to give full time and attention to their driving.

Officer's Phone Trick Brings Hit-Run Arrest

A taxicab driver sought by the Accident Investigation Unit for questioning in connection with a hit-run accident April Fooled himself yesterday into the hands of police.

Pvt. Remy G. Ducote, investigating the sideswiping of two parked cars in front of 2010 E st. ne., Tuesday night, telephoned John L. Reeder of 4425 Deane ave. ne., a Dixie Cab driver.

When Reeder mistook him for a friend, Ducote kidded him along, got Reeder's admission, he said, that he hit the cars, and jollied him into driving his cab to a rendezvous. When Reeder showed up, Ducote impounded his taxicab.

"He sure was surprised," Ducote said.

Reeder is to appear for a hearing in the corporation counsel's office at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Senate Unit Backs White House Repair Board Bill

A bill to establish a commission to supervise renovation of the White House yesterday was quickly approved by the Senate Public Works Committee.

A similar measure was voted out of the House Public Works Committee Thursday.

The commission, requested by President Truman, would supervise the planning and contracting of the White House face-lifting job and make certain that all historically important items are preserved.

Owners Approve Proposed Rules For Parking Lots

Complaints Made, However, on One For Depository for Keys After Hours

District parking lot operators generally approved proposed regulations covering operations of such facilities at a hearing in the District Building yesterday.

One exception, however, was a proposal requiring operators to leave motorists' keys at a stated place after the lot is closed at night.

Arthur G. Dezendorf, owner of several parking lots, pointed out that after midnight, 30 per cent of the persons calling for their vehicles are drunk and "it's a good thing they can't find their keys."

He said that often when keys have been left at nearby restaurants or other all-night establishments, fights have ensued when an attempt is made to collect the parking fee before turning over the keys.

Other operators joined in this complaint, declaring that they have rarely been able to collect parking fees and that in some cases persons have attempted to claim cars without being able to produce a parking lot ticket.

One downtown lot proprietor smilingly suggested that keys be left at the nearest police station but Inspector Arthur E. Miller, head of the Police Traffic Division, quickly objected to the proposal.

The regulations, which would become effective October 31, would require attendants to obtain annual licenses and wear an indentification badge; require operators to notify police of all autos left more than 48 hours; require signs on lots showing rates and hours of operation, and require issuance of claim checks showing name and address of the lot, operating hours and where keys could be found after closing hours.

The Commissioners took the matter under advisement after the three-hour hearing.

Commissioners Amend No-Parking Sign Rules

The District Commissioners whose subordinates have been erecting emergency no-parking signs around town for many years on questionable legal authority have remedied the situation.

Yesterday the city fathers amended the District Traffic and Motor Vehicle Regulations so that henceforth signs may be legally erected prohibiting parking during snow removal operations, parades, funerals, street construction and special commercial deliveries such as moving vans and cranes.

The amendments also authorized Traffic Director George E. Keneipp to employ the services of Police, Sanitary Engineering and Highway Department personnel to erect signs, ropes, cables or other barricades when required for the listed purposes.

The action by the Commissioners followed a legal opinion by Corporation Counsel Vernon E. West that additional authority was essential for continued placement of emergency "no parking" markers. Traffic Director Keneipp originally posed the question after some students of the law questioned the adequacy of existing authority.

Old License Tags Trip Many Autoists

Police cracked down yesterday on car owners who were without their new District tags.

How many car owners got tickets or had their cars ticketed won't be known for a day or so, but 26 were taken to precinct stations.

These 26 had to post $25 collateral and buy new tags before they could drive away in their cars. Of the 26 arrests, eight were made by the traffic division and six by the Eighth Precinct.

Inspector Arthur E. Miller, head of the traffic division, said it was apparent the 26 arrests would be only a fraction of the total violations.

Accused Man's Body Pulled Out of Canal

The body of a 52-year-old Herndon (Va.) man, reported missing while awaiting trial in Fairfax police court on a reckless driving charge, was recovered yesterday from the C. & O. canal in Georgetown.

The victim, Memory Jefferson Irwin, had been sought since March 22, when his coat and wallet were found lying on a bank alongside the canal opposite the 4500 block of Canal rd. nw. The discovery was made about 24 hours before he was slated to appear in the Fairfax court to answer charges arising from a minor traffic accident on March 20.

Fairfax police reported Irwin posted $105 collateral the day of the accident. The case was continued when he failed to appear for trial, since the discovery of his coat and wallet had already been reported to Fairfax police.

Irwin's body was found floating in the canal yesterday by a small boy who notified a workman nearby. Harbor police, called by the workman, pulled his body from the canal opposite the Whitehurst Freeway Bridge.

The body was identified by the dead man's niece, Lieut. Ruby Poss, of the Army Nurse Corps, who was summoned by homicide squad detectives after they noticed the pants worn by the victim corresponded to the coat found on the canal bank March 22. Irwin's wife could not be reached at her Herndon home, and was reportedly away on a visit.

Dr. A. Magruder McDonald, District coroner, said he was withholding a death certificate pending further investigation by the homicide squad. He said, however, preliminary examination indicated the man died of drowning and there was no evidence of violence.

Alumni of Catholic U. To Attend Communion

Graduates of Catholic University will attend the annual Communion breakfast at Graduate Hall on the campus at 10 a. m. Sunday. The Rev. Dr. William H. Russell, chaplain of the Alumni Association, will conduct low mass at 9:30 a. m. in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

John G. Liebert, Bethesda, Md., a law graduate of Catholic University, director of a rehabilitation office established by the Apostolic Delegate in Japan, will speak at the breakfast.

Fatal Cutting

Manslaughter Verdict Sends Woman to Jail in Knife Case

A 33-year-old woman was given a 3 to 10 year prison sentence yesterday after she was convicted of manslaughter in the fatal stabbing December 17 of Simpson Wilson, 52.

Alice Booker was found guilty in District Court of wielding the butcher knife which killed Wilson in the roadway in the 1400 block Hopkins st. nw. She and Wilson lived at 2635 I st. nw., police said.

In another manslaughter case, James E. Wanzer, 36, who said he lived at 621 1st st. sw., received one to five years in prison. He was convicted of hitting Mrs. Jessie Myers, 30, of the same address, with the stump of a Christmas tree on December 29. She died here a month later from tetanus resulting from the blow.

Alvah K. Randall, 36, received 15 to 45 months for illegal possession of heroin.

Two numbers lottery cases resulted in $500 fines. Charles Cooper, 55, of 919 62d pl., Cedar Heights, Md., and Harry Johnson, 66, of 1775 California st. nw., were each fined $500 and given a one-year probation term.

Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut, who said he was playing a "hunch," gave Edward Hereford, 30, no fixed address, a suspended four-year term and probation after conviction on a housebreaking charge.

Judge Schweinhaut said, "You don't deserve probation but I've got a hunch about you. I'm going to play it. I hope it doesn't bounce back."

Hereford promised to get a job by Monday.

Life Saved by Fireman

Man Blocked in Bridge Leap Held for Tests at Gallinger

Police yesterday sent a 33-year-old accountant to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation after he had been prevented from leaping from the Calvert st. bridge.

Fire Pvt. Ernest Hunsberger, of 113 Forrester st. sw., who is attached to No. 7 Engine Co., was driving across the bridge at about 2:30 p. m. when he saw a man sitting on the bridge railing, looking down at the roadway below.

Hunsberger jumped from his car, ran across the bridge and grabbed the man. "What are you doing?" asked Hunsberger.

"I'm going to jump," was the reply.

"Oh, don't do that," said Hunsberger.

"Don't bother me," said the man and he tried to pull free.

However, by this time the fireman had got a firm hold on the man's belt and he pulled him from the railing, put him in his car and drove him to No. 11 Engine Co., 14th st. and Park rd. nw. Police were called to the fire station, and they picked up the man.

A 34-year-old woman, like-wise was prevented from leaping from a fourth-floor window of the YWCA, 17th and K sts. nw., last night. She identified herself as a Government employe.

She entered the YWCA at about 8:45 p. m. and went to the fourth floor. She opened a window, but an attendant stopped her before she could jump. She told police, who took her to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation, that she had been in ill health

Driver Gets Away

Police Chase Stolen Auto At 100 MPH

An elusive high-speed driver yesterday dodged Washington, National Park and Arlington police in a 5-mile chase at speeds as high as 100 miles an hour.

The chase began about 3:50 a. m. when Arlington Police Pvts. Russell Runyon and Sigmunder Sigmundsson, cruising along U. S. Rote 1 near S. Glebe rd. in their scout car were passed by a 1948 sedan "doing 100."

Finding themselves badly outdistanced, the men radioed ahead to have the 14th Street Bridge blocked. A Park Police cruiser on the District end of the bridge forced the fleeing car to a brief halt, but as the policemen got out of their car, the sedan zoomed ahead again.

Another Park Police car, driven by Sergt. Andrew Bickford, roared off in pursuit, as did a District Police motocycle and eight more scout cars.

A police car motor was burned out in the chase.

Their quarry raced up 14th st. to N, turned right to 13th st., where the driver stopped the car and fled on foot. Police said he was wearing a soldier's uniform.

They said the sedan was stolen from Richard Fitzgerald of Gray Hill Village at Fort Belvoir Thursday night.

Poison Mimeograph Aimed at Teachers

The FBI and Postal authorities have been asked to investigate a nation-wide letter campaign aimed at discouraging women from entering the teaching profession, the National Education Association said yesterday.

Willard E. Givens, association secretary, said that women attending teacher colleges in at least 16 states have received form letters warning them they will have little chance for marriage in the teaching profession.

The two-page mimeographed letters sent by first class mail from Seattle, bear the salutation "Dear Miss' and are signed "One Who Has Observed."

Describing the teachnig profession as "an old maid factory," the letters declare: "Someday you may be a lost woman teaching in the worst matrimonial blind alley that ever a girl can get into."

Students receiving the letters are urged to copy them and pass them along to 5 or 6 friends.

Dr. Walter E. Hager, president of Wilson Teachers College, said that as far as he knows none of the letters have been received in Washington.

Givens said he is sure the letters are not the product of a crackpot since sending of the letters is expensive and well organized. He described the letters as "an attempt to strike a blow at democracy by lowering the efficiency of the backbone of democracy—our school system."

Bray Appointed

Arlington Gets Night Bail Officer

Arlington yesterday plugged up a loophole in its court system—lack of a night bail commissioner—by appointing Attorney Miles Spence Bray, 41, to the post.

The action resulted directly from a test court case heard March 2 in which a man accused of drunken driving claimed he was deprived of his rights when jailed overnight before getting a hearing.

Homer Randolph Thomas, attorney for the defendant, said his client never had a chance to post bond before he was jailed, or to appear before a judicial officer who might pass on his condition.

He pointed out that Arlington County has no justices of the peace to set bond around the clock. Trial Justice Hugh Reid later dismissed charges against the defendant, William A. Ring, 33, of 958 26th st. nw.

Bail Commissioner Bray, who lives at 3726 S. 3d st., Arlington, yesterday was sworn in by Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy. Bray will be on duty from 6 p. m. until 2 a. m. in Judge Reid's office on the second floor of the county courthouse.

Grocer Shoots Fleeing Man, 24, Charging Theft

A District grocer shot and wounded a 24-year-old man last night after the man allegedly snatched some canned goods and fled from the store.

Police identified the grocer as Meyer Levin, 28, of 3313 Chauncey pl., Mount Rainier, Md., and the wounded man as James Crosby of 1150 21st st. nw.

Police said Levin told them that Crosby and two other men entered his store, 2400 Virginia ave. nw., at about 8:30 p. m. When Crosby picked up the canned goods and ran, Levin said, he grabbed a .38 caliber revolver from a drawer, pursued him to the street and fired.

The slug struck Crosby in the left hip. He was admitted to Emergency Hospital in undetermined condition.

Kite Contests Today At Eight Playgrounds

Kite-flying contests, sponsored by the District Recreation Board, will be held at eight playgrounds from 9:30 a. m. to noon today. The contests, for participants whose kites must be homemade, will be held at Palisades, Jefferson, McMillan, Rosedale and Bald Eagle playgrounds, and Buchanan, Coolidge and Hillcrest recreation centers.

D. C. Organist Wins National Music Contest

By Paul Hume

Williams Watkins, 27-year-old organist of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, took top honors yesterday in Dallas, Tex., in the National Federation of Music Clubs annual contest.

Watkins

Watkins, who became eligible for the Dallas finals after winning a regional contest in Richmond, Va., won first place on Wednesday in the organists' competition. On Thursday night, he was named first-place winner over a vocalist, violinist, and pianist, to take the award as outstanding young musician in the country—and $1000. Miss Jean Geis, 23, of Cincinnati, a pianist, also won a $1000 prize.

A native of Danville, Va., Watkins was graduated in 1948 from the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, where he finished an education interrupted by three years in the Army. The young organist has played in the New York Avenue Church since February, 1948, and has often been heard in Constitution Hall and over the air.

J. I. Kingman Funeral Rites To Be Today

Funeral services for Judson I. Kingman, 75, retired Washington businessman who died at his home in Daytona Beach, Fla., Wednesday, will be held at 10 a. m. today at the Geier Funeral Home, 3605 14th st. nw. Burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Kingman had been a director of Washington Petroleum Products, Inc., for 20 years, and had owned and operated a service station at Eighth and M sts. nw., from 1935 to 1940, when he retired and moved to Florida.

He was a native of Woodstock, Ill., and had come to Washington about 1914 from Chicago.

Mr. Kingman is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Gertrude Kingman, of Daytona Beach and six children by his first wife, Anna, who died in 1935. The children are: Mrs. Florence Bogley, of 4707 Highland ave., Bethesda; Mrs. Alice DeCatur, of 4426 Harrison st. nw.; Mrs. Edith Cattorini, Chicago; Howard Kingman, 6522 C st., Maryland Park; Noel Kingman, Beltsville, Md., and Adelbert Kingman, 514 N. Garfield st., Arlington.

Mrs. Florence P. Percy

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence Price Percy, 94, who died Thursday at the Health Home, 3244 38th st. nw., will be held Monday at 10:30 a. m. at St. John's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Arlington Cemetery.

Mrs. Percy was the widow of Henry Tucker Percy, medical inspector, U. S. N. A native of the District, she spent most of her life here. She resided at the Brighton Hotel before moving to the Health Home about a year ago.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Norman S. Fernon, of Philadelphia.

W. H. Labrot Dies; Creosote Millionaire

Savannah, Ga., April 1 (AP).—William H. Labrot, Maryland millionaire, publisher, sportsman and power behind the scenes in State politics, died here of a heart attack today.

Mr. Labrot

The 48-year-old gentleman farmer was flying from his winter place in the Bahamas to his home near Annapolis. He had stopped off here to inspect a plant of the Atlantic Creosote Co. of which he is chairman of the board. The heart seizure came while he was in a hotel lobby.

Along with him were his daughter by a previous marriage, 15-year-old Leonie Labrot, and his pilot, J. W. Tyler, of Annapolis.

Noted Yachtsman

Mrs. Labrot, the former Marguerite Marshall of Omaha, Nebr., had stayed behind and planned to return to Annapolis later. She took a plane immediately from Nassau for Savannah.

Labrot was best known outside Maryland as a yachtsman. Five times he skippered his Stormy Weather to victory in the famous Miami to Nassau sailing race. In his auxiliary cutter Rigadoon, he had sailed all over the Western Hemisphere.

He was born on Christmas Day, 1900, in New Orleans, La.

Labrot's millions came from an East Coast creosote dynasty founded by his father. Its principal components were the Atlantic Creosote Co. and the American Creosoting Co.

Labrot enlisted in the Canadian Air Force at 17 for service in World War I and later was graduated from the University of Virginia.

He served a term in the Maryland General Assembly and was a member of various State boards and commissions. In recent years he had held no political offices but was intimate with many of the Democratic Party's top men in Maryland and Washington. He once was a member of the National Finance Committee of the Young Democratic Clubs but withdrew to support Willkie in 1940.

He was a commander in the Coast Guard during the war and served with the Allied Commission in Italy. When he returned from overseas he was captain of the Port of Baltimore for a time.

Published Maryland Weekly

Labrot was principal owner and publisher of the Southern Maryland Times, a weekly newspaper at Annapolis. He was a partner in the Annapolis Airport Co. and commodore of the Annapolis Yacht Club.

Ht was a director of the Annapolis Banking & Trust Co., member of the committee which is staging a tercentenary celebration in Annapolis next month, and a member of the Metropolitan Club of Washington, where he also has large real-estate holdings.

He and Mrs. Labrot were married in 1940, not long after he had been divorced from his first wife. She was the former Eleanor deLiagre, Brooklyn social registerite, who later married movie star Brian Aherne.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 4 p. m. at St. Margaret's Episcopal Church, St. Margaret's, Md., near Annapolis. Burial will be private.

Mrs. Thomas Funeral Rites Set Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Stella Eagle Thomas, 80, Rockville, Md., native who died Thursday, will be held at 2 p. m. today at the Colonial funeral home, Rockville, Md. Burial will be in Rockville Union Cemetery.

Mrs. Thomas, descendant of the Rev. James McGill, who was sent here in 1728 from Scotland by the Bishop of London, died at the home of her son, Charles M. Thomas, a Washington lawyer who lives at Windy Knoll Farm, Rockville. She had been a teacher in the Montgomery County schools for more than 20 years when she retired about 20 years ago. Mrs. Thomas was principal of the Kensington and Takoma Park schools.

Mrs. Thomas lived at 113 West Montgomery ave., Rockville. She was the widow of Francis B. Thomas, a Rockville insurance man who died about 30 years ago.

Besides Charles, she is survived by another son, Francis D. Thomas, also a lawyer, of 8 Kalorama Circle nw.; a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Raum of Takoma Park, Md.; a brother, William L. Eagle of Washington; a sister, Mrs. Maude Stonestreet of Waldorf, Md., eight grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

John Irwin

John H. Ford Dies; Iron Works Head

John Howard Ford, 66, president of the Union Iron Works Co. here, died yesterday at his home in the Ontario Apartments, Ontario rd. and 18th st. nw., after an illness of six months.

Mr. Ford

Mr. Ford was national chairman of Federal Union, Inc., an organization advocating federal union of the world's democracies.

A native of Baltimore, he moved to Washington in 1918, when he joined the iron works firm as president after serving as consulting engineer here and in Philadelphia.

A graduate of Lehigh University in 1906, Mr. Ford served as district engineer for the United States Government in the Philippines from 1907 to 1909.

He returned to the islands in 1913 to assist his father, the late Henry Jones Ford, professor of politics at Princeton University, in the preparation of a report on political conditions there. The report had been requested by President Wilson as a guide in forming American policy.

Mr. Ford held patents on metal book stacks and automobile bodies, and was the author of a number of articles in engineering magazines. He also contributed articles to Freedom and Union, the monthly magazine of Federal Union.

He was a member of Delta Phi Fraternity, the Washington Society of Engineers, the American Institute of Electric Engineers and the Chevy Chase Club.

Memorial services will be held at 11 a. m. Monday in his apartment.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Rebie Moorhead Ford, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Thomas Hildt of Princeton, N. J., and a brother, Franklin Ford, of Chevy Chase, Md.

Funeral Rites Set Today for Rev. Nelson

Funeral services for the Rev. Charles Adolphus Nelson, 89, retired missionary to China and father of Mrs. Ellery Denison of 7207 13th pl., Takoma Park, Md., who died yesterday, will be held at the Takoma Funeral Home, 254 Carroll st., nw., at 2 p. m. today. Burial will be in Oberlin, Ohio.

Rev. Mr. Nelson, who died at the Spring Villa nursing home, was born near Jonkoping, Sweden, and came to Illinois with his parents when five years old. He was graduated from Oberlin College and Oberlin Theological Seminary, where he was ordained in May 1892.

Following his ordination, he went to Canton, China, for the American Board of Foreign Missions. During his 42 years service he founded the first seminary for Chinese ministers in South China, and later was an organizer of the American - Chinese Educational Commission Boys' School in Canton. He served as principal of that institution until his retirement in 1934.

Rev. Mr. Nelson then made his home in Oberlin until 1937, when, following the death of his wife, Mrs. Jennie Elmore Nelson, he went to Princeton, N. J., where he lived until coming to Washington about 1946.

Besides Mrs. Denison, he is survived by four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Corpl. Ernest L. O'Bryhim

Reburial services for Corp. Ernest Linwood O'Bryhim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. O'Bryhim of 515 2d st. se., will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Register Chapel, Methodist Church, Stafford, Va.

Corpl. O'B[illegible]m

A machine gunner with the Sixth Marine Division, Corp. O'Bryhim was killed on Okinawa on June 4, 1945, at the age of 25.

A native of Stafford, Va., he came to Washington as a boy with his family and attended Eastern High School here. Before entering the service, he was employed by the Joseph P. Gamble meat market.

Corp. Gamble had served on Guam, Marianas Islands, Emirau Islands, the St. Matthias group and Ryukyus Islands. He received the Purple Heart with Gold Star, the Good Conduct Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Campaign ribbon and Victory Medal.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Louise May White and Mrs. Margaret Vaught, both of Washington.

Mrs. Dora Tolkins

Mrs. Dora Tolkins, 70, active religious worker, died yesterday in Miami Beach, Fla., where she was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Philip Stone.

A native of Russia, Mrs. Tolkins had resided in the District for 40 years. She lived at 1522 Allison st. nw. Prior to moving to Washington, she had lived in Baltimore for five years.

Mrs. Tolkins was active in the Hadassah, Jewish Consumptive Relief Society and the Hebrew Home for the Aged. Her husband, the late Morris Tolkins, died in 1935.

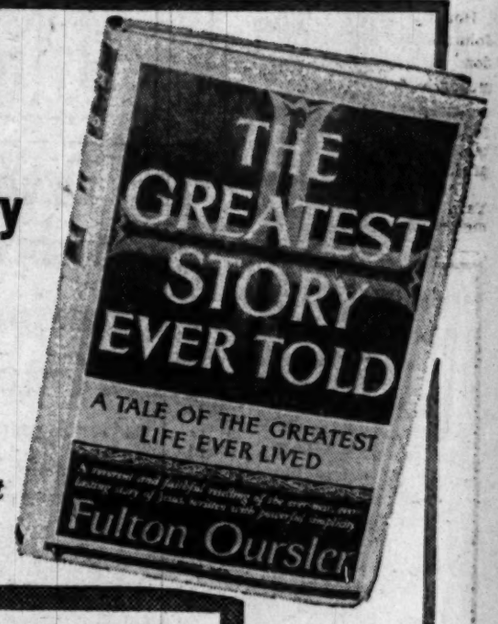
Surviving in addition to Mrs. Stone, are two other daughters, Mrs. David Sherman and Mrs. Charles Kirsch, and a son, A. M. Tolkins, all of Washington; five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at the Bernard Danzansky Funeral Home, 3501 14th st. nw., Sunday at 3 p. m. Burial will be in Tifereth Israel Cemetery.

Now You Can Read This Magnificent Story of The Life of Christ

In Three Sunday Installments in The Washington Post

APRIL 3—APRIL 10—APRIL 17



THE GREATEST STORY EVER TOLD by Fulton Oursler

STILL another great Washington Post special. On the last three Sundays of the Lenten season The Washington Post brings you one of the outstanding religious works of our time.

"The Greatest Story Ever Told" is a new and beautiful retelling of the life of Christ, written in modern language. In it Fulton Oursler—noted journalist, editor and playwright—makes the familiar narrative deep and powerful. His reverent portrait has been acclaimed by church leaders of all faiths.

DRAMATICALLY ILLUSTRATED

You'll thrill to the moving splendor of the story, and you find inspiration in the striking religious illustrations. Don't miss the first of three installments, tomorrow in The Sunday Post.

"It has recaptured the spirit of the times and made me feel that I was an eye-witness. I am confident it will be a classic in its field and do a world of good."
The Rev. John A. O'Brien, Ph.D., Head, Dept. of Philosophy, University of Notre Dame.

"Now and then, every fifty years or so, a truly great 'Life of Christ' appears. Fulton Oursler's book is in the great tradition of these 'Lives.' In my opinion, it is one of the most distinguished works of our time."
The Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, Marble Collegiate Church, Dutch Reform, New York City.

3 Gallstones Complicate Acid Murder Case

Horsham, England, April 1 (U.P.).—John George Haigh, dapper London businessman, confessed he murdered a wealthy widow and dissolved her remains in acid, but failed to reckon with her false teeth and three gallstones, the prosecution said today.

The prosecution said Scotland Yard experts found 28 pounds of melted body fat, part of a left foot, three gallstones and 18 bone fragments corroded by acid in a sludgeheap outside a factory near here. Haigh had asked police, "how can you prove murder if there is no body?"

Under British law the prosecution must produce evidence to convict even though a suspect has confessed. Haigh appeared before a Police Court today in a two-day hearing which will determine whether he will be tried.

Prosecutor E. G. Robey said Haigh had lured his victim, Mrs. Olive Durand-Beacon, 69, to his electric fan factory to discuss the manufacture of false finger nails. He shot the unsuspecting 69-year-old widow in the back of the head and dumped her body into a large drum of acid, Robey said.

Sandberg Named To Police Bureau

The promotion of Corpl. Robert Sandberg of the Bureau of Identification to the rank of sergeant was announced yesterday by Police Superintendent Robert J. Barrett.

Sandberg's promotion was made possible by a vacancy created by the retirement Thursday of Sergt. James E. Dawn. Promoted to fill the corporal vacancy was Pvt. Jacob Brickman of the Twelfth Precinct. Both men, Barrett said, will remain in their present assignments.

Barrett also announced that seven new rookies have been appointed to the police force and that three more policemen have been assigned to motorcycle duty.

Will of Paderewski Found In Bank Vault

Paris, April 1 (AP).—A sealed document left by Ignace Jan Paderewski in a Paris bank vault four years before he died in 1941 turned out today to be his long-sought will.

What it says, however, is still a secret. French law regards wills as private documents, for the information of only the persons directly affected.

Welcome to Spaak Begins Round Of Parties for Foreign Ministers

By Marie McNair

PAUL-HENRI SPAAK, Prime Minister and Foreign Minister of Belgium, DID get to the party in his honor yesterday afternoon, although conferences and affairs of international importance had delayed his arrival more than an hour.

The Prime Minister, big, Churchillian-like in word and countenance, was entertained by Maurice Heyne, Belgium Minister, with his lovely daughter, Mme. Myriam Heyne, as hostess.

Arriving in the embassy's black and shiny limousine with the Prime Minister were the Belgian Ambassador, Baron Robert Silvercruys, and the two members of Mr. Spaak's party—W. Loridan, director general of politics, and C. Seyfort, chief of the Belgian cabinet.

Meanwhile guests were sipping cocktails in the green drawing room of the Heynes' little Georgetown house, or gathered in conversational clusters on the floor below where comfortable sofas and chairs were grouped in the recreation room.

De Thiers There

Belgian Consul Generals from New York, San Francisco, New Orleans and Chicago were special guests at the party and I recognized Jacques de Thier, once with the Belgian Embassy, now Consul General in New York. An even more familiar face was that of Mme. de Thier, the former Countess de Gramont, who lived here during the war and married M de Thier a year or two ago.

Camille Gutt, managing director of the Monetary Fund, was off before the Prime Minister arrived. George Bell of the Department of Commerce was in conversation with Leon Van Den Berghe, counselor of the Belgian Embassy, and Mrs. Raymond Tartier stopped for words with tall and good looking Bob Rodenberg.

All of the Belgian Embassy staff seemed to be there, with their wives, and others were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blaisdell, Msgr. Donald MacLean of Catholic University, Mr. and Mrs. Park Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. George Godley 2d, Parr Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Galloway and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Thorp.

Other Diplomats

Also asked were the Luxembourg Minister and Mme. LeGallais, and Joseph Bech, Luxembourg's Foreign Minister, and Mme. Bech; the Ambassador of Iran and Mme. Ala, and the Third Secretary of the Iran Embassy, Ali-Reza Heravi; Capt. Edward Ramsay, aide to the Chief of Staff, brought word that his chief, General Bradley, was drying out at home after a thorough soaking reviewing a Wac review in Virginia.

Still others invited were Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. John E. Peurifoy, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Achilles, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur 2d; Senator and Mrs. William E. Jenner, Senator and Mrs. Brien McMahon, Representative and Mrs. John Davis Lodge, Representative and Mrs. Earl Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rossiter, Dr. and Mrs. Rex Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hawk and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson.

Netherlands Party Fetes Visiting Minister

THE Netherlands Ambassador and Mme. van Kleffens entertained yesterday at a 6 to 8 cocktail party honoring their Foreign Minister, Dirk Stikker. A ranking guest at the party was the Netherlands Minister to Canada, Dr. J. H. Van Royen, who is a guest at the embassy this weekend.

A dinner in honor of the Netherlands Foreign Minister will be given tomorrow evening by the Netherlands Minister and Mme. Philipse.

Embassy Luncheon Honors Count Sforza

A LUNCHEON in honor of Count Carlo Sforza, Foreign Minister of Italy, was given yesterday by the Italian Ambassador and Signora Tarchiani at the embassy at 1 o'clock.

In the distinguished gathering were the Foreign Minister of France, Robert Schuman; the Foreign Minister of Luxembourg and Mrs. Joseph Bech; the Foreign Minister of Belgium, Paul Henri Spaak; the General Director of Foreign Affairs for Italy, Mr. Guidotti; the Chief of Cabinet of the Foreign Ministry in Rome, Mario Mondello; the Ambassador of France and Mme. Bonnet; the Ambassador of Belgium, Baron Silvercruys, and the Minister of Luxembourg and Mme. Le Gallais.

Others included the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. John Snyder, the Undersecretary of State and Mrs. James E. Webb, Senator and Mrs. Tom Connally, and from the State Department, the Chief of Protocol and Mrs. Stanley Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. John Hickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gross, Mr. and Mrs. John Kee and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dowling.

Still other guests were Vittorio Cales, secretary to Count Sforza, and embassy staff members, Mario Luciolli, Franco Bounous and Paolo Pansa.

Brazilian General Is Luncheon Host

BRAZIL'S Minister of War, Gen. Canrobert Pereira da Costa, who is in Washington for a brief stay, was host at a large luncheon yesterday given in the West Ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

Among those seated at the horseshoe-shaped table were Col. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Maj. H. V. Dietze, Maj. Gen. Estanislau J. Lopes of Argentina, Maj. Gen. Alfredo Sanchez of Bolivia, Maj. Gen. Rafael Fernanlez of Chile, Capt. Jose Aguila Ruiz of Cuba, Col. Angelo Vaquero Davila of Ecuador, Maj. Juan Jose Rodriguez of Nicaragua and Brig. Gen. Manuel C. Tiscornia of Uruguay.

Others included Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, Col. Douglas B. Smith, Maj. Gen. H. H. Vaughan, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Gen. W. H. Haislip, Brig. Gen. T. S. Timberman, and various staff members of the Brazilian Embassy.

Guatemalan Air Chief Honored at Dinner

THE visiting Air Force Chief of Guatemala, Col. Francisco Cosenza, and Mrs. Cosenza, were honored at a dinner Thursday evening given by the Ambassador of Guatemala and Senora de Gonzalez-Arevalo.

Guests included Col. and Mrs. Louis W. Proper, Maj. and Mrs. M. R. Puel, Maj. and Mrs. Gordon W. Ross, Maj. and Mrs. Vincent Usera, the Assistant Military Attache of Paraguay and Senora de Bobeda, and members of the embassy staff and their wives.

Reception Honors General Vandegrift

GEN. CLIFTON CATES, Commandant of the Marine Corps, and Mrs. Cates entertained at a reception yesterday at the Commandant's House, following a ceremony marking the retirement from active duty of Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, former Commandant of the Marines.

General and Mrs. Vandegrift, just back from a holiday in Honolulu, will go to Lynchburg, Va., to make their permanent home.

Messages from President Truman, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of the Navy and the Marine Corps Commandant were read as the war-time head of the Marine Corps stood surrounded by his friends from the corps and other branches of the service.

Georgetown Homes Draw 2000 Visitors

GEORGETOWN'S historic houses vied with Tidal Basin cherry trees in capitalites' and tourists' esteem yesterday.

About 2000 Washingtonians and out-of-towners participated in the first round of the two-day annual Georgetown House Tour for the benefit of St. John's Church.

Highlight of the tour for many was the home of Secretary of State and Mrs. Dean Acheson at 2805 P st. The house is an excellent example of the American Federal period in architecture. One of the most charming rooms is the green dining room with its Dutch cupboard, English knife boxes and mantel which came from a house on 13th st. where Edgar Allen Poe once lived. Georgetown landscapes painted by Mrs. Acheson adorned most of the rooms shown.

Included on today's half of the tour are the houses of Mr. and Mrs. James Pomeroy Hendrick, 3303 Volta st.; Mrs. W. A. Stebbins, 1524 33d st.; Mr. and Mrs. G. Howland Chase, 1555 35th st.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Bacon, 1503 35th st.; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Colt de Wolf, 3322 O st.; Col. and Mrs. Alf Heiberg, 3300 O st.; Mrs. McCook Knox, 3259 N st., and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. H. Frelinghuysen, 3255 N st.

Spanish Class To Bid Goodby To H.W. Millers

Col. and Mrs. H. W. Miller, who will leave soon for South America, and the latter's sister, Mrs. Annabelle Morschbach, will be honored by one of the Shoreham Spanish classes at a farewell cocktail party this evening at the home of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Robert D. Heinl, jr., at 2601 Calvert st. nw.

Colonel Miller, who recently headed the American Military Mission in Paraguay, is to take command of another mission in South America.

The Paraguayan Ambassador, Dr. Juan Felix Morales, will also be a special guest at the affair. Others representing the Paraguayan Embassy will include the Minister Counselor and Senora de Acosta, the Military Attache and Senora de Velilla, and the Assistant Military Attache and Senora de Bobeda. Also attending will be Senator and Mrs. Patrick McCarran, Admiral and Mrs. William W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Hanning, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meachem, Mrs. E. M. Harmon, Mrs. George K. Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Gustavus H. Klinck, jr., and Col. and Mrs. W. W. Jervey.

Herzmarks Entertain For Mrs. d'Rozario

DR. AND MRS. Maurice Herzmark entertained at tea on Thursday as a farewell to Mrs. d'Rozario who left on Friday to return to her home in Delhi. Mr. d'Rozario, Attache of the Indian Embassy, who is deputy educational liaison officer for the Dominion, is remaining longer in Washington.

Among the guests were Mrs. Florence Cornell, principal of the John Quincy Adams School, at which the d'Rosario children were students; Dr. and Mrs. Brown Ingersoll, Mr. and Mrs. D. McPhail, Miss Fanny Noack, Miss Bertie A. Grubbs, Miss Eugenia Protzman, Mrs. V. W. Peterson, Mrs. Joseph Low, Mrs. K. J. Murata and Mrs. Alfred Jelalian.

Polish Ambassador Host at Chopin Concert

IN celebration of the 100th anniversary of the death of Frederic Chopin, a concert and reception was given at the Polish Embassy last evening. Jakob Gimpel was featured in an all-Chopin program.

Polish Ambassador Joseph Winiewicz returned from a brief visit to Chicago in time to serve as host for the occasion. Among those invited to the affair were the Mexican Ambassador and Senora de la Colina, the Yugoslav Ambassador and Mme. Trbojevic, the Iranian Ambassador and Mme. Ala, the Turkish Ambassador, Feridun C. Erkin; the Ecuadorean Ambassador and Senora de Dillon, the Dominican Ambassador, Dr. Luis Francisco Thomen; the Danish Ambassador and Mme. de Kauffmann, Czechoslovakian Ambassador and Mme. Outrata, Chilean Ambassador and Senora del Rio, and Argentine Ambassador, Dr. Jeronimo Remorino.

Others included Senator and Mrs. Harry Kilgore, Senator and Mrs. Elbert D. Thomas, Representative and Mrs. James P. Richards, Representative and Mrs. Adolph J. Sabath, Representative and Mrs. George Sadowski, Presidential Secretary and Mrs. Charles G. Ross, the Chairman of the International Monetary Fund Camille Gutt, the Chairman of the International Bank and Mrs. John McCloy, the Conductor of the National Symphony and Mrs. Howard Mitchell, the President of American University Paul F. Gillette, Poulson See Equal Rights Passage As NWP Conclave Opens

By Genevieve Reynolds

SENATOR GUY M. GILLETTE (D., Iowa) last night deplored this Nation's failure to provide full equality of civil rights in the American Constitution. He spoke at the opening session of the National Woman's Party's three-day convention held in the Crypt of the Capitol before the monument to the pioneers of the Equal Rights movement—Lucretia Mott, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Susan B. Anthony.

"It is a sad commentary on the United States that we alone were unable to sign a treaty proposed by our Pan American neighbors because of failure to provide full equality of civil rights," declared the Iowa Senator, chief sponsor of the Equal Rights Amendment in the Senate.

"Without a Federal Amendment granting civil rights to women, the United States will continue to lag behind all other American countries," he continued.

Predicting ultimate success in passage of the Equal Rights Amendment, Senator Gillette warned, however, "It's going to be a long painful process to pilot the Amendment through this Senate."

Representative Norris Poulson of California, a strong supporter and one of the co-sponsors of the Equal Rights Amendment, said that he disagreed with Senator Gillette on the length of time and effort needed to bring favorable Congressional action on the Amendment. "If the Amendment can be brought to the floor of the House," he averred, "I am confident that it will be passed by the 81st Congress."

Mrs. Florence M. Lynch, Democratic National Committeewoman from Iowa, told the some 300 delegates "there can be no true democracy until women are given equal rights."

Ovation for Sculptress

An ovation greeted centenarian Adelaide Johnson when she stood beside the monument to the three suffrage pioneers which she sculptured over 25 years ago. As the audience cheered wildly, petite Miss Johnson responded with a smile and a graceful wave of her hands.

Adding color to the impressive ceremony in the Crypt were a processional and recessional of the 48 State flags borne by a group of pretty young girls. Garland Thornhill, young grandson of Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest, led with the American Flag. Mrs. Forrest directed the ceremonial program. A chorus and string ensemble under the direction of Mrs. Florence Howard presented a musical program which included "The March of the Women" by the late Dame Ethel Smyth of London, Beethoven's "Ode to Joy" and the "Woman's Party Song," written by the late Joseph Preston Peabody and set to the music of an old folk song by Mrs. Anita Pollitzer of South Carolina, national chairman of the National Woman's Party.

Junior Committee

A Junior Committee composed of Miss Norissa Poulson, daughter of Representative Poulson; Miss Willa Mae Holifield, daughter of Representative Chet Holifield; Miss Jane Lingo, Miss India Moffett, Miss Harriet Johnston, daughter of the Eric Johnstons, and Miss Ann Gillespie placed flowers at the base of the statue of the three women pioneers. Mrs. Robert Hunt Walker of Winter Park, Fla., paid tributes on behalf of the National Council of the National Woman's Party to Edith Houghton Hooker, Florence Kennard, Beatrice Kinkaid, Edith Ainge and Rheta Door.

Also speaking on last night's program were Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, congressional chairman of the National Women's Party and Democratic National Committeewomen from Pennsylvania; Mrs. Thad Brown, GOP National Committeewoman for the District of Columbia; Mrs. Margaret M. O'Riordan, member of the NWP's Congressional Committee and Democratic National Committeewoman for Iowa; Mrs. Horace H. Sayre, cochairman of the NWP's Congressional Committee and vice chairman of the GOP National Committee.

A LARGE sprinkling of the Capital's official wives turned out yesterday to greet some 350 delegates to the National Woman's Party's convention, who have gathered here from every State in the Union. Occasion was a welcoming preconclave tea honoring the visitors given by Mrs. George Mesta, the Capital's leading hostess and public relations chairman for the NWP. Scene of the gala event was the Sulgrave Club.

Receiving with Mrs. Mesta were Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller of Pennsylvania, Democratic National Committeewoman for Pennsylvania as well as cochairman of the Congressional Committee of the NPW, and Miss Anita Pollitzer of South Carolina, national chairman of the NWP. The hostess' handsome, black taffeta afternoon dress was accented with a large purple orchid on the left shoulder. Pinned to her black purse was a brown orchid.

At the Tea Table

Taking turns at the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. Fred Vinson, wife of the Chief Justice; Mrs. Max O'Rell Truitt, daughter of Vice President Barkley; Mrs. Walter George, wife of the Georgia Senator; Representative Katharine St. George, official sponsor of the Equal Rights Amendment in the U. S. House of Representatives; Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, Mrs. O. Max Gardner, Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall, wife of the Massachusetts Senator; Mrs. Homer Ferguson, wife of the Michigan Senator; Robert Sherrod and Mrs. B. B. Jones.

General assistants to Mrs. Mesta included Mrs. Clark Clifford, wife of the Presidential Counselor—Mr. Clifford is being mentioned for the Attorney General's post from which Tom Clark resigned.—Mrs. Alexander Surles and Mrs. Hope Ridings Miller.

Glimpsed here and there among the delegates and guests were Mrs. George Malone, wife of the Nevada Senator; Mrs. Dennis Chavez, wife of the New Mexico Senator; Mrs. Claude Pepper, wife of the Florida Senator; Mrs. Ken Regan, wife of the Texas Representative; Mrs. Hale T. Shenefield, who was introducing Mme. Jean Boissevain, Dutch underground leader during the Nazi occupation of the Netherlands. Mme. Boissevain was exhibiting a patchwork skirt, which she has made famous as a symbol of world unity and friendship.

Also there were Dr. Florence Armstrong; Mrs. Benjamin Harrison Lingo and her daughter, Miss Jane Lingo; Mrs. Helen C. Mull of Philadelphia; the Countess d'Esternaux; Mrs. India Edwards, head of the Women's Division, Democratic National Committee; Mrs. Jane Macauley, head of the Women's Division and vice chairman of the Republican National Committee; Dr. Agnes E. Wells of Saginaw, Mich.; Dr. Mary Sinclair Crawford of California; Mrs. Mary A. Murray, chairman of the Industrial Council, NWP; Miss Mary Brandon of Ohio.

Holding a court all her own was centenarian Adelaide Johnson, sculptress and artist, who created the famous statue of this Nation's pioneer suffragettes — Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Lillian Kerr, chairman of the Colorado branch, National Woman's Party, brought a gavel to Miss Pollitzer. It was the gavel used when the Colorado branch of the party was founded in 1914, and will be the official gavel for the NWP's conclave throughout the three-day sessions.

Business Sessions Today

Adoption of resolutions, reports and nomination of officers will highlight the business sessions today in the NWP's headquarters in Alva Belmont House. Featured events will be a luncheon in the Senate dining room in the Capitol, 1 p. m. when Marjorie Barstow Greenbie, author of "My Dear Lady" will be principal speaker. The luncheon will be a tribute to Anna Ella Carroll, "the great unrecognized member of Lincoln's Cabinet."

Main speakers at the party's banquet tonight in the Washington Hotel will be United States Attorney General Tom Clark; Senator Lester Hunt of Wyoming; Representative St. George; Miss Pollitzer, Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller and Mrs. Mesta.

REPRESENTATIVE Norris Poulson (R., Calif.) (center) looks over the National Woman's Party's Convention program prior to the formal opening session in the Crypt of the Capitol last night. With him are Dr. Mary Sinclair Crawford of Calif., chairman of the National Advisory Council (left) and Miss Anita Pollitzer, national chairman of the National Woman's Party. The California Representative, one of the supporters of the Equal Rights Amendment now pending in Congress, predicted favorable action by the House when he appeared as one of the main speakers

MISS ALICE PAUL, founder of the National Woman's Party and of the World Woman's Party, pauses at the statue of the Nation's three pioneer suffrage leaders—Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucretia Mott and Susan B. Anthony. Miss Paul, who has dedicated her life to improving the status of women through an Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution, placed flowers on the statue during a ceremony last night in the Crypt Room of the Capitol, which marked the official opening of NWP's three-day convention here

Romulo Asks U. S. Support In Far East

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United Nations, yesterday praised the United States for its participation in the North Atlantic Pact to be signed in Washington Monday and called upon this country for similar support for the nations of the Far East.

In an address before the Congressional Club, the Philippine war hero of Bataan and Corregidor asserted that peace is not indivisible; that there cannot be peace in one part of the world while there is fighting in another hemisphere.

"You cannot be defending only your front door," he went on, "when you know you have a back door where there is a sinister shadow."

Europe's assurance of American support is "fastened and sealed and locked up" in the North Atlantic Pact, he stated, while in Asia communism is rapidly advancing, destroying the "American democracy" which had just gotten a foothold there.

Asiatic nations are able now to band together for their general welfare, he said, using as illustration the Pan Asian Conference on Indonesia held last January in New Delhi.

In fact, the speaker gave the New Delhi conference much of the credit for the United Nations Security Council's action in the Indonesian problem.

Mrs. Ralph Church, president of the club, presided at the meeting. Tea followed with part of the service placed on a table that General Romulo and his wife had given to the club.

Miss de Gruchy Installed As Junior Club President

Miss Helen DeGruchy was installed president of the Junior Woman's Club of Arlington at a recent meeting at the Ashton Heights clubhouse. Mrs. William Watt, president of Arlington Federation of Women's Clubs, was in charge of the installation, assisted by Mrs. J. F. Abel, junior counselor of the Arlington Juniors.

Other officers are Mrs. Janes Groves, first vice president; Miss Muriel Updike, second vice president; Miss Ruth Ann Ramsdell, recording secretary; Miss Phylis Kassebaum, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kitty Land, treasurer, and Miss Elizabeth Wheldon, parliamentarian.

Cuban Envoy Coming

Word has been received at the Cuban Embassy that the new Ambassador, Oscar Gans, and Senora de Gans will arrive in Washington on Tuesday, April 5, coming by train from Miami, Fla.

Philippine Bazaar Set April 16

A wide variety of hand-made articles brought to Washington by plane from Manila will be exhibited on Saturday, April 16, at the Philippine Embassy. The public is invited to come and see the exhibits from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. Tea will be served during the day.

Hand-woven abaca (hemp) slippers and shopping bags with matching fans will be on sale. Beautiful pina luncheon sets and handkerchiefs, hand-woven from pineapple leaf fiber, will also be available. Other displays will include oil paintings of Philippine views on straw mats, in bamboo frames, as well as dolls dressed in Philippine costumes.

Prominent Washingtontonians will assist at the bazaar, and the Ambassador, Joaquin M. Elizalde, has offered the use of his official residence for the occasion.

The bazaar is sponsored by the newly formed Association of Philippine-American Women of Washington. Proceeds will go to various charity activities of the National Federation of Women's Clubs of the Philippines. The federation maintains a dormitory for girls from the provinces who are studying in Manila and who cannot afford to pay for their board and lodging. Those who lost their husbands during the war are given monthly allowances by the federation to supplement their meager income and to help maintain their children in schools. Contributions are made regularly to the federation by the Association of Philippine-American Women of Washington.

Officials to Attend Open House Monday

Connecticut Rejoins State Societies

By Nicha Soure

THERE is a definite trend to build bigger and better State societies in the Nation's Capital with Connecticut being the latest State to join the State society bandwagon.

On Monday at 8 p. m. there will be a reception in the caucus room of the Senate Office Building when the Nutmeg State members will reorganize their society.

The society was last active in 1943 with a few former residents of Connecticut holding unofficial get-togethers for members of their native State during the last five years.

The gathering on Monday will have an official flavor with the nomination and election of officers to serve for the coming year. The committee on arrangements, responsible for the reinstating of the society, includes Miss Lucy Waters Lonergan, Miss Catherine M. Flynn, Leslie T. Fossel, George Miller, Lee Michalowski and William Painter.

Following the business session of the meeting, the 600 or so capital area residents invited to attend, will enjoy a purely social hour complete with refreshments and entertainment.

Among the guests of honor who will attend are Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Miss Frances Kelley, Connecticut Cherry Blossom Festival princess; Senator Brien McMahon, Senator Raymond E. Baldwin, Representative Chase Going Woodhouse, Representative Abraham A. Ribicoff, Representative James T. Patterson and Representative Antoni N. Sadlak.

Connecticut residents living in the District area have been invited to attend the open house gathering. For further information about the open house or the Connecticut State Society, call the Connecticut congressional delegation offices at the Capitol.

The committee on arrangements will honor the Connecticut congressional delegation and Miss Kelley at a luncheon in the Senate dining room Monday.

Mississippi Newspaper Article Inspires Dance

H. HALDEN RHYMES, Jr. was reading an article in a Mississippi paper by Charlotte Capers who pointed out that in proportion to the total population, Mississippi has more famous writers than any other State.

The inspired Mr. Rhymes, who is president of the local society, got busy, and the Mississippi State Society spring dance on Saturday, April 9, is the direct result of that inspiration.

This affair will be held from 9:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the Shoreham Hotel. This will be the last of the society's dances for the season and if the congressional reception and ball in February is any indication, there will be from 1500 to 2000 on the dance floor.

Among the Mississippi writers invited to attend are Hodding Carter, Pulitzer prize-winning editor of Greenville; William Faulkner, "Intruder in the Dust"; Frances Gaither, "Double Muscadine"; Elizabeth Spencer, "Fire in the Morning"; David Donald, "Lincoln's Herndon"; Ben Ames Williams, "Leave Her to Heaven"; Kemp Malone, "Literary History of Hamlet"; Eduora Welty, "Delta Wedding"; David L. Coh, "God Shakes Creation."

Also James Street, "Tap Roots"; Tennessee Williams, author of the plays "The Glass Menagerie" and "A Street Car Named Desire"; Stark Young, "So Red the Rose"; Mildred Spurrier Topp, "Smile Please"; Clayton Rand, "Ink on My Hands"; and many others. Special awards during the evening will be the autographed copies of the Mississippi authors.

But evidence of the creative talent of Mississippians will not be limited to books at the party. Joseph M. Howorth's painting, "Sailing on the Potomac," painted especially for the occasion will be on exhibit. Miss Bonnie Crenshaw will sing Mrs. Grayson Headley's "Mississippi Cotton Picking Blues."

The committee on arrangements for the party will include Mr. Rhymes, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Davis, Mrs. Courtney Pace, Mrs. Jeff Busby, Mrs. Ellen Woodward, Mrs. J. A. Jagoe, Miss Mary Ellen Johnson, Frank Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Ermal Geice, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Buescher and Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Clarke.

Pennsylvanians Plan Cherry Blossom Dance

SINCE this—the Cherry Blossom Festival weekend—will be crowded with festivities, the Pennsylvania State Society has scheduled its annual Cherry Blossom dance for April 8.

Dancing from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. to the music of Dave McWilliams orchestra will be in the West Ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

For further information about the dance call Mrs. Ray J. Whitney at Glebe 2629 or Mrs. Algia A. Martin at Otis 7455.

Oklahomans, attention! Right after the Cherry Blossom celebration at the Tidal Basin, Oklahomans are invited to the Cherry Blossom Ball at the Shoreham Hotel.

The last dance of the season will be from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the main ballroom.

F. M. Broussard Elected Louisiana Group Head

FELIX M. BROUSSARD was elected president of the Louisiana State Society at a meeting last week presided over by the retiring president, Representative Henry D. Larcade.

The other officers are Representative James H. Morrison and Mrs. Betty Harter, vice presidents; James H. Gill, secretary; Paul K. Jones, treasurer; Henri L. Gueydan, historian, and Joseph W. Hanley, segreant-at-arms.

South Dakota Party To Fete Congressmen

MEMBERS of the South Dakota congressional delegation and their wives will be the honored guests at the annual spring party of the South Dakota State Society at the Hotel 2400 on Friday April 8.

In the receiving line will be Senator and Mrs. Chan Gurney, Senator and Mrs. Karl Mundt, Representative and Mrs. Francis Case and Representative and Mrs. Harold O. Louvre.

Dancing will be from 9 a. m. to midnight at the party to which all former South Dakotans and their guests are invited to attend.

Annual convention of Epsilon Province, Alpha Zeta Beta sorority is slated for Saturday and Sunday at the Wardman Park Hotel.

New members will be initiated Saturday evening by Mrs. Thelma Zeigler of Baltimore, Md., National president. She will be assisted by Miss Kay Burns, national treasurer, and Mrs. Lester Engel, province director, both of Washington. A banquet and dancing will follow.

On Sunday, officers for 1949-50 will be elected, with Mrs. Lester Engel presiding. Mrs. Herbert Darnell, assistant director, is chairman of arrangements for the conclave.

PEO Chapter K Organized in Falls Church

Chapter K, the second P. E. O. chapter of Falls Church and the eleventh chapter in Virginia, was organized recently at the home of Mrs. Jack L. Shoenhair. The new chapter was sponsored by Chapter E, the first chapter in Falls Church, which was organized in May, 1946. Chapter K is an evening chapter.

Mrs. Gertrude Tomhave who is the organizer from the Supreme Chapter of the P. E. O. Sisterhood, presided at the formal ceremony.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Grace Wallingford, president; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, vice president; Mrs. Katherine Morgan, recording secretary; Mrs. Margaret King, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ann DeCoursey, treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Goodell, chaplain, and Mrs. Madeline Daniel, guard.

Capitalites Attend Gamma Phi Beta Conference

Four members of the Washington Alumnae Chapter of international sorority Gamma Phi Beta and two students at the University of Maryland attended the conference of Province VIII of Gamma Phi Beta in Winter Park, Fla., last weekend. The active chapter at Rollins College and the Winter Park alumnae were hostesses.

Miss Edith F. McChesney of Washington, director of Province VIII, presided at the conference. Mrs. R. C. Callander of Alexandria, president of the Washington Alumnae Chapter, spoke on the national and international aspect of sorority life.

In Bridal Procession

MISS BARBARA ANN WALKER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Channing Smith Walker of Washington, was married last evening in Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Church to Lieut. Jack Windsor Robbins, USMC. The bridegroom is the son of Col. and Mrs. H. M. Robbins of Bemidji, Minn.

For the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Edward G. Latch, the bride wore a gown of white heirloom satin with sheer yoke and chantilly lace bertha. The full skirt was covered with cascades of chantilly lace ruffles. Her veil of imported illusion was attached to a satin cap outlined with seed pearls. The bride carried a white orchid with her mother's prayer book.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Margie Walker, and the Misses Robin and Ruth Stickle, Carter Prescott, and Ann Altemus. The attendants' gowns were of gold taffeta, and they carried bouquets of red, blue and gold spring flowers, to match the Marine dress uniforms worn by the bridegroom, and the ushers. Reuben N. Petersen, a classmate of the bridegroom at the United States Naval Academy, was best man. The ushers, all of them fellow officers of the bridegroom at Quantico, were Lieuts. William Jesse, Robert Smith, Floyd H. Waldrop, Keith O'Keefe, Richard Hall, Louis Cameron, Fred McGiffin and James Gallman.

A reception for about 400 people was held at the Columbia Country Club. The bride cut the wedding cake in traditional fashion with the bridegroom's sword.

Following a brief honeymoon the couple will live in South Alexandria.

Mrs. Robbins is a graduate of National Cathedral School for Girls and Harcum Junior College, Bryn Mawr, Pa. The bridegroom attended Kemper Military School before he attended the United States Naval Academy.

The bridegroom, a star athlete at the Naval Academy, has just returned from the All-Navy games at Pearl Harbor where he participated in the basketball games.

MRS. GEORGE E. BAULSIR
. . . Bermuda honeymoon

THE marriage of Mrs. Atlee Wirgman Elgin to George Edward Baulsir took place at 4 p. m., Thursday, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wayne Wirgman. The Rev. Edward G. Latch performed the ceremony.

With her gown of pale blue chiffon, the bride wore a family heirloom cross of diamonds and carried a shower bouquet of white flowers. Mrs. Polly Wayne Kittelle was matron of honor for her sister, and the best man was Warren Rockwell. A reception followed the ceremony. On return from their honeymoon in Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Baulsir will reside in Chevy Chase, Md.

The bride, who is the daughter of the late Wayne Wirgman and great-great-great-granddaughter of Anthony Wayne, attended Gunston Hall and Holton-Arms School. She made her debut in Washington in 1931. Mr. Baulsir is the son of Mrs. S. R. Baulsir and the late Mr. Baulsir of this city. He received his bachelor's degree from Stanford University and his master's degree from George Washington University.

Smith—McIntosh

The marriage of Miss Nettie Elizabeth McIntosh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. McIntosh, to Robert Clyde Smith, son of Mrs. Robert Clyde Smith and the late Mr. Smith of Gadsden, Ala., took place on March 19. The Rev. John Curry Millian performed the ceremony at Petworth Methodist Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gabardine suit with navy accessories and she carried white orchids with her prayerbook. Miss Catherine McIntosh was made of honor for her sister and Miss Kathy Widmer was bridesmaid.

The best man was Lieut. Bryant W. Line and the ushers included Robert W. Pearson, Edwin V. Connolly and Paul Griggs. Following the reception at the McIntosh home the newlyweds left for a Niagara Falls honeymoon.

Mrs. Smith is employed by the Federation Housing Administration. Her husband, a graduate of the University of Alabama, works for the State Department. He also has done graduate work at Duke University.

At Raleigh

Mr. and Mrs. John Lodge of Scarsborough, Yorkshire, England, are visiting in Washington, where they are spending the weekend at Hotel Raleigh. Also stopping there are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day of Denton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. George Hatch of Lesterville, Ohio, and Maj. Gen. E. A. Walsh of St. Paul, Minn.

Young—Armstrong

Miss Lois Joan Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Armstrong of Hesperia, Mich., was married on March 25, to Sergt. William R. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Young of Muskegon, Mich.

The Rev. Phillip C. Edwards of Woodside Methodist Church performed the ceremony at the Takoma Park, Md., home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Giddings.

Mr. Giddings gave his niece in marriage, and his daughter, Miss Elaine Giddings, was maid of honor. The best man was Sergt. Walter Kircherbauer of Camp Lee.

Harris & Swing

Mrs. Lewis Saxton Evans was Miss Carolyn Eastwood Thompson before her marriage on March 26 at All Souls' Church. The Rev. A. Powell Davies performed the ceremony. The bride, daughter of Mrs. Eastwood Pillsbury Thompson and the late Mr. Thompson of Chevy Chase, Md., formerly of Arlington, Mass., wore a turquoise dress and matching hat. Her flowers were Vanda orchids. Following their Southern wedding trip the newlyweds will reside in Silver Spring. Mr. Evans is the son of Mrs. Charles William Evans and the late Mr. Evans of Los Angeles, Calif.

Brown Suares

Mrs. Frank J. Scheulen, the former Miss Inez Teat of Pompton Lakes, N. J., was married on March 27. Mrs. Gloria Thayer was matron of honor for her sister, and John Muller of New York served as best man. Following the informal ceremony Frank Scheulen, sr., was host at a wedding supper. The newlyweds will reside in Capitol Heights, Md., on return from their Southern wedding trip

Rings on Their Fingers

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Harrison of Washington announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Lieut. Neil R. Ayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer of Wenham, Mass.

Miss Harrison was graduated from Foxcroft School in Middleburg, Va. and made her debut at the Chevy Chase Club at a dance given by her parents. She spent the following year with her parents in Bern, Switzerland, where her father was United States Minister to Switzerland. She is the granddaughter of the late W. Henry Harrison and Mrs. Harrison of New York City and the late Mr. and and Mrs. B. Dawson Coleman of Philadelphia.

Lieutenant Ayer, a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, is now stationed at Fort Benning, preparatory to duty overseas. He also attended Noble and Greenough School. Lieutenant Ayer is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer of Beverly, Mass., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Rice of Ipswich, Mass.

The wedding will take place in Washington, June 25.

Jones—Davenport

Mr. and Mrs. A. Buddy Jones of Rocky River, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Mae, to James Pearce Davenport, son of Mrs. Mabel P. Davenport of Baltimore, Md. The wedding is set for May 28 at Rocky River Methodist Church.

A graduate of Kent State University, the bride-elect is a hostess for Capital Airlines. Mr. Davenport attended Dickinson College, Johns Hopkins University and is now in his senior year at the University of Baltimore Law School. He served five years as an Army officer.

About Instruction in Bookbinding

Would you tell me if there are any classes or instruction in bookbinding in the Washington area? T. B. L.

Bookbinding is taught at Catholic University in connection with the Library Science course. The next course will sta.. the latter part of June. Also, at the same university, there is a professor who will give private lessons in bookbinding. He may be reached by calling Adams 2993.

I am concerned with making plans for a small informal church wedding. What kind of invitations should be sent out? Should they be engraved or personally written? Can you tell me where to get some of the answers? R. S.

Whether you send out engraved or personally written invitations will be determined by the number of persons being invited to the wedding. If the wedding is to be a small one, with only a few guests, Emily Post says that the most flattering invitation of all is one personally written by the bride. Use attractive note paper and write it as you would a personal note. If the guest list is too long for the invitations to be personally written, then they should be engraved. You will find the personnel in the engraving departments at the large department stores well versed and most cooperative in helping you phrase and choose the most appropriate type of invitation. Any other questions pertaining to your wedding will be answered, I'm sure, by referring to the wedding sections in one of the several excellent etiquette books now on the market.

Can you tell me of any place I could get some instructions on cake decorating? I am not interested in this for commercial reasons; therefore would not want to involve a lot of money. It has been a family tradition to give each of our nieces and nephews a shower when they marry, also when the first baby is born, and I seem to be the one to bake the shower cake. A. N. W.

I'm sorry, I have not been able to find anyone in Washington who gives instructions in simple cake decoration. However, here are some suggestions.

First of all, be sure that the foundation icing on the cake is completely set before starting the decoration. If not, your best artistic attempts will probably slide right off the cake. So allow at least an hour or two between frosting the cake and decoration. When you are ready to decorate, plan where the decoration is to go and mark it onto the frosting with a toothpick. If you are writing a name on top, write it on lightly with the point of the toothpick. This way, you will get all the letters on and they will be well proportioned. Do the same for any stems, borders or scrolls you wish to add.

With the entire decorations planned, make your icing. Use powdered sugar, cream and a little vanilla for flavor. Mix as much as you will need for the entire job and be sure that it is not all runny. This is most important because you want the shape of the frosting to remain just as it comes from the the tube.

Divide the icing into two or three parts and color the frosting in each bowl a different color. Use a light hand on the color—pastels are much lovelier than Paris green and violent yellows.

Now, you are set for the real fun. Put one color of icing in the tube and do a few practice flowers, borders, etc., on a cooky sheet. By putting it on a cooky sheet you can remove it and use it over and over until you feel you have achieved "perfection" in your technique. It all takes time, but it is truly lots of fun. You can use a commercial pastry tube or a satisfactory homemade one can be made by folding wax paper so that there are several thicknesses. Now, roll the paper in such a way as to make a cone. Be sure the paper at the pointed end of the cone comes together tightly. If it is too small for a large enough stream of icing to come through when you have the icing in it, it's a simple job to clip it with a scissors to make it larger. Be sure to not make it too large because the pressure of the frosting on it will enlarge it somewhat. To fill with frosting, put the cone in the top of a milk bottle. Fill only about one-half full and then fold the top down several times so the icing will not push out at the top. One advantage of these h.. .e tubes is that you can have .. .ferent tube for each color and so do not have to do all one color before putting on the next.

Here is another cake decorating idea. Decorate the sides of the cake by using colored coconut. Put the shredded coconut in a bowl, add a few—a very few—drops of coloring and work the coconut around. Quickly it will become a lovely tint. To put it on the cake, pat the colored coconut to just the sides of the cake before the icing is dry. A most attractive Easter cake or cup cakes can be made by coloring the coconut green and putting on the sides of the cake. This forms the nest and on the top of the cake place colored jelly beans for the cup cakes—or larger many-colored Easter eggs for the larger cake. Very effective and quickly done.

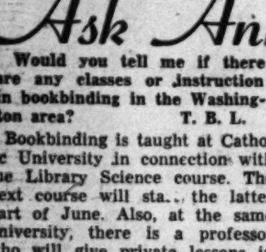
Do you have a recipe for Mexican Quesedillas or do you know of a restaurant or cafe in Washington where they are served? H. D.

Quesedillas

1 cup cottage cheese
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup dried currants (if desired)

Mash cheese, add well-beaten eggs, sugar, salt and cinnamon. Roll pastry into thin sheets and cut into 4-inch squares. Place one tablespoon of cheese mixture on half of each square. Moisten edges, fold over ther half making triangles. Press edges together and prick with a fork. Brush over with melted tart or milk, sprinkle with sugar, bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes or until brown.

PETUNIA!



One pound of chicken
And TWO pounds of fat.
Wait till I tackle
My butcher on that!

Use that fat, Petunia! Fry little bits with chopped onion till they're crisp, and they'll give a delectable flavor to green beans, greenpears, mashed potatoes!

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By Dr. Ernest G. Osborne

Children's Friends and Their Influence

Do you believe that the idea of one bad apple spoiling all the rest applies to human relationships? A great many people do and thus, naturally, are very much worried about the kinds of friends their children make.

If one feels sure that bad habits or undesirable attitudes and behavior are almost sure to be acquired from contacts with those who show them, one or both of two interesting assumptions are being made. First, that children and young people naturally find bad behavior and attitudes more appealing than good. Second, that the training and education we have given our children are not very strong.

Unless we do feel this way, why are we so concerned when a youngster spends time with others whose manners, way of speaking, interests and attitudes are one of which we cannot wholeheartedly approve? May it not be that such individuals will be affected by their friendship with our children and acquire some of what we feel are "better" ways of acting and thinking? Can't we have confidence in the way we have brought up our children? It's something to think about.

Calisthenics Can Benefit the Thin Girl, Too

By Ida Jean Kain

Thin girls should not tear through exercises—it just builds up tension. But that doesn't let you out of calisthenics entirely. According to the dictionary, kallos means beauty and sthenos means strength. So calisthenics mean beauty plus strength. If you want to be strong and beautiful here we go. . . .

Make the movements rhythmic and easy. Relax . . . let yourself go. Have no fear that exercise will make you slimmer in the places where you are already too thin. Exercise normalizes. It will improve circulation, tone the muscles and add that fillip of well being that makes the difference between being thin and slim.

Stretching tones the muscles with a minimum of effort and is perfect exercise. Add rhythm to the stretch and you have a smooth, easy flow of movement. It's fun to music. Turn on a slow tune—no jitterbug rhythm.

Circle the arms inward, then up overhead—looking up, then slowly out to the sides and down. Do this easily, even stretch and yawn if you feel like it. About a half dozen times will do nicely.

Now curve an arm outward—the world is wide! Curve the other arm out toward far horizons. Continue for another half dozen counts. All of this helps to expand the chest, and that's what you want.

Arc arms overhead and sway at the waistline in a lazy motion, bending sideward, over, and limply down—let go with knees and all. Sway to the other side, pulling slim through the middle, then over and down, letting go again. It takes out all the kinks, yet puts gimp in the muscles that band the waist.

Now lie on back on floor. Relax for a minute and enjoy letting go with your mind and muscles. Then pull the small of your back into the floor to prevent any tendency toward swayback—this position also "rests" the back. Put both feet up on chair seat and circle arms back around on floor overhead, keeping wrists and elbows on floor, as alternate knees are flexed toward chest. Hold with the abdominal muscles so as to center the action there. Circling with the arms straightens out the shoulders. Do this slowly and rhythmically with almost no effort except through the abdominal region. Repeat a dozen times.

Following this easy exercise program, pull a blanket over yourself and relax for 15 minutes

Nils Asther Is $1-an-Hour City Worker

Los Angeles, April 1 (AP).—A handsome, graying man of 48 delivered election equipment today to polling places. To election officials—many of them women—he was just another $1-an-hour delivery clerk.

Asther

But 20 years ago had he walked into a roomful of women, many of them would have almost swooned.

Then, Nils Asther was one of the movies' great lovers and earning $5000 a week.

How does it feel to take a pay cut down to $1-an-hour?

"Never felt better in my life," says the Swedish-born actor whose love scenes with Greta Garbo were among the screen's most torrid. He took the job with the city two months ago.

Asther came to the U. S. in 1927 to star in "Sorrel and Son." He next played in "Our Dancing Daughters," the picture that made Joan Crawford. As Garbo's lover in "Wild Orchids" and "The Single Standard" and as "Her Cardboard Lover" with Marion Davies, Asther was shaded only by the late John Gilbert as a screen romanticist.

Then came the talkies. Asther had an accent. He quit pictures, went into the insurance business and learned English the practical way.

He made a brief movie comeback in 1933 but movie work gradually fizzled out. He frankly admits he's broke now but is philosophical about it.

Leonard Lyons . . .

NEW YORK.—In his speech at M. I. T. Thursday night Winston Churchill referred to "a distinguished gentleman who had popularized the phrase 'the Cold War.'" He was referring to Herbert Bayard Swope, who originated the phrase . . . Swope was at the dinner given to Churchill by Bernard Baruch this week. "Who's the man Winston's talking to?" Baruch asked Swope, who studied the man Churchill had been talking to a long time, and said: "I don't know. But I know who Churchill thinks he is. He thinks he's Gen. Bill Donovan" . . . Swope then led the man to General Donovan, and their resemblance was a marked one. The man was a headwaiter at the dinner.

Churchill, incidentally, was indignant at the published report that he had taken up arms against America during the Spanish-American War . . . "I never stepped foot on the soil of Cuba until three years after the war had ended," he said. "And, furthermore, if I ever had even contemplated such a thing, my mother would have turned me out."

J. Arthur Rank will go to Hollywood this month to receive from Jean Hersholt the eight Academy Award Oscars won by Sir Laurence Olivier and others in Rank productions. "And when I return to England," said Rank, "I shall have to convince the customs men that these are 'unsolicited gifts'."

Because of the interest in "Champion" and "The Set-Up," the John Garfield fight movie, "Body and Soul," is being rereleased . . . The opening-night wire framed by Alfred Drake of "Kiss Me, Kate"—the musical adaptation of Shakespeare's "As You Like It"—reads: "Hope You Bring Home the Bacon—Or Is It Shakespeare?"

Lea Padovani, Orson Welles' discovery, will be starred in the movie version of "Christ in Concrete." The film crews now are in New York making location scenes. Pietro Di Donato, author of the book, took the cameramen to photograph some of his bricklayer friends at work. They received actors' salaries for being photographed while working at their jobs.

Alexander Ince, the producer, saw Garson Kanin at a play last week—a play which had been panned by the critics. Kanin said he was seeing this bad play for the second time only because a relative, who had just arrived in New York, asked expressly to see it. "The worst play ever produced always seems better the second time you see it," said Ince . . . "That's true," Kanin agreed. "Why is it?" . . . "The second time you see a terrible play," Ince suggested, "it seems better because this time you know it will end."

OFFICIAL NOTICES 5

GOVERNMENT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, Washington, D. C., March 31, 1949. Ordered that the Traffic and Motor Vehicle Regulations for the District of Columbia be, and the same are hereby amended as follows: Amend Part II, Article 2, Section 71, as follows: Change designation of existing paragraph (h) Snow Removal to (h) (1), and add the following: (2) Whenever, as a result of snow plowing operations or as a result of removal of snow from sidewalks, the accumulation of snow near the curbs reaches a height of 4 or more inches, parking shall be prohibited for the purpose of removal of such accumulated snow in such areas as the Director of Vehicles and Traffic shall find, or is advised by the official of the District of Columbia designated by the Commissioners to be in charge of snow removal, that snow removal operations are necessary, provided signs prohibiting parking shall be erected by the Director at least the number of hours in advance that parking is normally permitted in such areas, and provided further, that such signs so prohibiting parking between the hours of 7:00 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. shall not be erected in more than ten city blocks within the geographical limits of any police precinct at one time; and add the following new paragraphs: (i) Parades. Parking shall be prohibited upon streets upon which parades have been authorized by permit issued by the Major and Superintendent of Police, and upon streets necessary for assembling and disbanding of such parades, for a reasonable time prior to, during and for a reasonable time after such parades occur, provided signs so prohibiting parking shall be erected by the Director at least the length of time in advance that parking is normally legally permitted on such streets. The Director is authorized to erect ropes, cables, or other suitable barricades along the route of parades authorized by permit issued by the Major and Superintendent of Police. (k) Funerals and Funeral Parlors. (1) Upon approval of the Director, signs, of a design approved by the Director, may be erected by and at the cost of funeral directors, indicating a prohibition of parking in front of one entrance to each such establishment, provided that the space you, indicated by such signs shall not exceed the width of the place of business of such funeral director, or 60 feet, whichever shall be shorter, in the direction of such signs, parking shall be prohibited as indicated thereon, except that vehicles which are a part of a funeral cortege may park within such space not more than one hour before and during the conduct of a funeral. (2) In addition to such areas set forth in Paragraph (k) (1) parking shall be prohibited, except as hereinafter provided, upon streets adjacent to houses or establishments from which funerals are to be conducted for a reasonable time before such service and during the duration thereof within the area that the Director or the commanding officer of any police precinct shall find is necessary for the parking of vehicles which are a part of such funeral cortege which vehicles are authorized to park in said areas, provided that the Director shall erect signs so prohibiting parking at least the length of time in advance that parking is normally legally permitted on said streets. (m) Street Construction. Whenever by reason of construction upon or adjacent to any highway the width of the roadway is reduced, parking shall be prohibited upon the roadway adjacent to said construction work and for a reasonable distance on either side thereof, and where the whole width of the roadway is less than 60 feet, except where traffic on the highway is directed into separate roadways carrying traffic in opposite directions, parking shall also be prohibited on the side of the roadway opposite said construction work and for a reasonable distance on either side thereof, provided that signs so prohibiting parking shall be erected by the Director at least the length of time in advance that parking is normally legally permitted on said streets, which signs may be erected sufficiently in advance so as to prohibit parking from the time of commencement of such work. (m) Special Commercial Deliveries. Parking shall be prohibited in such places upon highways, except as hereinafter provided, where trucks, moving vans or other vehicles are required to remain for commercial operations, except that such trucks, moving vans, etc., shall be permitted to park in such areas, provided that the Director shall issue a permit therefor and shall find that the parking of such vehicles adjacent to other parked vehicles will reduce the roadway available for the flow of traffic on that side of the highway to 20 feet or less, provided further that such prohibition of parking shall not be maintained for such purpose beyond 8 hours at any one time, and provided further that signs so prohibiting parking shall be erected by the Director at least the length of time in advance that parking is normally legally permitted on said streets. (n) Adjacent Streets. When, as a result of the closing of any street to traffic by reason of parades or by reason of emergency conditions, the flow of traffic on adjacent streets is increased, the Director, if he shall find that the free flow of traffic upon said adjacent streets is impeded by reason of the parking of vehicles thereon, is authorized to erect signs prohibiting parking during such hours as he shall find that the free flow of traffic is impeded by parking, and it shall be unlawful to park or stand any vehicle in violation of the parking restrictions set forth upon such signs, provided that the signs so prohibiting parking shall be erected at least the length of time in advance that parking is normally legally permitted on said streets. (o) Findings. Whenever, by these regulations, the Director is required to make findings of fact, the findings made by him shall be promptly communicated to the Major and Superintendent of Police, and findings of fact made by commanding officers of police precincts under Paragraph (k) (2) hereof, shall be promptly communicated by the said precinct commanders to the Major and Superintendent and to the Director. Findings made by the Director pursuant to Paragraphs (h) (2), (h) (3), (h) (4), (i) and (n) shall be promptly communicated to the Commissioners. (p) Designation of Agent. Whenever hereunder the Director is required to erect signs, ropes, cables or other barricades, he is authorized to employ the service of members of the Metropolitan Police Department, the Department of Sanitary Engineering and the Department of Highways as his agents for such purpose. (q) Emergency Signs. Whenever by these regulations the Director is authorized to erect signs under certain emergent conditions, the failure to comply with the requirement that such signs shall be erected "at least the length of time in advance that parking is normally legally permitted" shall not authorize the parking of vehicles after the actual erection of such signs, except such vehicles as by these regulations are authorized to park after the erection of signs. No Idle Hand

Sometimes our hands are occupied . . . And then there is a lull . . . And when there is not much to do . . . We find the moments dull . . . We sort of wish for something else . . . To while the time away . . . And pick up some accomplishment . . . To carry out the day . . . And yet when we must struggle hard . . To pass our daily test . . . We look around to have our rest . . . In other words, we like to dream . . About an easy life . . . But we could never do without . . . The struggle and the strife . . . We merely think we long to play . . . And be forever free . . . When all the while we want to make . . . And fashion history.

THE DISTRICT LINE by Bill Gold

Liquor Deal Looks Like Unsolved Case

Bob Shaffer of 4721 S. 29th st., Arlington, Va., is mystified by a liquor ad which ran in this newspaper recently. It said:

"Excellent white dry Chilean wine, 49 cents a fifth. Buy by the case at this low price. Limit, 3 bottles to a customer."

PROGRESS

Ann M. Foster of 1833 New Hampshire ave. nw. indicates that all is not lost in our battle to convince laundrymen that "no starch" means "no starch."

Ann used to have to placate her husband by dunking the collars and cuffs of laundered shirts in warm water, then ironing them all over again. Obviously an unwelcome and unnecessary chore.

She couldn't find the solution to her problem until she saw our item on the subject. Clipping the article and the accompanying cartoon, she sent it off to the laundry in her next bundle of shirts.

The laundryman apparently has a sense of humor. For the first time, the Foster shirts came back without starch.

GIVE-AWAYS

"White kitten, 6 months old, good mouser." (Adams 1163.)

"Grand 4-month-old puppy, all black, part cocker." (Owens 7786.)

"Tabby gray kittens with snow white mittens; 7 weeks old." (Union 1533.)

STREET SCENE

An expensively dressed matron was stopping passersby to solicit funds for a charitable organization.

Nearby stood a professional panhandler, surveying the scene with mounting displeasure.

When he could bear it no longer, he shuffled off to ply his trade elsewhere. And as he passed his female competitor, he growled:

"What'ja hafta come down here for? You're ruinin' my territory."

FOREIGN RELATIONS

George W. Blythe of 4731 68th ave., Hyattsville, Md., registered a beef about diplomatic immunity the other day—and got results. (That's news, brother.)

George charged that a car with diplomatic tags was illegally parked in front of a British office near 17th and Massachusetts ave. during every evening rush hour.

Because the street is narrow, and heavily traveled, parking is forbidden there during rush hours. The fellow with the diplomatic tags could have pulled up into the drive, where there's plenty of room. But no—he had to foul up traffic by parking where ordinary mortals were banned.

That sounded like a pretty solid complaint. But there's no use going to the police with that kind of thing, because they'll just sigh and remind you that a traffic ticket has the same effect on a diplomat as a pea shooter has on the Monument.

So we went directly to the British—and got quick results. Orders have now been issued that British cars with business at their Air Force Staff building at 1785 Massachusetts ave. nw. will pull into the drive, and refrain from illegal parking in the street.

I wish we could settle all our international problems that easily.

MISCELLANY

Our recent discussion of the District's application blanks for auto license tags brings a note from our old friend George E. Keneipp, the Traffic Director. He says that if you read enough of the fine print, you'll find all the necessary instructions; but he admits that it would be much better to put these instructions on a concise form which would be enclosed with the application blanks, and he hopes that next year he'll be able to make life a bit simpler for local motorists in this manner . . . Keneipp is one public official here who sympathizes with citizens who have a legitimate beef, and tries to find a remedy whenever possible . . . Mrs. Gladys E. Hirsch of Cabin John, Md., reports that a strange message (apparently several years old) still appears on a series of poles along the Cabin John line, just south of Stop 10. Added together, they say: "OPA WON'T WORK NO NO DRAFT ORDERS OBEYED" . . . Mrs. Laura J. Jackson of 3208 Chamberlayne ave., Richmond, Va., sends a clipping from her local paper which says: "The debris remains untouched except for the poking into charred ruins of insurance adjusters" . . . Mrs. Jackson can't help wondering what made charred ruins of those poor insurance adjusters.

YEAH—IT'S A SCREAM

Mrs. D. W. Rush of 1205 Trenton pl. se. has a sequel to my story about the mail truck which blocked the curb lane of traffic.

In Mrs. Rush's version, the auto was in the curb lane on 8th st. nw., preparatory to turning right into F st.

A large soda pop truck whipped in front of the auto and pulled up near the corner. The woman who was driving the passenger car slammed on her brakes, and stopped so close behind the truck that it was impossible for her to see what was going on up ahead.

She thought the truck had stopped for the traffic light. What she couldn't see was that the driver had left his vehicle, and entered a restaurant across the street.

So she just sat there and waited—and it didn't make her feel any better to discover later that the driver wasn't loading or unloading. He was eating.

The cop to whom she complained thought it was pretty funny.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Johnson Hit Brass Ahead of Time

By Drew Pearson

Even before he officially became Secretary of National Defense, Louis Johnson started cracking brass-hat heads together.

While Jim Forrestal still sat in the Defense post and Johnson was waiting to take the oath of office, newspapers published a sensational piece of information to the effect that the United States Air Force had drawn up a list of 70 bombing targets inside Russia. In case of war, it was said, the Air Force already had 70 important Russian targets singled out for destruction.

Johnson

Immediately Johnson called Secretary of Air Stuart Symington on the carpet, demanded to know how this unfortunate piece of information got out.

At that time, of course, Johnson had no official right to lecture Symington nor ask him for an explanation. Symington, however, did not resent the inquiry. He replied that he, too, greatly regretted the leak, had already asked his chief investigator, former G-man, Gen. Joe Carroll, to find out who was responsible.

Churchill's Brandy

When Winston Churchill visited Washington during the war someone always saw to it that he was not without his famous brandy—vintage 1848.

Since the war, however, a Labor government has taken over the British Embassy, and is much less concerned about the niceties of drink or food; while the present occupant of the White House is a connoisseur not of brandy but of bourbon.

On his latest trip, therefore, Churchill found himself without his favorite brand of Napoleonic brandy. For a time things looked serious. A search of the British Embassy wine cellar revealed that not a drop of the Churchill brand was on hand.

Finally the search extended to members of the British Embassy and their individual cellars, and Aubrey Morgan, a British diplomatic secretary, came up with one bottle of 1811 brandy which he cheerfully donated to Britain's famed war leader. Churchill drank it after he returned from President Truman's dinner.

Note—Churchill had the Duke of Windsor to thank for the brandy. The Duke had left it behind following his last visit in Washington.

Lobby Nearly Wins

An inteersting, private party was thrown by Congressman Harry Sheppard of California the other day, following which he and the private power lobby came within three votes of short-circuiting the Administration's public-power program.

The legislation that Sheppard and the lobby tried so hard to defeat provides for transmission lines as an outlet for public power in the West. Without these arteries, the heart of the Roosevelt-Ickes power program would be killed. Truman had made continuation of this program his No. 1 campaign promise to the West last summer; and had blasted the Republicans and other friends of Pacific Gas and Electric who tried to ban Government transmission lines to distribute power.

Yet the man who led the fight against the transmission lines was a Western Democrat—Sheppard of San Bernardino, Calif. What is even more strange, this same Sheppard also threw a lavish party for influential Congressmen from each State—the weekend before the power issue was scheduled to come before the Appropriations Committee.

The deans of all the congressional delegations were invited to Sheppard's party at the Congressional Hotel, where he served a buffet luncheon of ham and roast beef, with plenty of liquor to wash it down.

Sheppard admitted this was the first time in his 12 years on Capitol Hill that he had ever sponsored such a gala affair, but he sharply denied that it was financed by the power lobby.

"I always pay my own bills," he protested. "Why, I don't even have a charge account."

He explained that, as chairman of the California delegation, he simply wanted to entertain the heads of congressional delegations from other States.

"The power companies," he snapped, "had nothing to do with that party."

Sheppard's integrity has never been challenged by those who know him. Yet, no matter who paid for the party or what purpose may have been intended, it had the effect on many Congressmen of high-pressuring. All those attending the luncheon contacted by this column felt that the party had some connection with the power question.

Behind Closed Doors

It is also a fact that Sheppard did his best to knife the transmission lines appropriation for California's Central Valley project.

Behind the closed doors of the Appropriations Committee, Sheppard offered a motion to cut the appropriations for the California project, but he was defeated by a 17-14 photo-finish. If he had been successful, it would have started a wave of amendments to close the purse strings on other transmission lines.

Sheppard's amendment was supported by all the Republicans except Washington's Congressman Walt Horan, who simply voted present. Sheppard however, went to great pains to round up four Democratic votes—George Mahon of Texas, Robert Sikes of Florida, W. F. Norrell of Arkansas and Edward Kruse of Indiana. A fifth, Albert Thomas of Texas, remaining neutral, voted present.

Later, when word of Sheppard's party got to young Kruse, he called upon Chairman Clarence Cannon of Missouri and offered to change his vote. Kruse explained that he had supported Sheppard because he thought Sheppard was right, but that he had a deeper conviction against high-pressure lobbying.

This was the second time Kruse had changed his vote because of lobbyists. He had also intended to vote against rent control until the real estate lobby descended upon him and tried to tell him how to vote.

They're as famous as the famous magazines they're advertised in!

RICH, FULL-BODIED BUR-MIL* QUALITY RAYON CREPE AND SATIN

It's one of the first names you think of when you think of fine slips! It's the slip name you see in gorgeous full-page ads in the most important fashion "slicks." It's the name that . . . for years . . . has spelled quality, beauty, style! It's the slip you've gladly paid higher prices for . . . here for you today in a terrific sale-event at 2.99. There'll be 2,000 of these beauties when selling starts . . . but take our word for it . . . 2,000 won't be enough! So be here on the stroke of store-opening for these four wonderful styles (the maker calls them "discontinued," but they're your favorites)! Pink and white lacy delights, richly encrusted; slips with handmade Puerto Rican yokes stitched with miracle-nylon, black slips with white tops expressly designed for suit-wear. All in the mellow-textured Bur-Mil* quality rayon crepe and satin you'd expect of distinctly upper-bracket slips. Think of Easter gifts, Mother's Day gifts and your own spring-and-summer needs . . . and come prepared to choose plenty! All in full-sweep new longer lengths; regular sizes and talls in sizes 32 to 40 in the group.
